E. G. CUNLIFFE IS IN PRISON; MORE CASH IS FOUND

POLICE CAPTAIN REGAINS $9,065

BIG CROWD TO MEET PRISONER

Edward George Cunliffe, the Adams Express Company clerk who was captured in Bridgeport, Conn., on Thursday for the theft of a $100,000 package of bills intrusted to the company and $1,000 additional, is in a cell in the Pittsburgh Central police station. He was locked up during the early morning hours after submitting to hours of "sweating" in the offices of the Pinkerton detective agency in the Second National bank building. Of the stolen money $89,000 has been recovered, and it was to wring a confession from the prisoner as to the disposition of the remainder that he was placed under so searching an examination. It is believed he spent less than $500 during his 10 days' flight from Pittsburgh.

Cunliffe was brought here on Pennsylvania train No. 25 last night by Superintendent Thornhill of the Pinkerton agency in New York and another operative. The train was stopped at Homewood station, where a carriage was waiting to bring the prisoner downtown. This precaution was taken to avoid a crowd of 500 curious sightseers that had congregated at the Union station to catch a glimpse of the $100,000 thief.

Cunliffe Was Tired Out.

The train was due in Pittsburgh at 7:05 p. m., but it was 30 minutes late, and it was after 8 o'clock when the carriage drove to the entrance of the Pinkerton offices. Cunliffe, handcuffed to one of the detectives, was quickly hustled out and pushed into the elevator. He looked fatigued by his long journey and sank into a chair the moment he reached the offices on the top floor of the building. He seemed to anticipate the rigorous examination which was about to begin. His story that he had burned $20,000 of the money had been proved by a discovery of the Bridgeport police to be false, and the Pinkertons immediately set to work to compel his confession as to the whereabouts of the balance.

It was developed in Bridgeport yesterday that Cunliffe attempted to bribe Police Captain George Arnold of the Bridgeport force. The prisoner told the detectives that he had burned $20,000 of his money, and they were about to give the story some degree of credence when Capt. Arnold walked in on them with a man who had agreed to act as the robber's confederate in hiding the cash. By this arrest $9,065 was recovered and Capt. Arnold thinks he has a clue by which all except a few hundred dollars will be found.

Wanted to Provide for Wife.

Before Cunliffe told about shipping away the dress-suit case found in Bristol, which contained upward of $80,000, he offered Capt. Arnold $40,000 if he would give the remaining $40,000, to be found in a place Cunliffe would indicate, to Mrs. Cunliffe, who is in Hartford.

"You get the money, divide it with my wife, so she will be taken care of, and I'll say I burned it all. I can take my medicine and my wife will be provided for," said Cunliffe.

Capt. Arnold objected to leaving town, and then Cunliffe offered him $10,000 if he would give another $10,000 to Mrs. Cunliffe. Working on that admission that the money was not destroyed, Capt. Arnold arrested George Iseman, a young mechanic. Iseman at first denied knowing anything about the money, but finally confessed that he had hidden it. He took the police to a lonely spot in Black Rock, and they found the package containing the money in a house where Iseman had left it for safe keeping.

Astounded by Sight of Fortune.

Those in the house did not know what was in the package, and were very much astonished when the police unrolled a dirty newspaper and a piece of wrapping paper and then began counting out nearly $10,000 in $20, $10 and $5 dollar bills.

Iseman says he met Cunliffe Wednesday morning. Cunliffe had a package under his arm which he said was laundry. He said the place he patronized was closed and he wanted a safe place to leave the bundle while he went out of town in a couple of days. Iseman suggested that he leave it with a Mrs. Patterson, Iseman's sister, which was done.

Iseman after the arrest of Cunliffe, opened the package and found two shirts and the bundle of money. He wrapped the money and took it to the friend in Black Rock to keep for him. Iseman has been released, but is under surveillance. So is another man who the police believe can tell them where that last missing $10,000 is.

James Missett, a Bridgeport bartender, has returned to his home with $2,500 in gold certificates, which he says he received from the Pinkerton agency in New York for giving the detectives the "tip" which led to the arrest of Cunliffe. Missett knew Cunliffe well, having owned a saloon in Bristol when the accused man worked there.

Missett Recognizes Cunliffe.

HELPS SING CAMPAIGN SONG

Special Telegram From WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

MILTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—In this little town in Northumberland county tonight Homer L. Castle of Pittsburgh was introduced to an audience who were told by the chairman: "We are here to learn of the liquor traffic." Castle was presented to the people of Milton as "a slender stripling, built much as David of old, and ready to smite Goliath." Then everyone joined in singing:

"Glorious, glorious Prohibition, Saloons shall surely go."

Castle did not follow the cue given by the chairman, but set to work to denounce the Republican organization. He did not say a word about the liquor traffic. Castle is now under the management of Col. J. M. Guffey and has been told to do nothing to offend the saloon vote.

The Pittsburgher forgot to tell the manager of the Milton meeting about the "water wagon" party being hitched up with the Democracy this year. Bud Cannon, the chairman, thought it was a straight down-with-the-rum-traffic rally. He had three songs printed for the audience to sing. The program was headed, "Prohibition Alliance No. 130." Just how "Billy" Brennen hopes to hold the Allegheny county Democratic saloonkeepers in line for Berry, after they learn the sort of songs sung at tonight's meeting, is a trifle difficult to imagine.

Bud Cannon's Repertoire.

Chorus of the first one, "Saloons Shall Surely Go," is given above. From the song entitled, "We're Going to the Polls, Boys," are these stanzas:

With our vote of Prohibition, we'll strike a mighty blow,
Shouting the battle cry of freedom.
And we'll crush the monster evil—the liquor traffic, low,
Shouting the battle cry of freedom.
We will rally to the polls, boys, we'll rally once again,
Shouting the battle cry of freedom.
We will rally from the hillside, we'll rally from the plain,
Shouting the battle cry of freedom.

The meeting closed with the song, "Take Away the Stars and Stripes from the Saloon," in which Castle joined in the singing. Here is the production:

There is one place in the land where our flag should never stand,
Where it waves about the beer pump and spittoon;
And with indignation high to the country now we cry,
Take away the Stars and Stripes from the saloon.
Chorus—
Take away the Stars and Stripes forever,
From the grogshops—do it now,
For the rum mill base and vile
Only can the folds defile—
Take the Stars and Stripes away from the saloon.

For the Stars and Stripes we know, to the "trade" wherever we go,
And to grogshop keepers is a precious boon.

GREET PRESIDENT AT HIS MOTHER'S OLD HOME

Mr. Roosevelt Receives Cordial Welcome by Officials and Citizens of Georgia.

TALK ON INDUSTRIAL SUCCESS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 20.—The President's visit to Atlanta today was a marked event in the history of the state of Georgia. He was greeted on his arrival by its most distinguished citizens and through the day on every hand were shouted words of welcome that left no room for doubt of their sincerity. The city was in gala attire and business was practically suspended. South Carolina, through Gov. Heyward, added its welcome. Threatening clouds marked the early morning, but no rain fell. A chilling wind prevailed all day.

Numerous extra trains brought their burden of Georgians from the surrounding country and cities, and it was estimated that not less than 100,000 persons saw and welcomed the President.

President Roosevelt today carried out his long cherished plan of visiting the home of his mother—Roswell, Ga. One of his reasons for coming south was that he might see the old homestead where his mother spent her girlhood and which she left a happy bride. That the visit was fraught with many tender recollections was evident, and as his carriage drove away from the old Bulloch mansion, where his mother lived and married, the President murmured to Mrs. Roosevelt, "I can hardly bear to leave here."

Saw His Mother's Servants.

The President reached Roswell at 7:20 o'clock this morning and was joined here by Senator and Mrs. Clay, who were his guests at breakfast. He then entered a carriage and was driven to the mansion. This fine old homestead is now the property of J. D. Wing, a lumber merchant, who lives in it with his sister, Mrs. Wood, the postmaster of Roswell. Here the President was greeted by two old servants who lived on the place during his mother's young womanhood. One of these is "Aunt Grace," who acted as maid to Miss Martha Bulloch, who afterward became Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, and the other is William Jackson, who decorated the mansion on the occasion of the marriage of its young mistress.

The President was deeply touched as he shook the hands of these old servitors. In company with Mrs. Roosevelt he then inspected the house, calling to the attention of the company many incidents connected with his mother's childhood. Before leaving the mansion he posed with Mrs. Roosevelt for a picture which included "Aunt Grace" and "Daddy William."

From the homestead the President was driven to the Roswell town park, where a stand had been erected from which he delivered an address. He was welcomed to Roswell by Charles W. Reed, a student of Mercer university, who said the only

FALLS DEAD IN HIS SEAT ON DRAWING ROYAL FLUSH

Top Notch Hand in Poker Game Proves Too Strong for Col. William Simms, a West Virginia Player.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 20.—Col. William Simms, a well-known stock dealer and Philippine adventurer, fell dead at the Little Queen club rooms here this evening, while playing a game of draw poker with a party of friends.

The game was a big one, and Col. Simms had been winning steadily for two hours. At 8 o'clock a big pot was on and several hundred dollars' worth of chips were on the table before cards were drawn.

When the dealer helped hands Col. Simms drew one card and, after looking at it, gave a gasp and fell back dead. When examined it was found he clutched in his stiffening hands what is known in card parlance as a "royal flush," having the ace, king, queen, jack and 10 of diamonds.

The affair created intense excitement. Physicians were summoned and after making an examination pronounced Col. Simms' death due to over-excitement, incident to the great catch.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS MET BY WOMEN OF SOUTH

President's Wife Enthusiastically Greeted in Atlanta, Georgia.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 20.—The visit of Mrs. Roosevelt, who accompanied the President to Atlanta, was the feature of the day, second only to that of her illustrious husband. Mrs. Roosevelt was met at the train by a delegation of women, headed by Mrs. Terrel, wife of Gov. Terrel, and Mrs. Clark Howell, who, after the brief introductions at the station, piloted Mrs. Roosevelt to the governor's mansion. Three hundred or more of Atlanta's leading society ladies had gathered to extend their welcome.

The passing of the great parade in honor of the President was watched from the verandas of the mansion. Joel Chandler Harris was specially invited to meet the President's wife at her request.

Mrs. Roosevelt's stay was cut short by the departure of her train for Washington at noon. She spent the last half hour of her visit in a drive to Brookwood, a suburb, where the train was stopped for her. The drive took her along Peachtree street, soon after the parade passed, and she was given the opportunity to see the elaborate decorations that had been made in honor of the day.

GOVERNOR FOLK'S HARD RIDE TO SPARE PRISONER'S LIFE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., Oct. 20.—Governor Folk arrived here this morning after riding 50 miles on the tender of a special engine. He was in St. Louis when he received a telegram that papers in the case of Edgar Bailey of Kansas City, under sentence to be hanged Saturday morning, and arrived at the capitol presenting evidence on which a commutation was asked.

The Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas & Texas roads were flooded and trains were not running. Gov. Folk took the Burlington to Mexico, where he procured an old freight engine and had it started on the way to Cedar City at 3 o'clock in the morning. From Cedar City he traveled by 'bus to Jefferson City.

Upon his arrival the governor at once took up the papers in the case and this afternoon telegraphed the Kansas City authorities that a commutation to life sentence had been granted. Bailey killed Albert Ferguson, a union hack driver, in a quarrel in Kansas City, and was convicted of murder in the first degree.

KING ALFONSO'S SISTER IS FORMALLY BETROTHED

MADRID, Oct. 20.—The betrothal of Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria to the Infanta Marie Teresa, sister of King Alfonso, was formally accomplished today. The prince went to the royal palace where he signed an act of Spanish naturalization in the presence of the royal family, and this evening a royal banquet was given at the palace.

MURDEROUS THUGS THROW VICTIM FROM BRIDGE

Jacob Levine of Cleveland Robbed and Tossed Into the Monongahela River.

Jacob Levine, aged 23, of Cleveland, O., was attacked at 1 o'clock this morning by two highwaymen while crossing the Smithfield street bridge, robbed of $12 in cash and thrown into the Monongahela river, 70 feet below. He floated to Market street, where he was picked up by John McDonald and Arch McDaniel, of the crew of the steamer Helen White. Levine was unconscious, and was taken to the Homeopathic hospital. Later he regained consciousness and told his story.

Levine was in this city visiting his father, Jacob Levine, Sr., of 1034 Gibbons street. He was on his way to the Lake Erie depot when attacked. When about half-way over the bridge two men walked up to him in the shadow of one of the piers and before he could utter a cry for help, they had seized him. While one held him and stifled his cries, the other went through his pockets.

After securing his money the highwaymen hoisted their victim over the railing, dropped him to the river below. Levine is a good swimmer, and when he struck the water he swam for his life. By the time he reached Market street he was exhausted. His cries for help had reached the ears of McDonald and McDaniel. They hastily launched a boat and reached him just as he was sinking.

Patrol wagon No. 1 was called and the victim hurried to the Homeopathic hospital. He is still suffering severely from shock.

BELLEVUE WORKMAN IS BRUTALLY MURDERED

J. C. Baird, Working at Salisbury, N. C., Waylaid at Night and Beaten to Death.

A telegram to The Gazette from Salisbury, N. C., last night told of the murder there sometime Wednesday night of J. C. Baird of Bellevue. His body was found on the outskirts of Salisbury early yesterday morning. Nearby lay a large club with which the right side of Baird's face had been beaten almost to a pulp. It is thought the motive was robbery and the officers of Salisbury, the telegram states, are working on what they think is a good clew to the murderer.

Baird was a pile driver and had gone to Salisbury to work for the Whitney company, which is developing the water power of the Yadkin river at that point. He was aged 40 and was a son of Matthew Baird of Mundoe avenue, Bellevue, who works for the borough. The father was at Beaver last night, where his wife, the mother of the murdered man, was recently stricken with paralysis and is lying at the home of a sister. He has a brother, William Baird, living at Bellevue, and another, Edward Baird, at Bellevernon. The brothers learned of the murder last night.

TERRIFIC STORM IS RAGING ON THE LAKES

DOZEN LIVES LOST

Many Daring Rescues Are Reported, but Total List of Fatalities Is Uncertain.

WIND BLOWS A HURRICANE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A terrific storm last night and today swept over northern Lake Michigan, Lake Huron and Lake Erie. As far as returns are obtainable tonight 11 vessels have been completely wrecked and 12 to 15 others more or less severely damaged. Twelve lives are known to have been lost, and as the gale on southern Lake Huron and Lake Erie is still blowing fiercely tonight, it is feared that other losses, both of life and property, will be reported within the next 24 hours.

A special from Harbor Beach, Mich., says the barge Minnedosa was lost with her crew of seven people in Saginaw bay early this morning. The dead include Capt. Phillips and wife of Kingston, Ont. The Minnedosa was owned by the Montreal Transportation Company of Montreal and was bound down the lakes with grain for Kingston.

Unknown Hero Saves Crew.

The schooner Mautenee struck a rock 18 miles west of Erie, Pa., early this morning, and, pounded by the terrific seas, commenced breaking up. The waves were so high that it was impossible to launch the lifeboat and one of the seamen, whose name is unknown, performed the feat of swimming to shore with a line. A breeches buoy was soon rigged up and the entire crew, together with the cook, Mrs. Kate Daly, was brought safely to shore. The boat was without cargo and was bound from Buffalo to Detroit.

The vessels lost or damaged in the storm, so far as known, are as follows:

Lake Huron.

Lake Michigan.

Steam barge Joseph Fay, Cleveland, beached near Rogers City, Mich., and rapidly breaking up. David Syze, mate, drowned. Capt. Fletcher and crew of 14 saved.

Barge Rhodes, in tow of Joseph Fay, ashore near Cheboygan. Crew of six saved.

Lake Erie.

Steamer Wisconsin, on the rocks off Lorain, O.

Steamer F. A. Prince, damaged near Cleveland.

Tug Walter Metcalf, sunk off breakwater, Cleveland.

Lake Superior.

Schooner Nirvana sunk off harbor of Grand Marais, Mich. Crew rescued.

Three Seamen Lost.

LORAIN, O., Oct. 20.—John Fox, a wheelman of Port Huron, and a Norwegian sailor, whose name is unknown, lost their lives here today in the worst storm of the season. The men were on the steamer Sarah Sheldon, bound from Cleveland to Sarnia with coal. The vessel sprung a leak when near this port and she was beached. The two men, with Owen Berry of Chicago and Frank Dellis of Detroit, boarded a boat and were about to put off for the shore when the boat was turned over by a huge wave. Berry and Dellis were rescued by means of ropes thrown from the doomed steamer, but the two other men clung to the boat and were swept to their death.

The tug Kunkle Brothers was dispatched to the wreck and five of the crew succeeded in jumping aboard her and were brought to this harbor. The six other men were rescued this afternoon by the United States lifesaving crew by means of a surfboat.

ROGERS CITY, MICH., Oct. 20.—The steam barge Joseph Fay of Cleveland sprung a leak while fighting the storm off this port today and was beached by Capt. Fletcher at Forty-Mile-Point light, six miles from this city. Capt. Fletcher

BENEATH TENT CLARK BURIED

DIRECTORS ARE BUSY

DENIAL OF ANY CONFESSION

Under a little tent that obscured the gaze of curious sightseers, the family and close friends of T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, who committed suicide, yesterday watched his black shrouded casket lowered into a flower-decked grave in the Uniondale cemetery. The blasts of the biting wind that swept over the bleak hillsides sent the canvas in flutters that sounded like whipcracks above the voice of the Rev. Dr. W. W. Lawrence while he uttered a simple prayer and pronounced the words of the closing rites.

Within the tent stood a score of people, including the mourners, the honorary pallbearers, the active pallbearers and half a dozen friends. Outside stood about twice as many persons, nearly all of whom were women. They had not been invited to the interment. Some of them might have been brought there by idle curiosity, because they approached close to the sagging walls of the canvas and peered through rents in the cloth in the hope of viewing the unhappy scenes which were being enacted at the tomb.

Bank Officials Did Not Attend.

The officials of the Enterprise bank did not attend the funeral. President Fred Gwinner, Sr., and Vice President William T. Bradberry went to the house in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, and paid their respects at the couch of the dead, but remained only a few minutes. No floral offerings came from the bank.

The elders of the Bellevue United Presbyterian church have but seven members of their body left since Wednesday's tragedy removed Mr. Clark, who was long a respected official of the church, and these seven men wore crepe upon their shoulders and walked behind the casket. The six active pallbearers were all young men chosen among Mr. Clark's relatives. The honorary pallbearers were: E. W. Hill, J. S. Hamilton, E. T. Graham, A. S. Miller, Frank Bole, W. G. Gibson and J. B. Eichenauer.

The services were held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the hallway on the second floor of the house. Dr. Lawrence offered a prayer and read selections from the 23d, the 91th and the 103d Psalms, and the Rev. Dr. William Wishart, retired, offered the closing invocation.

No Reference to the Tragedy.

There was no music and the prayers were brief and simple. There was no reference to the tragedy or its consequences. The remains lay upon a couch and were surrounded by banks of flowers. Floral tributes came from the church officials, the Royal Arcanum and the Bellevue firemen, beside offerings from friends of the family who did not attend the services.

It was nearly 5 o'clock when the procession of 12 carriages left the house and it was after sunset when the mourners gathered under the little tent in the cemetery to witness the closing scene.

The board of directors of the Enterprise bank met last night and had a long session in the office of Attorney Thomas P. Trimble in the Frick building. Mr. Trimble was personal counsel for Cashier Clark and recently drew up a will for Clark. The report was the conference was for the purpose of reading the will and preparing for subsequent action when the terms of the testament were made known to the members of the board.

Entire Board Represented.

The only member absent was Fred Gwinner, Sr., president of the bank, and he was represented by his son, Fred Gwinner, Jr. Vice President William T. Bradberry presided. Paying Teller Thomas W. Harvey and Attorney Trimble were the only outsiders at the meeting. For almost three hours the board was in session. Absolute silence seemed to have been agreed upon before the meeting broke up, for the directors would not talk. When asked if the Clark will had been the subject considered, Mr. Bradberry said:

"No; there was absolutely nothing mentioned concerning Lee Clark's will. Our business here pertained only to the affairs of the Enterprise bank. We know nothing about Mr. Clark's will. But I am not at liberty to say what took place tonight."

Attorney Trimble is in possession of all the personal papers and accounts of the dead cashier, and in such capacity will safeguard the interests of the dead man's family as much as possible. Only with his consent could any of the personal accounts of Clark be examined. It is said James P. McKinney is named in Clark's will as one of the executors or trustees of the estate and Mr. McKinney took a prominent part in last night's meeting.

Clark's Estate Is Valuable.

Mr. Trimble asserts Mr. Clark was a wealthy man, whose estate is valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

National Bank Examiner John B. Cunningham, adhering strictly to the policy of the office of the comptroller of the currency, says nothing of what he has learned by his examination of the bank's books. However, he stopped his labors long enough yesterday evening to deny a story published to the effect that Cashier Clark had left a written confession of his financial operations and that the paper was in possession of Mr. Cunningham.

"If there was any such confession I haven't got it, and I don't know anything about it," said Mr. Cunningham. "About the books of the bank I will say nothing until I make my report to the comptroller of the currency. When the whole story comes out it will come through Washington."

Vice President William T. Bradberry was asked if there was any truth in the report of a confession, and said:

"I never knew anything about it until I read it in a paper. On Thursday night Examiner Cunningham found a few papers in Cashier Clark's desk that had been overlooked prior to that time. What the papers are only Mr. Cunningham knows. He tells us nothing. The bank and everything in it is in his keeping."

Not Telling Directors Anything.

When Mr. Cunningham was asked if he would tell the directors in case he found a confession, he replied:

"I have no intention of telling the directors anything."

Some action was to have been taken yesterday by the directors toward securing possession of the bonds of the Santa Fe Central railway, that is owned by William H. Andrews, Francis J. Torrance, Arthur Kennedy and W. C. Hagan of Pittsburgh. According to President Gwinner, the late cashier advanced considerable money to Andrews on notes, and it is to insure against any possible loss on these loans that steps will be taen to get control of the railway company. The directors will probably ask the court to have a receiver for the railroad appointed, until the condition of the bank is definitely known, or until a settlement is made on the alleged notes.

Director David Morrison visited the bank yesterday and conferred with Director Charles F. Stifel. In speaking of the events of the past few days, Mr. Morrison said:

Directors Were Deceived.

"This board of directors was thoroughly deceived in Cashier Clark. It was about three weeks ago when suspicion was aroused that there had been unwise speculation and financial operations on the part of Cashier Clark. We had a meeting and Clark was asked to make an explanation. What we heard was not satisfactory, and that is why a national bank examiner was sent for. But not one of the directors ever had any idea of what had been going on under Cashier Clark. All we want now is a statement of conditions. This bank will be found positively solvent and the depositors can be assured that directors and stockholders will make good any amount of money that has been misused. The bank will certainly open again and that before very long."

Several persons called at the bank yesterday to pay on notes due. All were referred to the Bank of Pittsburgh, to which institution Examiner Cunningham had assigned all such papers. Payment is made to the Bank of Pittsburgh, through which the Enterprise clears.

Took Away Her Jewels.

Mrs. William H. Walker, widow of the late theatrical manager, called at the bank yesterday. Mrs. Walker had a safe deposit vault there which held some very valuable jewels. These were taken away.

Attorney Walter Lyon, who represents the Santa Fe Central railway and the Pennsylvania Development Company, was in conference yesterday with W. H. Andrews, Francis J. Torrance, Arthur Kennedy and W. C. Hagan at the residence of Mr. Torrance. At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Lyon made a broad statement, clearly explaining the position of the men connected with the companies. He said:

"My relations with the companies and the men connected with them are such that I am positive that when they say they have no knowledge of any paper of either company in the Enterprise National bank they mean just what they say. Understand, they do not say that such things might not have occurred and that paper of the companies on which are the names of some of the officers may not be found in the bank, but they do say, and such is a fact, that they have no knowledge of any such transactions. If the Enterprise National bank has discounted any such paper the proceeds were used by Clark for his own personal benefit, and not one dollar of the proceeds of any such paper ever went to the benefit or into the treasury of either company, or to the benefit of any man connected with those companies except Clark. That seems like a strong statement, but the facts warrant it. When I told Mr. Torrance of the affair he said:

"If the paper of either company is held by that bank it must be lifted and paid."

Mr. Torrance alone could take care of all the paper authorized by the two companies. No bank could better securities.

GIVEN GOOD ASSIGNMENT.

Lieut. Kenney of Pittsburgh Is Transferred to Fort Howard.

Lieut. Franklin R. Kenney, U. S. A., of Pittsburgh, who has been on recruiting detail at Oklahoma City for the past year, has been transferred to Fort Howard, Baltimore, to take effect November 1. This is one of the best assignments in the army and is no doubt due to the excellent record that Lieut. Kenney has made in recruiting at Oklahoma City. He has beaten every record at that station for the past 25 years.

Mrs. Kenney is the daughter of former City Treasurer David R. Torrence. Lieut. and Mrs. Kenney will visit friends in Pittsburgh early in November, previous to going to their new home in Baltimore.

Will Return Former Minister.

"MONEY ALL GONE," SERMON OF PASTOR WITH SALARY IN ENTERPRISE BANK

"Manchester Presbyterian church, Franklin and Market streets, Allegheny, D. A. Greene, pastor—10:45, 'One Place Our Treasures Are Safe;' 7:30, 'Money All Gone.' P. S.—Our church has about $3,000 in the Enterprise bank."

The Manchester congregation as individuals have about $50,000 deposited in the Enterprise bank, one member of the congregation having a balance of $18,000 on deposit. The pastor has been receiving his salary by checks drawn on that bank, and the church organist is a niece of Cashier T. Lee Clark, who committed suicide.

Works Enterprise Disaster.

David B. McCalmont, state chairman of the Prohibition party, was to have made a speech, but he arrived in town after the adjournment of the meeting.

Castle devoted nearly all of his speech to state deposits. He worked the Enterprise bank failure to the limit, and rehashed a number of stories he has been telling in this campaign. Considerable time was given to W. H. Andrews. Of him Castle said:

"He has wormed himself into every Pittsburgh bank into which he could force or beg his way, and the securities of his 'air-line-and-go-nowhere railroad' are distributed in every bank which would take them."

This was followed by an attack on Robert McAfee, now secretary of the commonwealth, who, Castle declared, has been helping "Bull" Andrews to hold his railroad stocks in Pittsburgh banks, under penalty of the immediate withdrawal of the state time deposit.

"Anyone aggrieved with what I say can find me in my office on Monday and there serve any kind of a writ they desire," said Castle.

Castle also told of an alleged transaction with the Treasury Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

Tells of Alleged Deal.

"Between January 15 and February 1," said Castle, "Mathues placed $25,000 in this trust company. There followed two promissory notes, each made by Andrews to the order of F. J. Torrance. They were indorsed by Torrance, T. Lee Clark and F. R. Nichols, secretary to Andrews. The notes were discounted and Nichols took the money away. Treasurer Glass of the trust company said to another officer of the institution he could get a good deal more state money if he would agree to discount political paper."

Castle's closing charge was as follows: "In the list of notes of the defunct Allegheny bank there is or ought to be a note drawn by John I. Shaw to the order of Senator Bois Penrose for $75,000." He omitted further details and called attention to a story printed in a Philadelphia Berry paper to the effect that Shaw and Penrose had met in Philadelphia last night. Senator Penrose has denied he has any paper in the Enterprise bank.

Castle went from here to Philadelphia. He hopes to put some life into the Democratic state organization, but feels the undertaking is a heavy one. Col. Guffey and Castle are working together and are hopeful of making a deal in Allegheny county which will help Berry.

Guffey telephoned one of his lieutenants in Milton tonight and urged him to get a big audience for Castle as he was going to have some "hot stuff." There were about 700 people at the meeting. The colonel did not arrange for the songs, however.

Tender Reception to Pastor.

The Rev. Dr. J. R. BROTHER TRIES TO MAKE CORPSE SPEAK

"Wake Up; You're Not Dead. Speak to Me," Cries Mike Soekd to Lifeless Remains.

"Alex, wake up! wake up! You're not dead. Speak to me."

With frantic cries Mike Soekd, a McKeesport Slav, tried to bring back to life the corpse of his brother, Alex, who had been drowned early in the morning in the Monongahela river, at the foot of Huey street. The living brother refused to believe Alex dead and finally had to be removed by force.

The dead man had been working on a sand hoist belonging to the Keystone Sand Company, when he lost his balance. He fell into the water, and as he was unable to swim, he sank. Efforts to rescue him made by the others working on the hoist were fruitless, but they succeeded in obtaining the body. It was taken to an undertaker's establishment and prepared for burial, and it was there that his brother came.

LOSES GREAT AWARD.

Finding of Lower Court Which Gave Morris C. Menges $1,000,000 Reversed for Retrial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The appellate division of the New York state supreme court handed down a decision today reversing a decision by a lower court which had awarded $1,000,000 to Morris C. Menges of Brooklyn in a suit against Gen. Louis Fitzgerald, president of the Mercantile Trust Company of New York city. A third trial was ordered.

Menges was formerly a horse trainer and hotelkeeper at Sheepshead Bay. He alleged he had given valuable information to Gen. Fitzgerald, which led to the purchase of the Western Maryland railroad by a syndicate composed of George J. Gould, James B. Hyde and Gen. Fitzgerald for Wabash railroad interests, and that Gen. Fitzgerald had promised to pay him $1,000,000 if the sale was accomplished.

HANDS OUT COSTLY PEARLS LIKE TROLLEY TRANSFERS

Companions of Alice Roosevelt on Her Visit to the Empress of China Say It Was Like Chapter from Arabian Nights.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Oct. 20.—Miss Anna and Miss Marjorie Ide, daughters of Commissioner Ide, who accompanied Miss Alice Roosevelt to Pekin and who are at present in the city, speak most enthusiastically of their visit to the ancient capital, where the empress was their hostess.

On the occasion of that visit the empress laid aside her customary reserve, they said. Her palace, so long a place of mystery, was thrown wide open to her American guests and the old woman proved a most delightful hostess. Before the guests departed, each was presented with a souvenir of the visit. The girls each received a beautiful pearl, and the men were not forgotten.

Miss Marjorie Ide said her visit to the empress was like living through a chapter of the Arabian Nights, and when the pearls were handed around like street car transfers, she could have screamed with delight, not because the gift was a pearl of great price, but because of the oriental abandon with which the precious gems were contributed.

"And there was a funny old lantern in one of the halls that I certainly would have rubbed if I could have reached it," said she. "Wu Ting Fang acted as interpreter for the empress. Wu, in the presence of his royal mistress, was a very modest individual and invariably placed his face on the floor before addressing her.

"The empress has a magnetic personality and one of the most interesting faces I ever saw. Except for a look of cruelty, which comes and goes like the shadow from a shaking limb, she had almost a motherly look. She was very kind to us and was greatly interested in everything we said or did.

"The emperor was there, but he does not seem to count. He did not seem to know what to do and the old lady pulled him around by his wide sleeve and perked him most urgently into whatever position she thought he ought to take. He submitted like a lamb."

COULD NOT MAKE DENIAL STRONGER

Penrose Emphatically Refutes Charge Made by Castle in Campaign Speeches.

SHAW IS JUST AS VIGOROUS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—"You can make my denial as strong as you please. I have no notes whatever in the bank; never borrowed a cent from it, and never had any transaction with the institution which would give a basis for such a story.

"It is an absolute falsehood, and if there is such a note there, as has been reported, the signature on it is a forgery. I never even indorsed any notes which have been deposited in the bank."

This was United States Senator Boies Penrose's emphatic denial of Homer L. Castle's statement that a note for $75,000 bearing his signature had been found in the Enterprise bank. He denied everything much more strongly than he had on the previous day.

John I. Shaw of Pittsburgh, whose note in an Allegheny county bank for $10,000 was indorsed by Senator Penrose, according to the Castle charge, admitted this evening that he had such a note discounted at the Turtle Creek National bank. He said, however, that the note had since been paid, and it was purely a personal transaction, there being nothing significant politically about the matter.

No Conference With Senator.

Mr. Shaw denied emphatically he had held conferences with Senator Penrose since he arrived here on Thursday evening, in spite of the fact that it was reported that he had been in conference with the senator last night and again several times today. Just before his departure for home this evening, Mr. Shaw said:

"My visit here is purely one of personal business. It has no political significance. I came here with President Miller and Treasurer Ober of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company. I want to say decidedly that it has absolutely no bearing on the Enterprise bank failure.

"I also want to state that I have not held any conferences with Senator Penrose on any subject while here. I saw him for a minute this morning in the breakfast room of the hotel, but we held no conversation."

Mr. Shaw was asked:

"Was Senator Penrose an indorser on a note of yours in the Turtle Creek bank?"

"He was, but that was purely a personal transaction. It had nothing to do with things political. The note has since been paid and the transaction closed. I don't care to state the amount of the note."

No Paper in Enterprise Bank.

"Have you any papers indorsed by Senator Penrose or otherwise in the Enterprise bank of Allegheny?"

"There is no paper of mine of any kind, so far as I know, in the possession of the Enterprise bank. And, furthermore, Senator Penrose is not an indorser now on any note of mine."

"Are you interested, either as a stockholder or a depositor, in the Enterprise bank?"

"No, I am not. I knew the dead cashier, T. Lee Clark, very well. We lived near each other in Bellevue; but our friendship was one in which business had no part. I admired Mr. Clark and am sorry to know of his sad death."

"Then, in no way are you interested in the affairs of the Enterprise bank?"

"In no way. The note transaction between Senator Penrose and myself was one of a business character. Politics played no part in it, and the loan was not made on account of the fact that the state's funds were deposited in that or any other bank. The note has been paid and the transaction closed."

Mr. Shaw also specifically denied that he and Senator Penrose had given a note for $75,000 to the Enterprise or any other banking institution.

BULLOCK'S BLUFF DOES NOT SEEM TO HAVE WON

Allis-Chalmers People Alleged to Have Used Them as a Club on General Electric.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 20.—President George Bullock, Vice President Joseph H. Neave and Secretary James W. Bullock of the Bullock Electric Company, which the Allis-Chalmers Company leased in March, 1904, are in New York arranging for the sale of their holdings, a majority of the stock, to the Milwaukee concern.

It is known that the lease includes a secret understanding that if the Allis-Chalmers people could force the General Electric to absorb their company, the Bullock plant was to be bought outright and included in the sale.

The Allis-Chalmers Company, it is said by the Bullock Company officials, simply used the local concern as a club and the combination was strong enough to force the General Electric into amalgamation with its rival. Private information here is that the General Electric is to pay $25 for each share of Allis-Chalmers common stock. The Bullock Company lately increased its capital to $3,000,000 for the ostensible purpose of enlargement, but it is said this was merely part of the bluff.

MAGISTRATE PITIES BABY.

Neighbor's Plea Has No Effect—No Tongs in Homestead.

Magistrate Kirby yesterday morning fined Catherine Rice $10 and costs or 30 days in the workhouse for drunkenness. Mrs. Rice lives near the magistrate and thought this would clear her, but the magistrate said he had seen her drunk on Thursday evening and she carried a 2-year-old baby in her arms. The child would have been seriously injured had not neighbors taken it away from her, as she fell several times.

Walter Calvus and Frank Hunter were both fined $10 and costs on the charge of disorderly conduct. Hunter told the magistrate he worked on the tongs in the 10-inch mill at Homestead. The magistrate claimed tongs were not used in the 10-inch mill in Homestead.

RAILROAD'S SALE NEARLY CLOSED

MEANS LOSS TO BUILDERS

Negotiations are now under way, with every indication of conclusion in a short while, for the sale of the Santa Fe Central Railroad Company by the Pittsburghers who own it to another interest.

Under the terms which are being discussed it is said the project will mean a considerable loss to the gentlemen who went into the plan, but the circumstances which have arisen through the troubles of the Enterprise National bank, have led them to the conviction that they had better accept a reasonable loss now than wait longer for the big returns which they still feel confident will come from the operation of the road ultimately.

The owners of the road have several offers for the property and at least two of the three railroads which now have connections with it are among the negotiators. These roads are the Denver & Rio Grande, the Rock Island, and the Santa Fe proper. There are rumors also that some private interests not allied with any of these large railroad systems are trying to get the road.

The road has a length of about 120 miles. It is modernly constructed, first-class engineering ability and honest material having been put into the work along the most approved lines. Its bonded indebtedness (authorized) is $2,500,000, but the issue provides that of this amount $500,000 shall be held by the trustee of the mortgage, the Pittsburgh Trust Company, to cover the cost of extensions and to be issued only on receipt of the paid bills for the work.

The bonds issued, $2,000,000 in amount, are still in the hands of the original owners, Messrs. W. H. Andrews, Francis J. Torrance, Arthur Kennedy, W. C. Hagan, etc. They have been used as collateral for loans, but have never been sold. It is said that the earnings of the railroad have been sufficient not only to meet all expenses of operation, maintenance, etc., but to equal the interest on all the loans which were obtained with the bonds as collateral.

It was expected to be but a short time until the growth of traffic along the new line would make the bonds gilt-edged and earn a dividend on the stock.

STATEMENT IS OFFICIAL.

Question Raised as to Philanthropic Funds Being in the Enterprise National Bank.

Mrs. H. C. Campbell, president of the United Presbyterian Women's association, comes to the assistance of the officials of the Enterprise National bank with an emphatic denial that checking accounts of the institutions conducted under the auspices of the association were entrusted to that bank. The statement to this effect which appeared in yesterday morning's paper was based on facts stated by officials of the United Presbyterian Women's association, and by a member of the board of directors of one of the three institutions. The statement, before leaving the hands of the writer, was read by one of these officials and was then transmitted over the wire with the consent of that official. The deepest sympathy was expressed with the bereaved family, a sister of the late cashier of the Enterprise National bank being the secretary of the United Presbyterian Women's association.

The letter of denial of the statement published yesterday is written over the names of Mrs. H. C. Campbell and Mrs. M. J. Steel, respectively the president and treasurer of the United Presbyterian Women's association, and is as follows:

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 20, 1905.

In justice to the Enterprise bank, which has always been our staunch friend, and also to the work of the United Presbyterian Women's association, we are constrained to make official denial of the statement published in The Pittsburgh Gazette of October 20, concerning the funds of our association.

Not a single checking account was placed in the Enterprise bank. Neither the Columbia hospital nor the Home for the Aged had funds there.

The only account of the association at present held by the Enterprise bank is part of the reserve fund of the Orphans Home, amounting to $1,490 31. We are not at all anxious about this money, feeling assured that we will not lose any of it.

MRS. H. C. CAMPBELL, President.
MRS. M. J. STEEL, Treasurer.

WILLIAM WANAMAKER ENDS USEFUL CAREER

Death Calls the Great Philadelphia Merchant—Was Notable Figure in Business Life.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—William H. Wanamaker, the head and owner of the Wanamaker & Brown concern, and brother of John Wanamaker, died tonight. He was next to the oldest of four brothers, of whom there are now two living. His ancestry went back to the early German settlers of Pennsylvania and upon the mother's side to the Huguenots.

Born in the lower part of Philadelphia county, his boyhood was that of a country boy and of a country school. He was born with a talent for business and before he became of age was put in charge of a small store on Market street near Sixteenth by a representative of the old Van Brunt packing house.

Soon after the founding of the Wanamaker & Brown business he became connected with it, and about 1850 became its sole owner, and gave to it his great energy and rare business ability, until a short time ago, when his health became impaired, developing into nervous carbuncles, which developed into a species of pernicious anemia that caused his rapid decline and death. He leaves a widow, also a son and daughter, William H. Wanamaker, Jr., and Mrs. Howard B. Bremer.

IVINS OPENS CAMPAIGN.

Republican Candidate for Mayor in New York Calls McClellan a Subtle Politician.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—At an enthusiastic Republican rally in Carnegie hall tonight, William M. Ivins, candidate for mayor, opened his campaign before several thousand people. He declared the discussion of the resumption of franchises for surface and underground transportation purely academic "in view of the poverty of the city," and said no public utility franchise should be granted in perpetuity, but put himself on record as against confiscation.

He termed Mayor McClellan a "subtle politician," and said an effort had been made to "distract attention from the main issue, namely, honest and efficient administration to public ownership."

E. G. CUNLIFFE NOW IN PRISON; MORE CASH IS FOUND

standing at the bar. Missett went up to him and said:

"Hello, Cunliffe, what are you doing here?"

Cunliffe turned around and pretended not to know Missett, who was sure of his man. Missett then said:

"Why, you know me. I'm Missett. You used to play policy with me in Bristol."

Cunliffe still denied that he had ever seen Missett. Missett then left the barroom in a hurry and when outside inquired the amount of the reward offered for the capture of Cunliffe. The next morning Missett went to New York and on reaching there visited the Pinkerton agency in Broadway.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I know where Cunliffe is and I want to know what reward is offered for him."

He was told $2,500.

The Pinkerton people thought at first that Missett was a crank, but he assured them that he was in earnest and said if the Pinkertons would give him a written agreement that he would get the reward if he told them where the missing man could be found he would do so. This was agreed to and Missett told them

Easy Man to Recognize.

What Cunliffe told the Pinkertons last night has not been divulged. When he alighted from the carriage in Ninth street and was led toward the elevator of the Second National bank building, he seemed on the point of breaking down. He is apparently stouter than when his most recent picture was taken, but still wears a light mustache. He was dressed in a new sack suit, which he wore under a light topcoat.

After a glance at Cunliffe's features there is no reason to be surprised at the comparative ease of his capture. He has a round, florid face, with expressionless blue-gray eyes. He has a sensual mouth, a weak chin and small nose. He looks like a man who would not know how to spend $100,000 in 100 years. He carries himself like a working man, who has lived a life of hard knocks, and if he should array himself in good clothes doubtless would arouse suspicion.

At 6 o'clock last night crowds began gathering around the trainshed gates at the Union station, waiting when Cunliffe's train would arrive. An hour later the throng had increased to several hundred. The gatemen refused sightseers admission to the platform, and some of those who were more curious bought single trip tickets to East Liberty and rushed through the gates when a Pitcairn accommodation train was called.

This gave them an opportunity to loiter around the platform until No. 25 would arrive. The scheme was an open secret, and at least 200 people adopted the ruse. This reduced the railroad company to the veritable position of exhibiting Cunliffe at the sideshow price of 10 cents—the price of a ticket to East Liberty. The railroad men were unwilling showmen, of course, but it was impossible for them to refuse to recognize the little white checks.

The train was reported 25 minutes late, but the crowd still lingered and increased in numbers. When the headlight of the Buffalo express was seen in the yards there was a wild rush along the platform. The fireman seemed to recognize the cause of the commotion, and shouted to the crowd:

"G'wan! We ain't got Cunliffe. This is the Valley train from Buffalo."

While the people were still scurrying along the platform the big Atlantic hauling No. 25 with its long string of coaches and Pullmans crept noiselessly into the trainshed. To the few people who recognized the train the conductor, the baggagemaster and all the trainmen shouted the news that Cunliffe and the detectives had left the train at Homewood. The expectant crowd left, disappointed and disgusted.

Several officials and employes of the express company were waiting at the Pinkerton offices to participate in Cunliffe's examination. When he arrived at the bank building several detectives were on hand as a sort of reception committee. The door was locked as soon as the prisoner was led into the elevator. After a few minutes two of the detectives edged their way out of the door and shouted:

"It's all off. They caught him."

"Caught wot?" queried a newsboy.

"Cunliffe, the desperado."

"Hully Gee!"

There was no more excitement in Ninth street until a mail carrier came along to collect the letters out of the chute in the hallway of the building. The door was locked and Uncle Sam's man was not slow in expressing his opinion of the unusual proceeding.

It was stated by the detectives that Cunliffe would be placed in Central station until the proceeding of obtaining a commitment for sending him to jail. The informations against the man charging him with larceny and embezzlement have been entered before Alderman McMasters. Cunliffe has not retained an attorney.

At 2 o'clock this morning both Cunliffe and his inquisitors grew hungry and at that hour a recess was taken, while a messenger boy was dispatched for some sandwiches. Long after this hour the lights were burning brilliantly in the windows, while the "sweating" was continued. It was stated then that Cunliffe probably would not be removed to the police station until daylight.

CUNLIFFE A FOOL, IS VERDICT OF THE INTERESTED PUBLIC

"What a fool Cunliffe is!" was a common phrase in Pittsburgh yesterday, the capture of the express thief being the most common subject of conversation all over town.

Nearly every one agreed that he was a dub, a blockhead, a quitter, an ignoramus, or anything but shrewd. Once the money was stolen they were for a carefully arranged escape and there were few who did not know how they would manage it.

With many the safe deposit vaults were a favorite idea.

"Buy a good suit of clothes, look prosperous, give another name, of course, and rent a safe deposit box," is the plan proposed by an amateur burglar yesterday. "Put the money into the safe deposit box and on some pretext pay the rent for several years ahead. Then lose the key and even if caught by the police you could return a few years later, after serving your term, and get your money."

Another man, who knows the west, was strong for Texas. He believed that there Cunliffe could have hidden himself, but this was disputed by a friend who thought New York the better place.

"Let him go there and be quiet. Anything but return to his old haunts," said this party.

"He should have gone to work. It's suspicious for a man to be loafing and have plenty of money," was another suggestion.

"Anyway, a man who will go away and leave his wife and four children with only $8 is no good," was the general conclusion.

CUNLIFFE AND HIS WIFE BUT A FEW FEET APART

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HARTFORD, CONN., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Edward G. Cunliffe, wife of the express robber, arrived in Hartford early this afternoon and at once went to the home of her parents in East Hartford. She and her children were accompanied from Jersey City by her father, J. H. Boardman.

Mrs. Cunliffe and her husband, bound in opposite directions, were in the Jersey City depot at the same time this morning, but the fact of the other's presence there was kept from each and a scene averted. Mrs. Cunliffe's father found her on the verge of collapse, and it was feared that she would break down if brought face to face with her erring husband. She was very nervous upon her arrival here. Her baggage has been twice examined by detectives between Pittsburgh and New York. Her meeting with her mother at the East Hartford home was very affecting.

Mrs. Cunliffe and her children will make their home for the present with her father. She was not inclined to talk upon her arrival, but her father declares that she still loves her husband and will not forsake him.

TERRIFIC STORM RAGING

and most of the crew of 14 men drifted ashore. Mate Dave Syze was drowned.

CHEBOYGAN, MICH., Oct. 20.—The tow barge Rhodes went ashore on Lightship being pounded to pieces by the seas.

The harbor tug Cygnet was broken to pieces by the storm during the night and this morning and not a trace of her could be seen.

At 5 o'clock last night the two-masted schooner Kate Lyons of Grand Haven was sighted three miles out, making for the harbor. She missed the entrance and struck on the north pier, breaking in two. She continued to pound until today and there is not a vestige of her left.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20.—While passing Ashtabula, westbound, just before noon today, the schooner Yukon, battling with the storm, sprung a leak. She attempted to put into Ashtabula, but without success, sinking several miles out. Capt. Ole Olsen and his crew of five men were taken ashore by the lifesaving crew at great peril to their lives.

The schooner Kingfisher, which went ashore just east of the Cleveland breakwater, was pounded to pieces on the beach.

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—From Lake Erie come reports of the sinking of a vessel thought to be the barge Tasmania of the fleet of James Corrigan of Cleveland.

Evidence of another wreck is found in the discovery of a considerable amount of wreckage floating by Thunder Bay island, in Lake Huron, late today. The schooner Emma L. Nelson of Alpena, Mich., is ashore in Presque Isle harbor, not far from Rogers City.

LUDINGTON, MICH., Oct. 20.—At noon today the barge Lucy Ness was sighted southbound and vainly endeavoring to make this harbor. The schooner Vega was east anchor off this port and is slowly drifting before the furious wind and sea. The lifesaving crew is in readiness to rescue the crew of the Vega as soon as the schooner is near enough to shore.

BUFFALO, Oct. 20.—The schooner Mattenee Light, bound from Buffalo to Duluth, foundered off Repley, 20 miles west of Dunkirk, this afternoon. Capt. Morgan and the crew were saved.

Dunkirk fishermen report an unknown barge is in distress off VanBuren Point, 10 miles west of Dunkirk. Capt. Ohman and Seaman Gus Parsons of the barge Quadilla were swept overboard with a deckload of lumber. They clung to the floating timber until rescued.

The regular passages of the Cleveland and Detroit boats for tonight were cancelled. The passenger steamer Western States, due here from Detroit at 9 a. m., was sighted off port about noon, but the captain evidently feared to make port and turned his boat toward the Canadian shore to ride out the gale behind Long Point. The big propeller H. S. Wilkeson, the last vessel to make port tonight, reported the Western States about 10 miles from Long Point. The steamer carries 50 passengers.

The steamer Wisconsin is also a victim of the storm off Lorain. She left Lorain for Toledo at 2:30 a. m., and was struck by the gale, which blew her head-on upon the rocks outside the breakwater. She can probably be released without great damage.

STEEL CORPORATION WILL MAKE MILLIONS BY RAISES

Advances in Prices of Product Will Vastly Increase Company's Earning Power.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Within the 12 months beginning October, 1904, the average advance in a majority of finished steel products has been about $5 per ton. In some instances it has been more, in others less.

This means to the United States Steel corporation, for instance, an increase of about $55,000,000 in its earning power on the same tonnage of business. As it is doing a much greater volume than a year ago, however, the increase in prices means actually a great many millions more in earnings.

There has been no official advance in the price of steel rails and there will be none. In some instances, however, premiums are being paid for early delivery and this will no doubt increase as the railroads begin to need rails in the first half of 1906.

Higher prices in all lines are expected early in the new year. Although the steel plate pool let prices remain officially unchanged as the result of the recent conference of its members, this was done for a purpose. That purpose, apparently, is to carry on the farcical theory that pools do not fix prices.

Y. M. C. A.'s in Convention.

The 35 Young Men's Christian associations of the Second district of Pennsylvania opened their thirtieth annual convention in Sewickley last evening and will continue today and tomorrow. There are over 200 delegates. Last night's meeting was conversational, William N. Jennings and Fred S. Goodman, chairman of the First district committee, being in charge.

Japan Will Increase Army.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The correspondent of the Times at Tokyo says it is rumored the Japanese government proposes to increase the army from 18 to 20 divisions, in order to better discharge its obligation with regard to the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

AMERIKA ARRIVES IN PORT FROM HER MAIDEN VOYAGE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Displacing 1,000 tons more water than any other craft afloat, the new steamer Amerika, of the Hamburg-American line arrived here today on her maiden voyage across the Atlantic. Despite her displacement of 41,000 tons, the Amerika is not the biggest steamship in the world, as the steamer Baltic of the White Star line, is both longer, wider and of greater tonnage than the new liner. The Amerika is, however, deeper than the Baltic.

The Amerika came from Cherbourg Mole to the Sandy Hook lightship, 3,050 miles, in 7 days, 17 hours and 12 minutes. While the vessel made an hourly average speed for the voyage of only 16.468 knots, she is capable of much more speed. She carried 1,631 persons, including the crew.

Among the Amerika's passengers were Count A. F. Wachtmeister, Swedish minister of foreign affairs; Herr Baltin, director of the Hamburg-American line, and Gen. Russell Frost.

CITY LOTS TO BE SOLD.

Ordinance to Be Introduced Authorizing Larkin to Dispose of Them.

An ordinance will be presented in councils on Monday authorizing the city controller to sell a number of lots of ground that belong to the city, because of delinquent tax liens being on them. They are lots 39, 40, 41 and 42 in the Bels & Bergers' plain the Thirteenth ward; lots 1, 2 and 3 in the E. P. Jones plan in the Thirteenth ward; lots 102 and 103 in the Sawyer's plan, Eighteenth ward, and lots 125, 126 and 127 in the Samuel Garrison's heirs' plain, Eighteenth ward.

The report of Delinquent Tax Collector Andrew Fulton to City Controller John B. Larkin for the month of September shows that the total amounts of taxes collected was $167,651 02. Of this $146,053 02 goes to the city and $21,598 to the sub-school districts.

ROYAL PARTY AT GENOA.

Prince and Princess of Wales Give Assurance of Friendship to Italy.

GENOA, Oct. 20.—The prince and princess of Wales, who are journeying to India for a six months' tour, arrived here today and went on board the British battleship Renown. They were given a most cordial reception.

The prince telegraphed King Victor Emmanuel, recalling the bonds of friendship uniting the British and Italian royal families and their respective countries. The princess sent a telegram to Queen Helena, expressing regret at learning that her majesty was somewhat indisposed. The prince and princess will sail on the Renown tomorrow morning.

FOLK TO TOUR OHIO.

Will Spend Three Days in Buckeye State in Hopes of Saving Democratic Candidates.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—Chairman Garber of the Democratic state committee today announced that Gov. Folk of Missouri would make a three-day tour of Ohio on November 2, 3 and 4.

The itinerary has not yet been arranged, but it will include Toledo, Cincinnati and Cleveland, and probably Columbus and Springfield. Gov. Folk will travel in a special train and will make speeches from the platform of a car at intermediate points between the larger cities. His first speech will be at Toledo on November 2, and he will conclude his tour at Cleveland on November 4.

Many New Typhoid Cases.

The Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday reported 14 new cases of typhoid fever, four of scarlet fever and two of diphtheria.

ARMY TRANSPORT USED FOR COUNTERFEITER'S WORKSHOP

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HONOLULU, Oct. 20.—A federal grand jury is investigating the case of alleged counterfeiting by men who sailed from Honolulu on the army transport Sherman. It is reported that a confession has been made by one of the defendants, implicating others. It is expected that indictments will be found against two prisoners who are in San Francisco, and that they will be brought back for trial.

Of the six men who were arrested when the transport was at Honolulu, three probably will be released.

Indictments are likely to be found against three men for having counterfeit currency in their possession.

Several local cases of counterfeiting are also before the courts. Private Cooper, who was arrested in August, pleaded guilty to making $10 counterfeits, and Private Hilson pleaded guilty to having counterfeits in his possession. The others accused will contest the case.

PARIS ANARCHISTS INDICTED FOR TRYING TO KILL RULERS

Would-be Murderers of King Alfonso and President Loubet to Stand Trial.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Oct. 20.—After a protracted preliminary inquiry, indictments were today drawn up against five anarchists in connection with the throwing of a bomb May 31 last at a carriage containing King Alfonso and President Loubet, in front of the opera.

The principal person accused is Avino, alias Ferras, who is indicted for the attempted assassination of the king and president and their escort. Avino has not yet been captured.

Charles Malato, who is known as a philosophic writer, and an anarchist named Caussanel, are charged with complicity in the outrage, and with having explosives in their possession. Vellino, a Spaniard, and Harvey, an Englishman, are indicted for having explosives in their possession. The trials will take place at the Seine assizes.

EXAMINE A GRAND

Very, very carefully before you buy it. If the framework of a grand is too thin—(and some of the very small grands have this fault)—you never know when it will break under the tremendous tension it carries.

We have four different styles of miniature grands—made by

Mason & Hamlin, A. B. Chase, Vose and Fischer

While they differ in tone quality, not one of the four carries a structural weakness. You're welcome to examine our whole line of pianos, whether you buy or not.

The Exposition Closes Today.

IT has been one of the most successful seasons the directorate of the Exposition has ever had. Much of this success was due to the very large excursions that poured in from week to week from surrounding towns. We are pleased to say that we have enjoyed a very large patronage from these excursions, and on this, the last day of the Exposition, which will be favored with excursions from all points, we wish to extend in the heartiest manner possible the freedom of this store to every visitor. We are but two squares away from the big building, and there will be plenty of time to look through our collection of Autumn and Winter fashions before going down to hear Sousa's Band, which doesn't play until the afternoon. Fine meals for a little bit of money in our Restaurant.

A Royal Welcome to Little People.

TODAY the Gates of Toyland will be opened, and an invitation is given parents to bring their children and with them roam through this fairyland of the East Basement. The most gorgeous collection of toys from abroad will be on exhibition. The display will resolve itself into a perspective of Christmas for both old and young.

Failure of a pair of clever swindlers to secure money from a New York street railway corporation for alleged injuries sustained in a prearranged "accident" demonstrates that "the business of getting hurt" is not always successful. In this case a woman sued for damages sustained in falling from a car, and the conductor testified that the company was to blame. It transpired later that the two were husband and wife. Guarding against fake accident claims requires constant vigilance on the part of corporations nowadays.

Senator Albert J. Beveridge has provoked every Democratic editor in Indiana to get out his hammer through alleged instructions to his publishers to advertise his new book in Republican newspapers only. Senator Beveridge is clearly within his rights to advertise where he pleases. The Democratic editors are also within their rights to fume and fuss, but will it not occur to them that perhaps the able senator foresaw their wrath and did what he did to get a lot of free advertising for his book? Criticism frequently sells a book where praise makes it a drug on the literary market.

Secretary William H. Taft's statement yesterday that he is going to the isthmus of Panama, not only to study the progress made in the construction of the canal, but to "ascertain certain facts," is taken to mean an investigation of the subject of Chinese coolie labor. Congress, at the coming session, will ask for some information along this line, and there will be no one more competent to answer these and all other questions relating to the canal than Secretary Taft upon his return. The secretary of war not only keeps his eyes open, but possesses the faculty of telling clearly what he sees.

The activity of Spanish anarchists, in view of the approaching visit of the French president, is causing some anxiety at Madrid. A "protest by dynamite" is threatened and some of the best known detectives in Europe have been engaged to prevent it by arresting the plotters. One is tempted to wonder why, with the oft-quoted vigilance and excellence of organization of the continental police, the anarchists have not long ago been driven from Europe. But while "Black Hand" outrages are of almost daily occurrence in New York, we are hardly in a position to criticise the police of other countries.

Commendation is due the students of the Carnegie Technical schools for their expressed determination to exclude professionalism from their sports. While conditions are believed to be improving, owing to an aroused sentiment among students and more careful supervision by faculties, professionalism has been the curse of college athletics. The trouble with baseball, football and track events, as commonly conducted, has been the small number of actual, active participants, as compared with the number who simply look on and cheer. Professionalism has done much to discourage those who most need the exercise from taking part in college sports.

The conference of European and American bankers with the finance minister at St. Petersburg, regarding the proposed new Russian loan, began yesterday. In this connection the opinion of Rudolf Martin, of the German statistical office, that Russia is approaching bankruptcy and will within 15 years be compelled to suspend payment of interest on the national debt, will attract attention. The Russian debt now amounts to $5,125,000,000, of which $4,250,000,000 is owed to foreign bondholders. While much has been said about Russia's huge reserve, according to Herr Martin it is but $675,000,000, which has been obtained from foreign loans and which is security for $525,000,000 in paper money. In his opinion the debt will increase enormously and the agricultural industry, which is the chief reliance, will not be able to meet the interest, which is a rather dismal outlook.

Cold weather brings other menaces to the public safety than the combination of the open grate and the handy oil-can, which a correspondent recently mentioned. It means an increase in crimes of violence and robbery. Members of the great itinerant class who have been living the life of idle tramps in the country, are flocking into the cities, where hospitality is not so open. Then they lapse naturally into the criminal life. With our police, even during normal times, deriving their inspiration from an incompetent and indifferent superintendent, and just now actively engaged in political work which has no connection with their official duties, it is not surprising that householders should feel some anxiety regarding the protection of their homes these dark nights.

The Exposition's Wind-Up.

Today and this evening Pittsburghers will flock to the big show at the Point to make notable the closing of one of the most successful seasons in its history. There should be a record-breaking attendance, for the exposition is a credit to the cities and the surrounding territory from which it derives its support. No other city in the country can boast a show that approaches our exposition. No other city even attempts to compete. It is unique.

While the exhibits appeal to a wide range of tastes and interests, there is one feature which never fails to give universal satisfaction: the concerts in Music Hall. The music at the exposition throughout the season has possessed the two-fold virtue of being both popularly attractive and of a high standard. The exposition, therefore, besides providing an admirable place of amusement, for children as well as adults, is not lacking in educative influence. Pupils of the public schools are wisely permitted to enjoy the many attractions for the eye and ear, for teachers have found that time spent at the exposition is by no means wasted.

Cupid's Finish.

According to Dr. Forbes Winslow, brain specialist of Washington, D. C., love is dead. "People do not go insane over love any more," he says. "There is no longer any love in the world. Only in the case of the romantic boy and girl, with their silly attachment, is there any love before marriage." On the other hand, we have the expert testimony of Prof. Edward S. Ames of the University of Chicago, department of psychology, who says it is as natural to love as to eat; that many modern cases are known of people who have gone insane over love affairs and that love begins with the infant and develops through all of life into the family and social system. Numerous other supposed authorities could be cited, pro and con, but how ridiculous a procedure this is, to depend upon the testimony of others as to the existence of love in the human heart! Each witness is guided by his own personal experience. If he "has lived and loved," as the German poet puts it, not all the negative testimony in the world can shake his belief in his happy experience. If he has never known that joy of joys, the enthusiastic witnessing of his more fortunate friends will not enable him to appreciate the sensation.

As to the immunity of modern lovers to insanity, it is difficult to see what part that plays in the argument. If fewer lovers are going insane, that only shows how much more sensible they are getting. The relation of love to lunacy is an old exploded notion, anyway. Instead of losing his mind when he gets the mitten, the modern lover tries, tries again and lands the girl. He does not go about "sighing like a furnace" nor does he indite odes to his mistress' eyebrow. He hustles to get the money with which to buy furniture. And the girl, impressed with his persistency, whispers "yes." We should like to know why Dr. Winslow has any right to speak on the subject, anyhow. His business is with the head, not the heart.

Americanizing Japan.

While, as has been said, Japan has the inside track in China and Korea, it is also true that the United States has the inside track in Japan. No other occidental nation is exerting so great an influence on Japanese thought and customs. While some of the schools are planned on the German system, the Caucasian instructors are generally Americans. A significant and interesting fact is the popularity of the game of baseball among the young men of Japan. American terms, and even our slang, are employed. A returned missionary tells of the shock he experienced on hearing, for the first time, American slang from the mouth of a Japanese. Expressions heard on the streets of New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago are in use in Japan long before their novelty has worn off here. The "American manner," which is defined as "a certain briskness combined with gracious affability," is aped, we learn, by the fashionable youth of Tokyo.

Some months before the close of the Russo-Japanese war, pupils of a Tokyo school were asked by their teacher this question: "If not yourself, who would you rather have been?" In view of the high ideal of patriotism which the Japanese maintain, it is somewhat surprising to learn that a large number of boys replied: "President Roosevelt." In commercial matters, of course, Japan is closely copying American methods. American literature, especially the new novels, find a ready sale in the large cities. In the libraries American newspapers are to be found, and they are invariably read before those of other countries. The educated Japanese gentleman is conversant with such live topics in this country as the insurance investigation and the proposed regulation of railroad rates. Along many lines of activity Japan is patterning after the United States, with Great Britain second as an exemplar.

The Business Situation.

Two news items published during the week threw a very clear light upon the industrial situation. One was that the Pennsylvania railroad had placed orders for 20,000 freight cars, making a total of 37,321 cars ordered by this company alone since July 1, at a cost of approximately $48,000,000. The significance of this extends beyond the mere placing of the orders. It means that in the judgment of the Pennsylvania railroad management, which is probably the best in its line in the country, the requirements of business will be equal to the new facilities afforded and that provision is thus being made for traffic that is in sight in the future. The Pennsylvania is not exceptional in this instance. All the great railroad systems have been placing orders for cars and locomotives. In addition, the steel-rail capacity of the mills of the country has been engaged for many months ahead. Next to agriculture, the greatest industry is that of transportation, and when the latter is fully employed, it means that all other lines of business are active.

The other news item related to the purchase of 40,000 tons pig iron by the United States Steel Corporation at the reported price of $16 a ton. This is an advance over the highest price previously paid this year, and the new purchase follows so closely upon others that were announced some weeks ago as to indicate the volume of consumption. Trade authorities estimate that the total production of pig iron for 1905 will exceed 20,000,000 tons, and that the consumption will be nearly 21,000,000 tons. These totals are the largest in the history of the industry. Bank exchanges are also exceeding all previous totals, notwithstanding there has been a very general subsidence of speculative activity in all the principal markets. All indications point to a still larger volume of legitimate business in the future.

A slight relaxation has appeared in the money market, but rates are still seasonably firm, both at home and abroad. The advance in sterling exchange, which has removed prospects of additional gold imports, is due to the reduced shipments of cotton and increased imports of foreign merchandise. The value of our merchandise imports for September was $136,000,000, the largest for any September on record, and $18,000,000 in excess of the total for the same month last year. Our exports of breadstuffs, however, are increasing, and will tend to enlarge our credits abroad. Another influence in the world's money markets which has not been present in former years at this season is the transfer of Japanese credits from Berlin and New York to London. This movement apparently began earlier than anticipated by bankers, and upset calculations based upon expectations of large importations of gold. The domestic money market, however, can take care of the needs of legitimate trade this winter, provided there is no attempt to revive extensive speculation in the stock market. If this attempt was in contemplation, it has evidently been abandoned, and there is now no fear of monetary disturbance at the close of the year.

The punishment of 200 freshmen for rioting is causing a good deal of indignation at Yale. The authorities' disposition to treat college men as ordinary citizens is naturally a severe shock.

It would seem that the law will deal severely enough with Cunliffe without the additional degredation of being butchered in a Leader cartoon.

The Leader says it is one of the three most ably-edited newspapers in the United States. It should also claim the medal for modesty.

Three artists want to paint the President's picture. It may be necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to engage an understudy.

That New York bricklayer who fell six stories without being hurt would probably find football an enjoyable pastime.

The question is, if football is made as harmless as a French duel will the people continue to put up money to see it?

And everywhere Mr. Bryan goes he will hear somebody or other sounding the praises of President Roosevelt.

Norway has at last secured a king. We were hoping one of our insurance presidents might get the position.

Mr. Roosevelt told us of the "Winning of the West," and now he has completely captured the south.

Mr. Bryan is having the time of his life in Japan. His speeches are new to the natives.

It is a good thing for the automobile industry in Germany that the kaiser wasn't hurt.

At any rate, Mr. Cunliffe didn't travel, either going or coming, at his own expense.

Mr. Roosevelt is one of those rare combinations who can both talk and act.

Rash Action.

As an example of the false attitude in which the Prohibition party of Washington county has been placed by rash action on a matter of local interest we call attention to one of the resolutions adopted by their county convention last week in which they charged the Republican party with various short-comings and among others declared that "valuations of property have been crowded to the limit." This was unfair, for several reasons. In the first place the valuations are made by 73 local assessors chosen by the people of the district in which they reside and many of the assessors are Democrats, possibly some of them are Prohibitionists. The commissioners merely revise and attempt to equalize valuations and in so doing actually lowered the total of the local assessors by $5,000,000.—Washington Reporter.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Is College Education Really Helpful to Practical Artisans and Workers?

By ERASMUS WILSON.

In times past college education was a sort of fetish which gave college men the call over the commonly educated.

Latin, Greek and the classics were then the star features of college courses and no one was thought to be educated who had not studied them no matter how useless they might prove to be after leaving school.

When the study of languages was first made a star feature of all college courses, a knowledge of them was really necessary, for the reason that standard histories and nearly all classical and literary works were either in Latin or Greek.

And then, only those who were wealthy or who were ambitious to acquire learning were schooled at all.

The common people of those times could not read, consequently had no use for books. And on account of books being few and their cost so great only the more opulent could afford to buy more than a few standard works.

This was well, perhaps, because the few authors were read and reread, and studied, and discussed with a thoroughness unknown in our times. The man of one book was master of it, hence the warning to beware of a man of one book.

As time passed translations of the standard works began to appear and the common people, who had learned to read, bought them sparingly, but read and studied them earnestly and carefully.

However, quality folks and particularly the aristocracy regarded translations as fit for common people only, so it became good form to read in Latin or Greek instead of English, even if they couldn't understand the matter nearly as well. It was largely a fad of the aristocracy.

In these times when books are so plentiful and so cheap and there are so many excellent translations of all classical works, it is a question whether classical courses are profitable.

A study of the Latin and Greek languages is most helpful to English students since our language is so largely derived from them. Beyond this they seem to be of but little practical use. Those who have worried through the classical course know how quickly it was all, or nearly all, forgotten.

How many of those who took such courses in college can read a page of either Latin or Greek today? Only the fewest number have looked into their readers since their return from college, much less have bought books to read in these languages.

It is not surprising, therefore, that colleges have generally adopted the elective system, by which students may elect which, if any, of the dead languages they will study or whether they shall take the practical or the classical courses.

College attendance has increased wonderfully since the adoption of the elective system. This is because the old classical course was not what practical men needed, no matter how well it might be adapted to the wants of those who have the time, the inclination and the means to indulge in classical pursuits.

The fact that a man can read in two or three of the dead languages is not the recommendation it once was. Then it meant that he had been through college and must be a scholar.

What does he know? was the question in those days, while in these it is, What can he do?

Quite a difference, don't you think?

And then we are confronted with the fact that many among our ablest and most successful men have not been college men. These might have been somewhat greater and measurably more successful if they had been college men, but since they were successful without it, it is fair to conclude that it is not really essential to success. This, however, does not argue that it is not or may not be helpful.

Mr. Quiet Observer—In a recent issue of The Gazette I saw an account of an interview between Andrew Carnegie and a reporter. In this interview Mr. Carnegie took it to himself to score college men and college attainments in general.

I am a college man and as such believe I know as much of college men, their principles and general characters as one who has never done more than view colleges and college life from the outside.

Carnegie gives the impression that college men are a petted and coddled set unable to do a man's work wherever they may be put. In the vast majority of cases this is a mistake. The average college boy or man is as willing to put on overalls and go into the shop, or if necessary the ditch, as is any class of young men in America. In fact, they are as a rule, more willing to do these things because they have more ambition than the majority of non-college men.

I think the overseers of the Westinghouse plant will bear me out in this for they hire large numbers of college men both in the shops and offices.

Then he—Carnegie—would have you believe that a college education makes one revert to the so-called "higher criticism" and lose the true spirit of Christianity. Here again Carnegie shows a lack of knowledge of his subject. I have been in college three years and have met more earnest, God-fearing and man-loving young men than I ever met in all my former life.

If Mr. Carnegie were present at the weekly meetings of the Young Men's Christian association he would certainly change his mind on this point.

For the sake of the college man and also those who may have been influenced by those views held by Mr. Carnegie I hope this may escape the basket.

ROBERT GALBREATH, (A Student.)
Westminster College, Pa.

* * *

Mr. Carnegie does not oppose practical education no matter how high it may go. This is shown by the interest he has taken in various institutions devoted to practical education.

That to which Mr. Carnegie takes exceptions is impractical schooling.

It should always be borne in mind that he sharply distinguishes between schooling and education—the bringing out of native talent, and piling on of book knowledge.

If our college friend will take the trouble to read Mr. Carnegie's interview again he may get a different understanding of it. Even if he should not it would be well to bear in mind what he says, for the words of practical, successful men are worth remembering, whether we accept them or not.

THE RIVER OF YOUTH.

From all the golden hills of Dream,
Dew-cool and rainbow kissed,
It twines and curls, a silver stream,
Through valleys hung with mist.

Down past Enchanted Woods to where Romance walks ever young,
Where Kings ride forth to take the air
On steeds with velvet hung—

Where Secret Stairways tempt the bold,
Where Pirate Caves abound,
And many a chest of Spanish gold
May solemnly be found!

Through magic years it twines and creeps
Past towers of peacock blue,
Where still some captured Princess sleeps
And dreams come always true.

Then gleam by gleam the light goes out,
Then darkened, grief by grief,
It sighs into our Sea of Doubt
And Manhood's Unbelief!

BRONX CITIZEN SOLVES RACE SUICIDE PUZZLE

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Hark to the Bronx. Hence comes, as it were, a Rooseveltian prophet from the wilderness. He speaks of homes happy with the prattle of little tongues and of coming generations that will people all the earth. He is Jonas Hering, and he lives at 3502 Park avenue. If his hopes are realized he will have 76 grandchildren. Hering has six daughters and one son and he holds to the opinion that every married couple should be the parents of not less than 10 children.

To further his ambition he has constructed an apartment house adjoining his home where his daughters and his son may live to exemplify the beauties of his doctrines. The cost of the building was $25,000. It has ten apartments, with room for two families on each floor. Mr. Hering's two married daughters will occupy the second floor. The next to embrace matrimony will take the third floor, and so on up.

The alluring prospect of getting a comely bride and a fine apartment to take her to has created a matrimonial furore in that section of the Bronx and a score of young bachelors are ready to step forward as suitors. At the same time the unmarried Hering girls are said to be in no special haste to make alliances. So there promises to be some fine examples of the art of wooing.

Women to Help Elect Jerome.

The women of the city of New York are to be enlisted in the fight for the re-election of William Travers Jerome to the office of district attorney. At a meeting today of the Women's Municipal league it was decided to issue a circular letter, addressed to the women of New York, calling upon them to champion the cause of Mr. Jerome and use all their influence with their husbands, fathers and brothers toward bringing victory to his banner. An appeal for funds is also to be sent out by the league to the women of the city, and nothing is to be left undone in seeking the accomplishment of their purpose.

Stole Money to Give to Man.

Mary E. Golding, confidential cashier for the Larkin Company, who was arrested on October 13, charged with stealing from the firm, was arraigned in special sessions today, and pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny. The plea was accompanied by a written confession in which the girl admitted thefts aggregating more than $2,000. According to the statement, Miss Golding met a man on a street car in April, 1902. She says that several times a week since then she has given the man money in various sums, all stolen from her employers. On one occasion she gave him $300.

Money Asked for Earthquake Victims.

A local committee has issued an appeal for money to help the sufferers from earthquake in Calabria. Despite large contributions from Northern Italy, from King Victor Emmanuel, and the pope, from France and elsewhere, the need for more is urgent, as 50,000 families are homeless and destitute. The money collected will be sent for proper disposition to F. Marion Crawford, who is now in Italy, and who knows thoroughly the stricken districts of Calabria.

Captain Dooley's Latest.

"Women unescorted must stay off the streets of the tenderloin after 10 o'clock at night." That this order was put in force last night in the theater district was disclosed in the Jefferson Market court today when three apparently reputable women were arraigned as disorderly persons and were promptly discharged by Magistrate Mayo, after he had listened with amazement to the statements of the police that they were acting under the orders of Capt. Dooley, in arresting women who ventured upon the streets after 10 p. m. without escorts.

Souvenir Habit Well Developed.

"Yes, I took all those spoons and forks and a lot of cut glass and other stuff but I never meant to steal it. I wanted the things only as souvenirs." Thus did Miss Hilda Austin, a pretty trained nurse, accused of stealing furnishings from the St. Regis hotel, admit her peculations when she waived a hearing today and was held in $1,000 bail. Two trunks, filled with silverware, jewel cases, toilet articles, napery and trinkets and a big barrel of cut glass bowls, dishes and pitchers, all bearing either the marks of well-known hotels or initials of persons for whom, the police allege, the young woman has served as nurse, were found in a storage room leased by her.

Tammany Attacks Hearst Ticket.

Tammany hall today attacked the legality of the entire Hearst Municipal Ownership league ticket and took steps to have all the candidates on the Hearst ticket thrown off the official ballot. Tammany made its protest against the Hearst ticket before the board of elections. They took the ground that many of the signers of the Hearst petition were men who had already participated in the primary elections of either the Democratic or Republican parties and therefore had no right to sign petitions for the nomination of candidates of another party.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

The Union station was the scene of a crowd bent upon curiosity again last evening. Every once in a while a lot of people who are beat upon seeing some one out of pure curiosity, or perhaps through interest in catching a glimpse of some great personage, gather in the lobbies of the station and gaze out through the iron bars almost like hungry animals that have scented something good. The word had got out that Edward G. Cunliffe was expected to arrive in the city early last evening. Several hundred curiosity seekers gathered for a glimpse of the man who has become famous. But they were doomed to disappointment. Cunliffe was given another route into the city, and when the train arrived on which he was expected the people who had hoped to see him saw only a lot of passengers coming through the gates, but not one of them was in charge of an officer. Then the crowd dispersed.

Still undaunted and determined not to be disappointed some of those who had gathered persevered in their vigil and waited until train No. 1 came into the station at 10:45 o'clock. For the word had been passed that Cunliffe's wife was returning to Pittsburgh. Every woman passenger was scanned by these watchers, but as the woman expected was not among the passengers the watchers were again disappointed. Then they went home.

"Want a Call? No, I'm Married."

"What? Do I want a call? Not on your life. I have a wife who gives me the best call that any man could want. She's better than an alarm clock, for when she says 'get up and out,' it's get up and out or there is trouble. O, no, she's not cross about it, but she has done this ever since we've been married and it has been a great help to me more than once."

Such was the expression of a man at the desk of the Seventh Avenue hotel when he was asked whether he wanted to be called in the morning.

Steel Magnate in Pittsburgh.

Charles E. Van Dyke, president of the Van Dyke Steel Company of Jamestown, N. Y., spent a short time in Pittsburgh last evening. He was en route from New York to Detroit, where he will look after contracts for steel structural material. Mr. Van Dyke would not reveal the nature of the contracts, but it was learned from another source that the work is in connection with the immense tunnel that the Michigan Central railroad is to construct under the Detroit river. This tunnel will be similar to the Grand Trunk tunnel and will be much longer than the Pennsylvania railroad tunnels in New York. Much structural steel will be required.

Will Inspect New Bridge.

Col. John E. Stott, George W. Mullen and Vincent Litzenberg of Harrisburg and Henry Sziopka of Philadelphia spent last night at the Hotel Henry and will leave today for Monrovia, Lawrence county, to inspect the new bridge that has just been completed by the Pennsylvania Bridge Company. Col. Stott represents the department of bridge inspection and Mr. Sziopka is chief engineer.

BOOKS and BOOKMEN

BY GEORGE SEIBEL

SOME of the most important books of the fall season made their appearance this week, and among them the two of prime interest are doubtless Capt. Mahan's "Sea Power in Its Relation to the War of 1812," published by Little, Brown & Co., and Mrs. Edith Wharton's "House of Mirth," published by Charles Scribner's Sons. Capt. Mahan has won a world-wide reputation as an authority on naval matters, and his work is sure to command attention everywhere. Mrs. Wharton's novel, running to nearly 600 pages, is the most significant thing she has done since "The Valley of Decision," and aroused much interest while running serially in Scribner's magazine.

But at least half a dozen other new books have appeared during the week to divide attention with these two. "Washington and the West," by Archer Butler Hulbert, published by the Century Company, will interest students of history; "James Russell Lowell," by Ferris Greenslet, published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., is a notable contribution to literary biography; "London Films," by W. D. Howells, published by Harper & Brothers, sums up the novelist's English impressions; "The Torch," by George Edward Woodberry, published by McClure, Phillips & Co., is a collection of masterly literary essays. Among the new books of fiction are "Tales of the Fish Patrol," by Jack London, published by the Macmillan Company; "The Flute of Pan," by John Oliver Hobbes, published by D. Appleton & Co.; and "The Debtor," by Mary E. Wilkins-Freeman, published by Harper & Bros.

TEN TALES BY PHILLPOTTS.

Knock at a Venture. By Eden Phillpotts. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 353 pages. Price, $1.50.

The appearance of a volume of short stories by Eden Phillpotts reminds one that the strongest novel of the year, so far, excepting Hewlett's "Fool Errant," has been this author's "Secret Woman." In that book Mr. Phillpotts showed himself a master worthy to stand beside Hardy, capable of striking the deepest chords of tragedy and of creating comedy characters and scenes almost Shakespearean in their exuberant humor. If you haven't read "The Secret Woman"—which will not be found among the Six Best Sellers—you should read it. If you have read it you will probably read "Knock at a Venture," this sheaf of ten short stories. They do not measure up to the novel's strength, but the artist's sincerity and literary craft distinguish all of them.

Drab is the dominant hue of the horizon in these tales of Dartmoor. The melancholy expanse of the countryside seems to mirror itself in the existence of its people. The tinge of tragedy is over all—gray skies, gray lives. Taine would have seen in these stories the realization of his pet theory as to climatic influences upon literature. The titles of the stories, some of them, breathe this very atmosphere of finality and fatalism. "A Pickaxe and a Spade, a Spade," for example, tells of a dastard who went into the wood to meet his sweetheart and digs her grave while awaiting her coming. And "Mound by the Way," the first and longest of the tales, is about a man who hanged himself with his belt while waiting for his sweetheart.

"Mound by the Way" is the most ambitious effort of the collection. It takes up almost a third of the volume, and gives Mr. Phillpotts more room than the confines of a short story, which requires an impressionistic style and a theatric trick of which he has not the knack. Even here he moves with some constraint. John Aggett is well drawn; so, too, is Sarah Belworthy; so, too, are Gammer Gurney and Farmer Chave, another of Mr. Phillpotts' uncanny harridans and another of his shrewd yeomen. But in Timothy Chave we cannot discern what qualities weaned Sarah's love away from John; Sarah's father, appraising her to young Chave, is too obviously helping the novelist along; and the parson who drops into the pages rather late to persuade John to give over his evil ways, seems to have been called in on purpose. There is also a tendency to let chance, or fate, do much of the novelist's work. A man need only go through a forest to meet the maid the author intends for him; the people are always found at turnstiles, crossroads, blazed trees, and other convenient spots, when occasion arises.

Still it is full of power, this story of a woman's inconstancy kindled by a witch's prophecy. The real tragedy lies in the fact that it is really Sarah's constancy that drives her back and forth from one lover to the other. The irony of best intentions has seldom been more grimly set forth.

The book abounds in graphic delineations of Devon people and scenes. Whether it is the happy lover, who "shouted and danced with the grace of a brown bear," or a kestrel in its flight, "hanging motionless in the air, like a brown star afar off," the picture is made clear as if etched upon the page.

Every one of the ten stories is worth reading for the sincerity of its art. They are not all equal to the first, but the book as a whole is one of the best collections of tales published this year.

THE CROSSING IN HISTORY.

The Louisiana Purchase and the Westward Movement. By Curtis M. Geer. ("The History of North America"—Volume VIII.) Philadelphia: George Barrie & Sons. 500 pages, with many illustrations. Price, $8.00.

Prof. Geer's volume, the eighth in the great 20-volume history edited by Dr. Guy Carleton Lee, covers the same movement that furnished the background of Winston Churchill's novel, "The Crossing." The Louisiana Purchase itself was but one incident in a great drama, a drama as vital in our history as the Doric migration to Hellas, the Hegira to Islam, the "Voelkerwanderung" to Europe. This drama began when the first settler crossed the Alleghanies, the famous Purchase was its climax, and we have just heard the epilogue at the Portland Fair.

Two acts of this drama are especially stirring and full of interest, even in retrospect—the struggle for possession of the Mississippi valley and the Lewis and Clark expedition to the Pacific. And the heroic figure that dominates the stage, as Washington dominated it in revolutionary days and Franklin in colonial, is the Sage of Monticello. So Prof. Geer's volume may very well be judged by the picture it limns of these events and by its appreciation of the character of Thomas Jefferson. In view of our recent territorial acquisitions, another touchstone is furnished by Prof. Geer's attitude on expansion and imperialism, for these same questions were involved in the Louisiana Purchase. Jefferson himself held it to be unconstitutional, while it brought under our flag a population mostly French and Spanish, as difficult to rule as Hawaiians or Filipinos, and as unfamiliar with Anglo-Saxon ideals of democracy.

To say that Prof. Geer measures up to every possible exigency is merely rendering him due appreciation. He has made his narrative far more than an accurate chronicle or an entertaining tale. Beginning with Governor Spottswood's expedition in 1716—taking with it an abundant supply of "Virginia wine, red and white, Irish usquebaugh, brandy, two kinds of rum, champagne, canary, cherry punch and cider"—he has followed up every detail in the epic, without ever letting details obscure the panoramic view. From those "Knights of the Golden Horseshoe," first argonauts of our nation, Prof. Geer traces the expansion of the West until, by the bathos of history, it culminates in the pecking supremacy of Chicago.

Great credit, fully deserved, is given to Col. George Rogers Clark, the first expansionist, who, it will be remembered, was also the real hero of "The Crossing." There are many glimpses of famous pioneers like Kenton, Boone and Shelby, with reproductions of rare portraits. Life on the frontier, its hazards and handships, is depicted vividly. All the economic, political and commercial causes that worked together to make the West indispensable to this nation, and the outlet of the Mississippi indispensable to both east and west, are outlined with commendable clearness. What led up to the sale by Napoleon has rarely been better summarized, though we may well doubt whether Napoleon was swayed by any philanthropic belief that he would be useful to the whole world if he could prevent Great Britain from ruling America as she ruled Asia." The chapters dealing with the character of the early settlers, and with the creation and admission of the various states in the vast Louisiana tract, cover a part and period of our history too much neglected except by local historical societies. Everything conjoins to make this, as Dr. Lee says, "an especially useful volume" of the general work.

Sobriety and clearness characterize Prof. Geer's style, rather than distinction or brilliancy. It is a style well adapted to the work, dignified without heaviness, and compact without obscurity. Dr. Lee is again to be congratulated upon finding the right man for the task.

POETS IN ASSORTED SIZES.

Greatness in Literature. By William P. Trent. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 248 pages. Price, $1.20.

The fundamental question of literary criticism—what constitutes greatness—is the theme of the first essay in Prof. Trent's readable volume. That Homer and Shakespeare and Goethe are great, nearly every one is ready to admit; but why they are great, and why Victor Hugo, Heine and Poe are not so great, will probably remain a profound puzzle to most people even after approving Prof. Trent's categories and digesting his sound reasoning. In the first rank, among the "supreme writers," he places Homer, Sophocles, Virgil, Dante, Shakespeare, Milton, Goethe, Moliere and Cervantes. There are scarcely more than three recent writers who seem to him proper candidates for inclusion in this circle—and they are Scott, Hugo and Balzac. In the second rank, those he calls the "very great writers," he puts such poets as Pindar in Greek, Lucretius in Latin, Petrarch, Tasso and Ariosto in Italian, Chaucer and Spenser in English, Schiller and Heine in German, adding in a codicil Voltaire, Rabelais, Montaigne, Swift and Gibbon. In his third class, the "great writers," he includes Browning, Tennyson, Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley—the devotees of each will demur, no doubt, but what are they going to do about it? They are at liberty to set up classes and ranks of their own. For my part I should take Virgil and Goethe out of the first class, and substitute Schiller and the author of Job, while Dickens, Turgueneff, Lessing, Boccaccio and some others quite overlooked by Prof. Trent, I should place high up in the second rank. And so everyone will build his own pantheon.

In laying down the principle upon which he has based his classification, Prof. Trent is quite orthodox. "The fundamental test," he says, "both for the supreme writers and for the very great writers and for the great writers immediately below them, is excellence of sustained achievement." No one will challenge this criterion, but they may blush for Prof. Trent as he makes this confession:

> When Matthew Arnold wrote that "the future of poetry is immense, because in poetry, where it is worthy of its high destinies, our race, as time goes on, will find an ever surer and surer stay," * * * I could have sworn to his inspiration twenty years ago. Now I am not even certain that I can analyze his sentence correctly.

Prof. Trent might begin on something easy—perhaps one of the interminably articulated serpentine paragraphs of Henry James—and work back to the Primer. Or is he simply trying to be impossible like G. Bernard Shaw?

FUNNIER THAN MRS. WIGGS.

At the Sign of the Jack o' Lantern. By Myrtle Reed. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 353 pages. Price, $1.50.

Extract of Jollity would be an appropriate label for Miss Reed's new book. It is the most amusing thing that has come along since Mrs. Wiggs, the "widow of David Harum," and we are not sure but Miss Reed's story is the more hilarious of the two. It opens with a young couple's return from their honeymoon, to take up housekeeping in an old house left them by Uncle Ebenezer. Their first surprise is at finding endless suites of bedrooms crowded with all sorts and sizes of beds; their second surprise is at the arrival, one after another, of Uncle Ebenezer's relatives, who always came to spend the summer at his house and are determined to keep on doing so, in spite of his having died. A more awesome aggregation of human curios has rarely been seen outside of Dickens. Perhaps the oddest of them all is Mrs. Dodd, who from a septuple experience declares that "marriage is just like finding a new penny on the walk. When you first see it, it's all shiny an' almost like gold, an' it tickles you a'most to pieces to think you're gettin' it, but after you've picked it up you see that what you've got is half wild Indian, or mebbe more—I ain't never been in no mint. You may depend upon it, my dear, there's two sides to all of us, an' before marriage you see the wreath—afterwards a savage." Then she continues:

> "I've had seven of 'em, an' I know. My father give me a cemetery lot for a weddin' present, with a noble gray monumint in it shaped like an octagon—leastways that's what a schoolteacher what boarded with us said it was, but I call it a eight-sided piece. I'm speakin' of my first marriage now, my dear. My father never give me no weddin' present but the once. An' I can't never marry again', cause there's a husband lying now on seven sides of the monumint, an' only one place left for me. I was told once that I could have futher husbands cremationed an' set around the lot in vases, but I don't take to no such heathenish custom as that."

Ghostly visitations and treasure d'gging are among the incidents that keep up the mirth until the young couple finally succeed in ridding themselves of their uninvited guests. A pretty and poetic love story runs through the comedy, and adds the thread of romance and sentiment that always marks Myrtle Reed's books. The "Jack o' Lantern" will light up anybody's heart.

BIOGRAPHICAL STEVENSON.

The Wrong Box. By Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 331 pages. Price, $1.00.

St. Ives. By Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. 328 pages. Price, $1.00.

Complete Poems. By Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. 317 pages. Price, $1.00.

Three more volumes in the Biographical edition of Stevenson! In her introduction Mrs. Stevenson tells how "The Wrong Box" was first written by her son at the age of 19, under the title "A Game of Bluff," and how Stevenson overhauled and rewrote it in a few weeks to "make it go." The preface to "St. Ives" contains a musical composition of Stevenson's, meant to indicate the sounds made by the birds at night. While he was writing "St. Ives," we are told, Stevenson had influenza and a hemorrhage; 15 pages were even slowly and laboriously dictated by means of the deaf-and-dumb alphabet. "Every poem in 'The Child's Garden,'" Mrs. Stevenson says, "was a bit out of his own childhood. He had little understanding of children in general." She also notes, what will surprise many readers of Stevenson, that this famous volume of poems was first entitled "Penny Whistles."

The clean print, handy size and general excellence of this edition, together with the low price, combine to make it an ideal one for every lover of R. L. S., who has not the Thistle or Edinburgh editions.

JOHN MILTON'S ASSISTANT.

Andrew Marvell. By Augustine Birrell. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 241 pages. Price, 75 cents.

Without echoing Mr. Birrell's extravagant adulation of the old politician-poet who sang of the obvious in accents of the commonplace, one many admit that he has put forth a very able plea for the Roundhead rhymester seeking admission to the sacred circle of the English Men of Letters, where Shakespeare is not yet represented, to say nothing of Izaak Walton and others. "No poet is happier than Marvell in creating the impression that he made his verses out of doors," writes Mr. Birrell. "In the whole compass of our poetry there is nothing quite like Marvell's love of garden and woods, of meada and rivers and birds. It is a love not learnt from books, not borrowed from brother-poets. It is not indulged in to prove anything. It is all sheer enjoyment."

Mr. Birrell almost reconciles one to the glib versifier—often "tiresome" and "babyish," he admits. But then Mr. Birrell could reconcile us to almost anything. His Birrellings are so delightful that his theme doesn't matter, whether it be the mighty organ-voice of England or merely Milton's assistant.

TWO GOOD DOGS.

The Reform of Shaun. By Allen French. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 158 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.00.

Two dog stories that will appeal to all dog-lovers are brought together in this volume. The first chapter exhibits Shaun the unregenerate, but toward the end he becomes such a paragon that he indulges in sentimentic like, "A good dog lets only his master feed him." The second story, "Mystic and His Master," is about a dog who "lacked application," but finally saves his young master from a very desperate situation. Both stories are pleasing, but not in the same class with "The Bar Sinister."

TO WARM THE HEART.

The Diary of a Bride. Anonymous. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 162 pages. Price, $1.

Anonymous, bound in pale blue and white, cast in the form of a diary, and printed in ornamental type with decorative border upon tinted paper—this book has every earmark of trashiness, even to the page-number being dislocated and tucked into the most inappropriate corner. But a reading of the book reveals a wealth of tender sentiment that reminds one of James Lane Allen's "Kentucky Cardinal." Life in the little blue pagoda, with interludes of dusting and cooking, is delineated so happily that sympathy and smiles mingle unceasingly. The bride's emotions, hopes, fears, joys and sorrows during the first year of her wedded life are charmingly pictured, in alternations of humor and pathos. It is a book that warms the heart.

A DAUGHTER OF THE GRAPE.

The Abandoned Farm. By Mary J. Holmes. New York: G. W. Dillingham Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 319 pages. Price, $1.

We do not know whether Mrs. Holmes' latest volume should be commended without some reservations. The heroine's name is Sherry, and though we are assured that her father was a clergyman, we fear he was a backslider, else why bestow this bibulous name upon his daughter? True to her appellation, she becomes a waitress in the Mountain House, and discovers that she is the real owner. The ingenious solution, which couldn't have occurred to any one but Mrs. Holmes, is to settle matters by marrying the couple. And she prettily atones for the heroine's vinous praenomen by letting Alex declare that "One Sherry is enough for me."

There is another story in the volume, entitled "Connie's Mistake." This tale is probably intended to counteract the first, for one young man in it goes on a spree with Warner's Safe Cure and the other young man marries the heiress. We respectfully call the attention of Edward Bok and Samuel Hopkins Adams to this case, which they might cite as a horrible example in their campaign against patent medicines.

FUN IN THE WHIZ WAGON.

Auto Fun. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. Illustrated. Price, $1.00.

The owner of an auto will find the joys of that vehicle amusingly exploited in these skits and pictures from "Life." From the directions, one of which is to use, "say, one-half as much cylinder oil on the machinery as you use on yourself," to such pictures as "Why Some Children Didn't Get Their Christmas Presents," which shows that Santa Claus has acquired an auto and is vainly trying to drag it through the snow, the oblong volume is clever and funny. Among the artists represented are Gibson, Kemble, Cushing, Bayard Jones, C. F. Taylor and many others.

CLUBMAN AND CRIMINAL.

McAllister and His Double. By Arthur Train. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 341 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

"Twixt the Tombs and his aristocratic club sums up the experience of "Chubby" McAllister, just because he happened to resemble "Fatty" Welch. In eleven very readable tales, some consequences of this resemblance are exploited to the utmost. It is the situation of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "The Masquerader" transferred to an American police court. Mr. Train is one of the district attorneys of New York city, and knows the devious devices of the criminal classes to a nicety. Not all the stories are confined to these limits, however. Once in London, McAllister develops as much sentiment as he has ayoirdupois, and once again, up in Maine, he becomes a mooning philanthropist. Racily written, full of acute observation, this book is a neat commentary upon the idle life and the life perniciously active.

CURIOUS LORE OF POLITICS.

Handbook of United States Political History. By Malcolm Townsend. Boston: Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co. 441 pages. Price, $1.75.

Mr. Townsend's compilation makes an exceedingly valuable reference book for every student of our history. Not only are our political annals and the growth of our national laws, our territorial expansion and biographical data about the presidents included, besides election statistics and a political vocabulary, but a number of interesting chapters bring together curious facts that would be sought for in vain elsewhere. Such is the chapter on the nicknames of our presidents, that on the presidents as men of letters, that containing the autographs of all the presidents, and several others. Such documents as Washington's Farewell Address, Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, and even the Confederate Constitution are given in full. The Dictionary of Political Parties gives the facts about all coalitions and cabals—if you do not know who the "Absaloms" were, or what the "Woolhats" wanted, here is the place to find out. The volume is a mine of valuable and curious facts.

HURRY CURE FOR ALL ILLS.

Auto-Suggestion. By Herbert A. Parkyn. Chicago: Suggestion Publishing Co. 190 pages. Price, 75 cents.

Auto-suggestion, or self-suggestion, is Mr. Parkyn's panacea for all ills, especially for the blues. He prescribes certain thoughts; for example, "I feel better already for having made up my mind to optimize." Only four thoughts further on, the auto-suggester exclaims, "Oh, I'm so happy and cheerful;" and four thoughts still further he howls, "Hurray, I am free;" which is the quickest recovery from pessimism known. With all its humorous aspects, there is a great fund of truth underlying the book. There is no doubt, for instance, that imagination makes people sick when riding backward, but that abdominal breathing will in a few days cure a disorder of 20 years' standing is transcendental therapeutics with a vengeance. Reason and rubbish are mixed in equal proportion through the little volume.

THINGS THAT ARE EFFETE.

Bound and Free. By Hugh Mann. Boston: Richard G. Badger. 80 pages. Price, 50 cents.

Mr. Mann in his preface disclaims having tried to write actable plays. The rules which govern the technique of the drama he declares to be "effete." Accordingly, discarding those rules, he proceeds in two dramas to do away with other things that have become "effete"—viz., marriage, the family and the home as they exist today. His heroines spout free love with unblushing effrontery. The thing would be nauseating if it were not sublimely absurd. We advise Mr. Mann, whom we suspect to be a woman, to write his next free love dramas around the cases of Victoria Woodhull and Eleanor Aveling, one of whom married a lord in the long run, while the other committed suicide. The fact is that Mr. Mann's doctrine became "effete" with the dawn of civilization, just as his manner of writing dramas became "effete" when playwrights learned their trade.

MAGAZINE NOTES.

The November number of Harper's, besides Mr. Nevinson's further revelations of the iniquities of the African slave-trade, contains the concluding article on Dr. Charcot's antarctic expedition; an article by Howells upon Bath as it now is and as it was in Thackeray's time and earlier; a paper upon animal immortality by a well-known naturalist writing under the pseudonym of "Peter Rabbit;" Ernest Rhys' concluding critical comment on Shakespeare's "King Henry IV.," with Abbey's illustrations; an article on a music-school settlement in New York, by Philip Verrill Mighels, and Dr. H. C. McCook's account of the cow-keeping ants under the title "Insect Herds and Herders." Booth Tarkington's novel, "The Conquest of Canaan," draws toward its conclusion. There is a group of unusually fine short stories, among them a story by Amelie Rives, entitled "The Flittermouse," and others by Thomas A. Janvier, Alice Brown, Marie Manning, Arthur McEwen, Edith MacVane, Albert Kinross, and George T. Weston.

The feature of the American Illustrated Magazine for November is the first installment of a novel by Mary Cholmondeley, called "Prisoners," which promises to surpass in interest the famous "Red Pottage," by the same author. Under the caption, "The Man Behind the Stars," F. E. Fyles tells of Clyde Fitch's power in the theatrical world, as maker of popular actresses. Charles H. Caffin continues his story of American painting, with a treatment of the beginnings of foreign influence; Frederic Taber Cooper has a very readable article on "The Hopeful Tendency in 'Fiction,'" and Miss Agnes C. Laut writes the history of Baranof, the "Little Czar of the North," with characteristic charm. The short stories are by Mrs. L. H. Harris, Arthur Train, Dorothy Canfield, Henry C. Rowland, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Henry A. Shute and Norman H. Crowell.

President Roosevelt's article in the November Scribner's describes "A Wolf Hunt in Oklahoma"—the account of his hunting trip made last April. The installment of the Bancroft "Letters and Diaries," deals with the years 1847-49, when the author was United States minister to Great Britain. "The Tides of Barnegat," Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith's new serial story, begins in this number, and Mrs. Wharton's "House of Mirth," is brought to a conclusion. Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin's article on "The Hope for Labor Unions," presents a statement of the whole question and suggests some remedies.

The November number of the Metropolitan Magazine contains a second installment of Van Tassel Sutphen's novel, "The Doomsman." Among the special articles are "The Making of a Race Horse," by Charles E. Trevathan; "The Evolution of the Carriage," by John R. Meader, and "The New Fifth Avenue," by Burton J. Hendrick. The short stories are by Arthur Heming, E. F. Stearns, Edith S. Barnard, W. A. Fraser and others.

"Fenwick's Career," the new novel by Mrs. Humphry Ward, begins in the November number of the Century. An article on the Panama canal, by William Barclay Parsons, and another on "Recent Discoveries in Egypt," by Theodore M. Davis, are other notable features of this number.

Gentlemen—For four years I have had indigestion in its worst form. I could eat nothing but light food. I got so bad I would have sinking spells. My heart troubled me, and the gas in my stomach after eating was unbearable. Two years ago I began taking Lactonene. I was relieved in three days. I took but two (2) or three boxes and have had no trouble since. Thanks to Lactonene. Very truly,

PITTSBURGH PHARMACAL CO.

Dear Sirs—I have great sympathy for any person suffering with stomach trouble. For several years I had great trouble with my stomach, until I was obliged to give up all active employment. Whatever I ate lay a dead load on my stomach and passed through the bowels in an undigested condition, leaving them so sore that the pressure of my clothes actually hurt them. I tried several physicians; while I got a temporary relief, nothing seemed to fit my case. Dr. Peet advised me to try Lactonene. From the second day after commencing to take Lactonene I could see an improvement. Today I can eat anything I like without fear or trouble. I feel better than I have for years. I heartily recommend Lactonene to all suffering as I did. Very respectfully,
GEO. G. FOSTER.

Madene, P. O., Pa., June 1, 1905.

PITTSBURGH PHARMACAL CO.,

Dear Sirs—My occupation is that of a carpenter. Two years ago I had to give up my work on account of becoming light-headed when going up any distance on a building. After taking one box of Lactonene I resumed my work. I could work on the highest building without affecting my head in the least. Every dose I took was worth one dollar to me. By my recommendation many boxes of Lactonne have been sold, and in every instance a cure was effected. Very truly, WILLIAM ABER.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6, 1905.

Gentlemen—Lactonene is a wonderful remedy. There is nothing like it. Gratefully yours, C. D. WALLACE,
President the Wallace Co.

New Kensington, Pa., June 10, 1905.

PITTSBURGH PHARMACAL CO.,

Gentlemen—I wish to express my thanks for the good I have received from Lactonene. I was so weak and nervous that I had to give up my work; and under the care of a good physician I took a trip to Cambridge Springs. Nothing seemed to help me until a friend gave me a bottle of your Lactonene, and from the first dose I felt better; and in ten days went to work again, and now can eat, sleep and work as well as ever.

Wishing you every success, I am yours respectfully, D. H. WEIR,
New Kensington, Pa.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE IN DIRE STRAITS

President Martin Tells Presbyterian Synod That Institution May Be Disposed Of.

FINE POLITICS IS PLAYED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM JEROME J. NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 20.—"The Pennsylvania College for Women is face to face with a crisis. It is a matter of life or death. Unless we raise $75,000 more within the next 10 weeks the cause for higher education for women will be put back a whole generation, the fruits of 35 years of labor will be lost, and a property in the best residence district of Pittsburgh, worth $500,000, will have to be sold and probably sacrificed."

This statement, made this afternoon by President Samuel A. Martin of the institution, in his report before the Pennsylvania synod of the Presbyterian church which is meeting in the historic First church, created a sensation and resulted ultimately in having the clause referring to the sale of the property and the abandonment of the college stricken from the report and the minutes. Continuing with his address, Dr. Martin said in part:

"The situation is a grave one. We have been continually in debt and can expect no more aid until we can complete an additional $150,000 endowment fund. We have raised nearly $80,000 and unless we can get the balance by January 1 all will be sacrificed, failure will have to be confessed and we will stand with discredit and disgrace before the world."

A motion was made to appoint a committee of five to help raise the money, but this motion was withdrawn when it was announced that a committee was appointed last year by synod for the same purpose. It was then decided to adopt the report seriatim and when the clause relating to the sale of the property in the event of the funds not being raised in 10 weeks was reached the Rev. Henry C. Ferguson moved that this be stricken from the report and minutes and the motion prevailed. Meanwhile some one declared that synod had no right to act because the institution was not under the jurisdiction of the body, but the point was left unconsidered. The question was then asked Dr. Martin what would become of the money realized by the sale of the property if sold and he replied that he would have to get legal advice on that point.

Political Deal Made.

The Rev. Dr. William P. Fulton, pastor of the Ninth church, Philadelphia, was elected moderator during the morning session by a vote of 97 to 71 over the Rev. William Hendrie of Lackawanna presbytery after a political campaign and series of caucuses that would have been a credit to the most astute politicians in a civic campaign.

Last night there were three candidates in the field; the Rev. Dr. Robert L. Stewart of Chester being the third. A series of caucuses was conducted until far into the night in the lecture and Sunday school rooms of the church, and in the various hotels. It seemed to be a close race between Dr. Fulton and Dr. Harsha with Dr. Stewart gaining friends every hour. Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries, almost to a unit, were in favor of the Philadelphian. Suddenly a Pittsburgh commissioner got a happy thought. Why not make a deal? This was the result: Dr. Stewart withdrew; the vote of Chester and other presbyteries went to Dr. Fulton, and Dr. Stewart was elected vice moderator. Dr. Harsha also ran.

The Rev. Dr. John R. Davies of Philadelphia nominated Dr. Fulton and the Rev. Dr. Richard S. Holmes of Philadelphia, formerly pastor of the Shadyside church of Pittsburgh, seconded the nomination. In doing so he urged that Dr. Fulton be elected because "he is one of the few presidents of a life insurance company who has never been accused or convicted of stealing or the misuse of funds."

Is Life Insurance President.

Dr. Fulton is president of "The Presbyterian Ministers' Fund," a full-fledged corporation which has been carrying on a life insurance business with ministers for many years. Probably the greatest vote-getting speech made for Dr. Fulton was that delivered by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton of the Point Breeze church, Pittsburgh. The Rev. Dr. Robert Hunter of Philadelphia was re-elected stated clerk and the Rev. W. A. Jones of the Knoxville church was honored by being appointed assistant.

Pittsburghers appointed on prominent committees were the Revs. W. S. Fulton, J. W. Miller, G. M. McCampbell and Herbert Hezlep and Laymen J. A. Libbey and W. S. Bervey.

In announcing the pulpit appointments for the visiting clergymen for next Sunday much significance was attached to the appointment of the Rev. Dr. W. S. Nevin of Philadelphia to the pulpit of the First church of Wilkinsburg, from which the Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry recently resigned. Other Pittsburgh appointments were the Rev. Dr. Sherman H. Doyle of Philadelphia to the Knoxville church, and the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Ferguson of Philadelphia to the Highland church.

During the afternoon representatives of various causes were heard and in most instances showed the needs of their work for more money. Some interesting, if not startling, statements were made. Dr. Holmes in pleading for Lincoln university, an institution for colored men, declared that the negro problem was not how to make a white man of him, but how to make him what he was intended to be. "God meant him to be black for all eternity, I guess," he declared. "I have nothing against Booker T. Washington's work, but it is not fair that he should take all the money Presbyterian people have to give. The negro came out of slavery a victim. As a class they are immoral. There is no more piety in him than there is in a block. He is like the old whip-top. When you take the lash off of him he wobbles. Lincoln university is helping to make the right sort of men out of them."

Last Shall Be First.

The Rev. Dr. J. B. Rendell read a report on the work of the Western Theological seminary of Allegheny and paid the institution a high tribute. He made reference to the proposed union of the Presbyterian and Cumberland Presbyterian churches and in this connection said: "Some of our people prefer the first movement in unity to be made with the southern church or the United Presbyterian church. It appears, however, that the first step in unity will be with the Cumberland church, which emphasizes that portion of the scripture which says that the first shall be last and the last shall be first."

The Rev. Dr. John Fox spoke for the cause of the American Bible society and told eloquently of its work throughout the world. He declared that he had just written to the mayor of a southern city to refund the society with money paid to cover the fine of one of the society agents who was arrested in his city for selling Bibles on the street. Later he made the announcement that for the first time in 50 years the society found itself in debt and that unless $50,000 was raised by January 1 that "missionary work will be cut right and left." He also announced that an effort was on foot to establish and raise a $5,000,000 fund to be invested for the benefit of the society. A resolution was then passed providing for an annual contribution to the society from each church in the synod.

The Most Godless City.

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young of the Second church, Pittsburgh, then delivered an eloquent plea for "godless Pittsburgh" on behalf of the evangelistic committee and was followed by the Rev. Dr. John Dixon, who spoke for home missions. He declared that there were 2,000,000 men in the American Federation of Labor—more than in the Christian church in America—and urged co-operation with Rome. He pointed to the Pacific coast as the greatest home missionary field at this time and contended that London was the financial center of the world of yesterday; New York the center of today and "San Francisco, the most godless city in the country, is destined to be the world's financial center of tomorrow."

The Rev. Dr. J. S. Dickson in pleading for the college board, claimed that there was an increased demand for Christian leadership and a larger supply than ever before. He paid high tribute to the small Christian college and cited the fact that of the 25 prominent Presbyterian clergymen of the city of Pittsburgh, 24 were educated in small Christian colleges and but one in a university.

The Rev. Dr. Alexander Henry, who spoke on behalf of publication and Sunday school work, referred to the establishment of a Reformed paper in Pittsburgh, which was established by the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries and which nearly caused a rival organization to spring up because of the refusal of the board to furnish the paper and the necessary literature to foreigners in Pittsburgh and vicinity. He did not refer to the incident. The afternoon session closed with an address by David McConaughy on the "Forward Movement in Foreign Missions" and the passing of a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to arrange for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of synod next year.

This evening a public meeting was held which was very largely attended and during which the Rev. Dr. William R. Harshaw spoke on "Sustentation," and the Rev. Dr. A. W. Halsey on "Foreign Missions." Synod will remain in session until Monday noon.

The Death Roll.

William H. Devore.

William H. Devore, the oldest undertaker of this city, died yesterday morning at 3:10 o'clock, at his home, 545 Franklin street, Wilkinsburg, after a long illness of Bright's disease. He had been in the undertaking business for over 40 years and had buried some of the most prominent people of this city during his life. His place of business was at Sixth avenue and Grant street until his retirement about five years ago. Mr. Devore was born in Washington county in 1835, and was a son of Peter and Sarah Foster Devore. He attended the public schools of that county and lived there until he was 19 years old, when he came to Pittsburgh to learn the undertaking business, studying under William Lemment, one of the most prominent undertakers of those days. After Mr. Lemment's retirement Mr. Devore continued the business for some time, when he removed to Sixth avenue, later moving to Grant street. During the Civil war Mr. Devore conducted the funerals of many of the men who fell in battle, and for many years was undertaker for the Pennsylvania railroad. During the railroad riots in this city he had charge of the burial of the dead, and after the great wreck on the lines of the West Penn he had charge of the interment of the bodies of the victims. During his life Mr. Devore was noted as a most regular attendant at Masonic affairs. He was a charter member of the W. H. Devore lodge, I. O. O. F., of Wilkinsburg, the lodge being named for him upon its organization, and was a member of the Duquesne commandery, Knights Templar. He was one of the Masonic pilgrims who toured the European countries in 1871, and had traveled over almost the entire western portion of this state. Mr. Devore is survived by his wife and eight children, the latter being: Edward L., W. H., Jr., Clifford W., Mrs. W. H. Culp, Mrs. J. G. Lloyd, Mrs. C. D. Collins, Mrs. C. P. Linhart and Miss Olive Devore. One sister, Mrs. William Townsend of Findleyville, Washington county, also survives. Funeral services will be held from the family residence, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees, pastor of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church, of which Mr. Devore was a member. The interment will be in Homewood cemetery.

Mrs. Sarah Atkinson.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Sarah Atkinson, aged 64, mother of Dr. H. F. Atkinson of Connellsville, died last night at her home, near Pennsville, half a mile from the place where she was born. She is survived by her husband, George W. Atkinson, and the following sons and daughters: Attorney J. D. Atkinson of Washington, J. S. Atkinson of Williamsport, Dr. H. F. Atkinson of Connellsville, Mrs. P. C. Johnson of Greenwood, Mrs. M. E. Pitts of Scottdale, Mrs. W. H. Thompson of Flushing, O., and Katherine and Mary Atkinson at home. One brother, Jacob Detwiler, of Wadsworth, O., also survives.

Mrs. Mary L. McConeghy.

Mrs. Mary L. McConeghy, aged 70, for years a resident of Homestead, died yesterday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Wall, Eighth avenue. She was the widow of Daniel McConeghy of Coal Valley, who died 30 years ago. Mrs. McConeghy was a resident of Coal Valley for 20 years, and of Homestead 10. She was born in Ireland, but spent her childhood in Scotland. She is survived by five children: Alexander, Coal Center; William, Johnstown; Mrs. Thomas McGeary, Monessen; Mrs. Wall, Homestead, and Sister Emerentia of the Sisters of Mercy, who has been for 27 years connected with Mercy hospital. She was a member of St. Mary Magdalene Roman Catholic church, Homestead.

Daniel C. Neary.

Daniel C. Neary, aged 52, one of the best known saloon keepers of this city, died yesterday morning at his home, 431 Graham street. He was born in Ireland, and came to this country in 1872, settling in Pittsburgh where he engaged in the hotel business. For many years his place of business was in Diamond street, but for over 12 years he has kept a saloon at Fifth avenue and Tunnel street. He was married in 1881 to Miss Elizabeth McEvoy, who, with one daughter, Miss Elizabeth Neary, survives him. Two sisters, Mary and Delia, both in Ireland, also survive. He was a member of the Church of the Epiphany.

John Wilson Croxall.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 20.—John Wilson Croxall, aged 81, died suddenly from heart trouble this morning. Mr. Croxall was the oldest living pottery manufacturer in the city and, with one exception, in the United States. Mr. Croxall was one of the oldest Masons in the state, and was the only living charter member of the Riddle lodge, No. 315, F. and A. M. He was also the oldest Odd Fellow in the city. He is survived by four children.

Obituary Notes.

Former Congressman John Van Voorhis died at his home in Rochester, N. Y., yesterday.

"Cool" Burgess, the well-known minstrel, died in Toronto yesterday of a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Catherine Coyle, aged 82, widow of John Coyle, a former Pittsburgh attorney, died Thursday at the Convent of the Sisters of Mercy, Webster avenue. She is survived by three daughters, two of whom are sisters at the convent.

Mrs. Mary A. Truby, aged 68, widow of Henry Truby, for many years proprietor of the West Penn House, Tarentum, died Thursday at her home in Clark avenue, that place. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Nellie Truby.

Mrs. Lloyd Wheaton, wife of Maj.-Gen. Lloyd Wheaton, died yesterday in Chicago after a month's illness. Mrs. Wheaton was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Mayflower society and the Women's Relief corps, G. A. R. She was 50 years old.

Joseph Faloon, aged 60, a well-known resident of Ben Venue, died early yesterday morning at St. Joseph's hospital. He established the feed store at South Twenty-second and Sarah streets, now being operated as W. W. Faloon & Co. He retired some time ago and the business is now being conducted by his son, William.

CLUB WOMEN HAVE LEFT CAMBRIDGE

DISTRICT NURSING LIVE TOPIC

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Oct. 20.—Cambridge Springs settled down to its normal quiet tonight after the exodus of the Pennsylvania club women. A few remained to spend Sunday at the mountain resort, but the great majority of the 414 women in attendance at the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women left for their homes.

This morning a conference of club presidents and visiting club women was held, presided over by Mrs. Edward W. Biddle of Carlisle. The women from all parts of the state took part in the informal discussions. Civic and philanthropic interests prevailed. The study and care of the birds was advocated by Mrs. George A. Gormly of Sewickley, who made many practical suggestions in interesting the children in the care of the songsters during the summer and the winter instead of neglecting or destroying them. The employment of trained nurses for district nursing was also discussed.

The plan has been under consideration by clubs in different parts of the state for some time. Methods pursued by the club women of Carlisle was explained by Mrs. Biddle, who said that in her home town a trained nurse is secured for $25 a month and lodging. Her work lies among the poor and the families of mechanics and clerks. Those who can pay something for the care they receive do so, half of which goes to the nurse and half to the club fund from which she is paid. The Wilkinsburg Women's club has had something like this under consideration in its effort to organize a joint committee of women's clubs and church societies for philanthropic work.

Civic work was discussed, the care of the streets, the securing of sprinklers and the improvement of vacant lots. During the conference a meeting of the newly-elected board of directors was held. No place was decided upon for the next meeting of the federation, though Bellefonte is talked of, its proximity to the State college making it desirable.

Is Sued by Father-in-Law.

William Eichenlaub, Jr., son of a former examiner in the Allegheny department of charities, but now a hotel-keeper of East street, was arrested last night, and locked up at the North Side police station, on a charge of desertion and non-support, preferred by his father-in-law, Joseph P. Shoemaker, before Alderman David McKelvey.

Skull Is Fractured by Car.

C. F. Boehm of 310 Augusta street, was struck by a Bloomfield car, city bound, last night at 8 o'clock, near Thirteenth street and Penn avenue. His skull was fractured and a gash nine inches long cut in his head. He was removed to Mercy hospital, and at a late hour was still unconscious.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday:

Wm. J. Holmes, Elizabeth E. Cornwall; Alfred H. Meyers, Mary Birch; James Ryder, Geneva Frew, all of Pittsburgh.

Constantine Grimm, Bertha Wilenbracht, Allegheny.

Levi S. Everitt, Caroline Bowen, Mustard.

men's gloves

Gentlemen, we take for the subject of our claim on your attention today the genuinely superior merit of the Gloves we sell at $1.00 and $1.50, but not $2.00—because most of the Two Dollar Gloves are standard makes that sell for the same price the world over.

These $1.00 and $1.50 Gloves are our own conception—made to our orders—we think affording better merit because we've rigidly stipulated a betterness in every particular—better leather, better sewing, better cutting—note that feature, "better cutting"—a vastly important feature of Gloves is the fit.

There are three styles at $1.00—and eight at $1.50.

At $1.50, in addition to our own eight different kinds, we have the famous Fownes and Adler Gloves.

At $2.00 we have the world-noted Dent, Fownes, Trefousse, Lefi and Fisk, Clark & Flagg Gloves in various shades—including Black—and Pearl and White for evening wear.

Note.—We have a generous supply of Gun Metal Gloves which are enjoying quite a lot of favor among dressy men.

men's hats

We never claim for this Hat department a monopoly of all the good styles—but we've always tried to create and circulate industriously the impression that we do have choice styles and sell them at lower prices.

We expect you to come and see us about your new Fall Hat and we'll make it pay you.

Our main feature here is to sell you hats that become you.

Any fancy can be suited—20 different shapes in Stiff Hats, at $3.00.

15 different shapes at $4.00—the difference is noticeable.

Please note that we don't mean that we have three or four shapes with different dimensions, but different style Hats.

Soft Hats, $1.50 to $5.00—all shades.

Sale of selected "seconds"—that is, the very best of the seconds—those that almost defy the detection of an expert—at $1.85.

These are Hats that were made to sell for $3.00 and $4.00—and would have been sold for that had not some inspector with a life time of experience seen s detect in them.

No ordinary individual can find it.

reason he could see for the selection of himself to deliver this welcome was because of the President's well-known fondness for having young men identified with public affairs.

Knew the Spot Well.

Senator Clay then introduced the President, who was enthusiastically greeted as he arose to speak. He said:

"Senator, and you, my friends, whom it is hard for me not to call my neighbors, for I feel as if you were, you can have no idea how much it means to me to come back to Roswell, to the home of my mother and my mother's people, and to see the spot which I already knew so well from what my mother and my aunts told me. It has been exactly as if I were revisiting some old place of my childhood. It has meant very much to me to be introduced by Senator Clay. Senator Clay has been altogether too kind in what he said about me. Now I am going to say nothing whatever but the bare facts about Senator Clay and they amount to this:

"If the average man I had to deal with in public life possessed Senator Clay's firm devotion to what he deems right my task would not be worth mentioning. I have gone to Senator Clay for advice and counsel and help ever since I have been in Washington, just as I went to Senator Cockrell of Missouri while he was in the senate, with the certainty that all I had to do was to convince him that what I wanted done was right—I could not always convince him—but if I did convince him, that was the end of it—he went that way."

Nation's Industrial Success.

Here in this great industrial center, in this city which is a typical southern city, and therefore a typical American city, it is natural to consider certain phases of the many-sided industrial problem which this generation has to solve. In this world of ours it is practically impossible to get success of any kind on a large scale without paying something for it. The exceptions to the rule are too few to warrant our paying heed to them; and as a rule it may be said that something must be paid as an offset for everything we get and for everything we accomplish. This is notably true of our industrial life. The problems which we of America have to face today are very serious, but we will do well to remember that after all they are only part of the price which we have to pay for the triumphs we have won, for the high position to which we have attained.

If we were a backward and stationary country we would not have to face these problems at all; but I think that most of us are agreed that to be backward and stationary would be altogether too heavy a price to pay for the avoidance of the problems in question. There are no labor troubles where there is no work to be done by labor. There are no troubles about corporations where the poverty of the community is such that it is not worth while to form corporations. There is no difficulty in regulating railroads where the resources of a region are so few that it does not pay to build railroads. There are many excellent people who slumber their days over the difficulties that as a nation we now have to face; but their melancholy is not warranted save in a very partial degree, for most of the things of which they complain are the inevitable accompaniments of the growth and greatness of which we are proud.

Now, I do not wish to be misunderstood. I do not for one moment mean to say that there are not many and serious evils with which we have to grapple, or that these are not unhealthy signs in the body social and politic, but I do mean to say that while we must not show a foolish optimism we must no less beware of a mere blind pessimism. There is every reason why we should be vigilant in searching out what is wrong and unflinchingly resolute in striving to remedy it. But at the same time we must not blind ourselves to what has been accomplished for good, and above all we must not lose our heads and become either hysterical or rancorous in grappling with what is bad.

Growth of Corporations.

Take such a question, for instance, as the question, or rather the group of questions, connected with the growth of corporations in this country. This growth has meant, of course, the growth of individual fortunes. Undoubtedly the growth of wealth in this country has had some very unfortunate accompaniments, but it seems to me that much the worst damage that people of wealth can do the rest of us is not any actual physical harm, but the awakening in our breasts of either the mean vice of worshiping mere wealth, and the man of mere wealth, for the wealth's sake, or the equal mean vice of viewing with rancorous envy and hatred the men of wealth merely because they are men of wealth. Envy is, of course, merely a kind of crooked admiration; and we often see the very man who in public is most intemperate in his denunciation of wealth, in his private life most eager to obtain wealth, in no matter what fashion, and at no matter what moral cost.

Undoubtedly there is need of regulation by the government, in the interest of the public, of these great corporations which in modern life have shown themselves to be the most efficient business implements, and which are, therefore, the implements commonly employed by the owners of large fortunes. The corporation is the creature of the state. It should always be held accountable to some sovereign, and this accountability should be real and not sham. Therefore, in my judgment all corporations doing an interstate business, and this means the great majority of the largest corporations, should be held accountable to the federal government, because their accountability should be co-extensive with their field of action. But most certainly we should not strive to prevent or limit corporate activity. We should strive to secure such effective supervision over it, such power of regulation over it, as to enable us to guarantee that its activity will be exercised only in ways beneficial to the public.

The unwisdom of any well-meaning but misguided effort to check corporate activity has been shown in striking fashion in recent years by our experience in the Philippines and in Porto Rico. Our national legislators very properly determined that the islands should not be exploited by adventurers without regard to the interests of the people of the islands themselves. But unfortunately in their zeal to prevent the islands from being improperly exploited they took measures of such severity as to seriously, and in some respects vitally, to hamper and retard the development of the islands. There is nothing that the islands need more than to have their great natural resources developed, and these resources can be developed only by the abundant use of capital, which, of course, will not be put into them unless on terms sufficiently advantageous to offer prospects of good remuneration. We have made the terms not merely hard, but often prohibitory, with the result that American capital goes into foreign countries, like Mexico, and is there used with immense advantage to the country in its development, while it cannot go into our own possessions or be used to develop the lands under our own flag. The chief sufferers by this state of things are the people of the islands themselves.

Reward Should Fit Ability.

It is impossible too strongly to insist upon what ought to be the patent fact that it is not only in the interest of the people of wealth themselves, but in our interest, in the interest of the public as a whole, that they should be treated fairly and justly; that if they show exceptional business ability they should be given exceptional reward for that ability. The tissues of our industrial fabric are interwoven in such complex fashion that what strengthens or weakens part also strengthens or weakens the whole. If we penalize industry we will ourselves in the end have to pay a considerable part of the penalty. If we make conditions such that the men of exceptional ability are able to secure marked benefits by the exercise of that ability, then we shall ourselves benefit somewhat. It is our interest no less than our duty to treat them fairly. On the other hand, it is no less their interest to treat us fairly—by "us" I mean the great body of the people, the men of moderate or small fortunes, the farmers, the wage-workers, the smaller business men and professional men. The man of great means who achieves fortune by crooked methods does wrong to the whole body politic. But he not merely does wrong to, he becomes a source of imminent danger to, other men of great means; for his ill-won success tends to arouse a feeling of resentment, which if it becomes inflamed fails to differentiate between the men of wealth who have done decently and the men of wealth who have not done decently.

The conscience of our people has been deeply shocked by the revelations made of recent years as to the way in which some of the great fortunes have been obtained and used, and there is, I think, in the minds of the people at large a strong feeling that a serious effort must be made to put a stop to the cynical dishonesty and contempt for right which have thus been revealed. I believe that something, and I hope that a good deal, can be done by law to remedy the state of things complained of. But when all that can be has thus been done, there will yet remain much which the law cannot touch, and which must be reached by the force of public opinion. There are men who do not divide actions merely into those that are honest and those that are not, but create a third subdivision—that of law honesty, of the kind of honesty which consists in keeping clear of the penitentiary. It is hard to reach astute men of this type save by making them feel the weight of an honest public indignation. But this indignation, if it is to be effective, must be intelligent. It is, of course, to the great advantage of dishonest men of wealth if they are denounced in terms so overstrained and hysterical as to invite a reaction in their favor. We cannot afford in this country to draw the distinction as between rich man and poor man. The distinction upon which we must insist is the vital, deep-lying, unchangeable distinction between the honest man and the dishonest man, between the man who acts decently and fairly by his neighbor and with a quick sense of his obligations, and the man who acknowledges no internal law save that of his own will and appetite.

Some Noxious Phrases.

Above all we should treat with a peculiarly contemptuous abhorrence the man who in a spirit of sheer cynicism debauches either our business life or our political life. There are men who use the phrase "practical politics" as merely a euphemism for dirty politics, and it is such men who have brought the word "politician" into discredit. There are other men who use the noxious phrase "business is business," as an excuse and justification for every kind of mean and crooked work; and these men make honest Americans hang their heads because of some of the things they do. It is the duty of every honest patriot to rebuke in emphatic fashion alike the politician who does not understand that the only kind of "practical politics" which a nation can with safety tolerate is that kind which we know as clean politics, and that we are as severe in our condemnation of the business trickery which succeeds as of the business trickery which fails. The scoundrel who fails can never by any possibility be as dangerous to the community as the scoundrel who succeeds; and of all the men in the country, the worst citizens, those who should excite in our minds the most contemptuous abhorrence, are the men who have achieved great wealth, or any other form of success, in any save a clean and straightforward manner.

So much for the general subject of industrialism. Now, just a word in reference to one of the great staples of this country, which is peculiarly a staple of the southern states. Of course, I mean cotton. I am glad to see diversifications of industry in the south, the growth of manufactures as well as the growth of agriculture, and the growing growth of diversification of crops in agriculture. Nevertheless, it will always be true that in certain of the southern states cotton will be the basis of the wealth, the mainstay of prosperity in the future as in the past. The cotton crop is of enormous consequence to the entire country. It was the cotton crop of the south that brought $400,000,000 of foreign gold into the United States last year, turning the balance of trade in our favor. The soil and climate of the south are such that she enjoys a practical monopoly in the production of raw cotton. No other clothing material can be accepted as a substitute for cotton. I welcome the action of the planters in forming a cotton association, and every assistance shall be given them that can be given them by the national government. Moreover, we must not forget that the work of the manufacturers in the south supplements the work of the planter. It is an advantage to manufacture the raw material here and sell to the world the finished goods. Under proper methods of distribution it may well be doubted whether there can be such a thing as over-production of cotton. Last year's crop was nearly 14,000,000 bales, and yet the price was sufficiently high to give a handsome profit to the planter. The consumption of cotton increases each year and new uses are found for it.

Chinese Boycott Injurious.

This leads me to a matter of our foreign relations which directly concerns the cotton planter. At present our market for cotton is largely in China. The boycott of our goods in China during the past year was especially injurious to the cotton manufacturers. This government is doing, and will continue to do, all it can to put a stop to the boycott. But there is one measure to be taken toward this end in which I shall need the assistance of the congress. We must insist firmly on our rights; and China must beware of persisting in a course of conduct to which we cannot honorably submit. But we in our turn must recognize our duties exactly as we insist upon our rights. We can not go into the international court of equity unless we go in with clean hands. We cannot expect China to do us justice unless we do China justice. The chief cause in bringing about the boycott of our goods in China was undoubtedly our attitude toward the Chinese who come to this country. This attitude of ours does not justify the action of the Chinese in the boycott, and especially some of the forms which that action has taken. But the fact remains that in the past we have come short of our duty toward the people of China. It is our clear duty, in the interest of our own wage-workers, to forbid all Chinese of the coolie class—that is, laborers, skilled or unskilled—from coming here. The first of all duties is national self-preservation, and the most important step in national self-preservation is to preserve in every way the well-being of the wage-worker. I am convinced that the well-being of our wage-workers demands the exclusion of the Chinese coolies, and it is therefore our duty to exclude them, just as it would be the duty of China to exclude American laboring men if they became in any way a menace to China by entering into her country. The right is reciprocal, and in our last treaty with China it was explicitly recognized as inhering in both nations. But we should not only operate the law with as little harshness as possible, but we should show every courtesy and consideration and every encouragement to all Chinese who are not of the laboring class to come to this country. Every Chinese traveler or student, business man or professional man, should be given the same right of entry to, and the same courteous treatment in, this country as are accorded to the similar traveler, the business man or professional man of any other nation. Our laws and treaties should be so framed as to guarantee to all Chinamen, save of the excepted coolie class, the same right of entry to this country and the same treatment while here as is guaranteed to citizens of any other nation. By executive action, I am as rapidly as possible putting a stop to the abuses which have grown up during many years in the administration of this law. I can do a good deal, and will do a good deal even without the action of the congress; but I cannot do all that should be done unless such action is taken, and that action I most earnestly hope will be taken. It is needed to control more immediately and especially in the interest of the Pacific slope and of the South Atlantic and gulf states; for it is short-sighted indeed for us to permit foreign competitors to drive us from the great markets of China. Moreover, the action I ask is demanded by considerations that are higher than mere interest, for I ask it in the name of what is just and right. America should take the lead in establishing international relations on the same basis of honest and upright dealing which we regard as essential as between man and man.

An Illustrious Grandson.

The luncheon to the President followed the open air speech at the fair grounds. From the speakers' stand the President was taken to the Piedmont club house, attended by a squadron from the Twelfth cavalry, which was his constant guard through the entire day. About 100 guests were seated at the tables, which were profusely decorated with flowers and flags. During the luncheon John Temple Graves, editor of the Atlanta Daily News, addressed the President in a personal welcome, as a man, whom it was a delight to meet aside from his official character. He referred to the President as "Georgia's most illustrious grandson," which the President received with a broad smile. In closing, Col. Graves spoke of the President as a man in "whom the statesman is greater than the politician and the man greater than the president." The allusions brought rounds of cheers, and, as the President rose to reply, he was greeted by the entire gathering standing and waving their napkins.

The President had urged and almost forced Joel Chandler Harris, "Uncle Remus," to join him at the table, seating the author at his right. His references to his friend were a personal tribute of friendship. President Roosevelt said in part:

"Mr. Graves and My Hosts:—It is almost unkind to greet a guest in a speech to which it is impossible that any guest should adequately respond. Gentlemen, surely it must be almost unnecessary for me to say not alone how I have enjoyed today, but deeply touched and moved at your reception of me, at Georgia's reception of its descendant. I told Gov. Terrell I had a kind of ancestral reversionary right to his chair, because the first revolutionary president of Georgia was my great grandfather, Archibald Bulloch, after whom one of my boys is named.

No man could meet with such a reception as you have given me today; no man could see your city; could see your people; could address such an audience as I have addressed and not be a better citizen afterward. It means a great deal to me to meet all of you personally, with all that you gentlemen typify in the world of politics, the world of business and that world of ethical effort which can alone render either business or politics noble.

MISS BOOTH TO SPEAK IN THE BIJOU THEATER

Commander of the Salvation Army Is to Deliver Two Addresses Here Tomorrow.

Commander Miss Booth of the Salvation Army, comes to Pittsburgh today for two services at the Bijou theater tomorrow. Commander Booth will speak at 3 in the afternoon on "The Grand March Past," and at 8 in the evening on Commander Miss Booth.

"The Shepherd." Members of the Army in Pittsburgh and vicinity will turn out in force to greet Commander Booth, and there will be many officers of the Army present from nearby cities. Miss Booth will be accompanied here by many officers high in the councils of the Army. She will arrive in the city at 9 o'clock this morning and will be met at the train by officers of the Army who will escort her to Hotel Lincoln, where her headquarters will be while in the city.

At the North Presbyterian church, Allegheny, a special musical feature will hereafter be observed at the Sunday evening services, beginning tomorrow evening. Among the special numbers on tomorrow evening's service are "There is an Hour of Hallowed Peace," Neidlinger; "The Sinner and the Song," and "Lo, It is I," Shelly Faure. Miss Emma Baumann, the new soprano, will sing a solo.

The Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, will inaugurate a series of five lectures on "The Messages of the Four Gospels." The first of these lectures will be delivered tomorrow evening, when the subject will be "The Origin, Nature and Authority of Our Gospels."

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, will continue his lectures before the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, when his subject will be "A Knight in Armor." There will be special music and the meeting, as usual, will be followed by Bible study conducted by W. K. Jennings.

The Rev. J. H. Johns of Randolph, Wis., will conduct the services at the Welsh Presbyterian church, McDevitt place, Oakland, tomorrow, and on the following Sunday. The services will be in Welsh in the morning and in English in the evening.

W. Hunter Corbett, of Chefoo, China, will address the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries at the quarterly meeting to be held on Wednesday, October 25, at 10:30 a. m., in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue.

The First Swedish Methodist Episcopal church of McKeesport will lay the corner stone of their new church, Jenny Lind and Soles street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The exercises will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. P. A. Kropp. The new church will be erected at a cost of $10,000, and will have a seating capacity of about 600. It will be of buff brick, veneered.

The Volunteers of America, through Col. C. C. Herron, the commander of the Central regiment, have leased the entire building at 220 Anderson street, Allegheny, where a missionary and philanthropic work will be carried on under the leadership of Major Ida B. Corbin, Captain Jennie Morris and Lieutenant Mabel Higgs. It is expected that the room for mission purposes will be open to the public on next Wednesday evening. A provident and industrial department has been added to the work in the East End, and it is the intention of Col. Herron to establish another one in connection with the Allegheny headquarters.

Triplets in a Homestead Family.

Triplets are the latest addition to the family of Patrolman Brown of West Homestead. The children and mother are doing well. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have been married 14 years, and in addition to the triplets they have two pairs of twins, and now have a total of 10 children.

Carnegie's Old Boss Dies.

GALLATIN, TENN., Oct. 20.—Martin Barth died last night at his home here. Mr. Barth in 1848 was chief messenger of the old Atlantic and Ohio Telegraph Company at Pittsburgh, where Andrew Carnegie was given his first employment as a messenger boy.

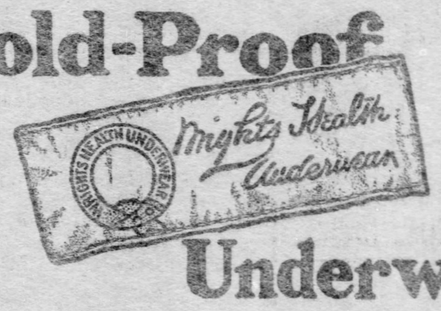
Cold-Proof



Underwear

Wright's Health Underwear differs from common underwear in that it protects the wearer from catching colds. It is made, as no other underwear is, on the wonderful Wright's loop-fleece principle. Upon the foundation fabric is woven a myriad of tiny loops of wool forming a fleecy lining to the garment. This open woven fleece gives the skin the requisite ventilation, allows the pores to breathe, carries off perspiration and allows it to evaporate outside, leaving the skin dry and healthy.

Ordinary catch-cold underwear is tightly woven, non-absorbent, holds the perspiration on the skin—chills the body—gives colds. With its many advantages Wright's Health Underwear costs no more than common underwear. Ask your dealer for it and write for free book "The Loop of Health and the Fleece of Comfort."

PITTSBURGH PAYS GOOD PROFIT IN CUSTOMS

Government Makes Money Here. Some Cities Cost More Than They Make.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Pittsburgh, according to the annual statement of the treasury department, is one of the most profitable customs districts in the country. At the cost of 3½ cents per dollar, there was collected at the Pittsburgh office for the year ending June 30, 1905, $689,562. The entire cost of maintaining the office was $24,299. During the year there were 2,486 merchandise entries.

Erie, on the other hand, was not nearly as profitable to the general government as Pittsburgh. The expenses of maintaining the Erie office were $5,848. As there were collected at this office $25,781, it cost the government 22.7 cents for every dollar which was turned into the treasury from this source.

The West Virginia office made a very poor showing. The receipts of the Wheeling office were $94, with expenses amounting to $624, or $6.67 for every dollar taken in. At Tappahannock, W. Va., the receipts of the government amount to $5.62, while the cost of maintaining the office was $702.75, or $125 for every dollar received.

Beaufort, S. C., according to this statement, was the most expensive luxury of this character maintained by the federal government. Without a cent of receipts, the cost of maintaining the office was $1,400.

TODAY WILL END EXPO'S SEVENTEENTH SEASON

Sousa Has Programs of Special Interest for Both Afternoon and Evening.

The 17th season of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition winds up this evening and will pass into the annals of the society which has managed Pittsburgh's show at the Point, as one of the best of the years.

The closing day is always a big one and with the special Sousa program it is believed that this afternoon and evening will not prove exceptions to the rule. The figures for the total attendance are not as yet made up completely, but it is stated that 500,000 in round numbers is approximately correct.

Last night the Pittsburgh Academy cadets were the Expo guests, and their gray uniforms were in evidence in every part of music hall and in the promenades. The boys made a handsome appearance as they strutted about among the exhibits, and attracted no end of attention.

Today the Pennsylvania lines west are running a special excursion to the Exposition, and several thousand out-of-town visitors are expected in the city.

This afternoon's programs follow:

2 P. M.

DON'T PRAY AT A WINDOW.

Foreigner, Who Did Not Petition in Secret, Gets Shot, and Sues for Damages.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—A suit has been entered against Constable S. H. Crawford of South Union township on behalf of Michael Powvalco of Keister, for $1,000 damages.

Powvalco alleges he was saying his prayers at a second story window and he was shot in the shoulder. Crawford and other officers were arresting some foreigners at Keister. One of the men started to run away, and Crawford fired several shots in an effort to stop him. One of the bullets glanced and struck Powvalco.

COSSACKS PROVOKE A RIOT IN MINOK

MINOK, RUSSIA, Oct. 20.—A meeting of members of the Revolutionary party, held in a Jewish school here yesterday to discuss the candidates for the national assembly, was dispersed by Cossacks and police. Workmen, in retaliation, attacked the Cossacks and in the conflict 100 persons were slightly and 20 severely injured. Demonstrations in the streets continue.

Mr. Taft Starts for Ohio.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Secretary Taft left here tonight for Akron, O., where he is to make a political address tomorrow night. He will return Monday.

TAFT WILL VISIT PANAMA TO FIND OUT FACTS FOR HIMSELF

Will Probably Investigate the Desirability of Employing Chinese Labor in Canal Zone, Against Which Trades Unionism Is Set.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Secretary of War Taft this afternoon announced he was going to the Isthmus of Panama not only to prepare himself to answer questions which might be asked by congress in regard to the progress made in the last year, but also to ascertain certain facts. Among these, no doubt, is the one Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, stated this afternoon in regard to the employment of Chinese coolie labor upon the canal. Mr. Gompers said:

"No sensible American statesman will for a minute be satisfied with the quibble that the canal zone, while under the jurisdiction of the government for the construction of the canal, is not American territory to which the exclusion law applies.

"American labor should never be asked to compete with Chinese. Organized labor will present a solid front against the inauguration of such competition by the government itself."

Col. Clarence J. Edwards, whom the secretary is taking with him on the trip, has made a thorough study of the subject of the efficiency of coolie labor. While the secretary has not yet made that idea his own, it will undoubtedly have its weight on this trip.

Secretary Taft will compile data showing the progress made between this time and a year ago when he visited the canal zone, and this will afford him facts upon which to talk to congressmen who it is understood will have numerous interrogations to make at the coming session of congress.

GREEKS ARE ACCUSED AND HELD FOR COURT

Alderman Toole Hears County Detective Robinson's Charges Against Them.

The Greek colony was made timorous yesterday by Robert G. Robinson, chief county detective, bearing gifts in the shape of charges of extortion, selling liquor illegally, impersonating an officer and keeping a disorderly house. Socrates Xippas says that Robinson played regular wooden horse on the local Spartans, and he accuses Thucydides Charlanos of being the traitor who brought the myrmidons of the law into the keep of the Peloponesian fortress. Charlanos will be ostracised, it is said, from among a strong party of the Hellenes.

The charges against the Greeks were made before Archon Stephen J. Toole, whose areopagus is located at Third avenue and Wood street. Socrates A. Xippas was arraigned on the charge of keeping a disorderly house and selling liquor illegally. It required drachmas to the amount of $500 to keep him out of jail until his case can be called in court. Theodoros Charlanos swore that Xippas' restaurant was in the rear of 122 Fourth avenue, a paradise where he said many phalanges of Greeks forgot all boundary lines, where Athenians and Spartans were as brothers, despite all traditions, and where ancient Pyrrhic dances had been modernized to a scandalous degree, considering the difference in climate. A Greek boy, bearing the classic name of Kelly, said he had bought "cognac wine" there, paying good oboli therefor, and that he saw malt liquor sold "at five centos for a small urnful."

Pausanias and Miltiades Shermandos were also bound over to the court on the charge of selling liquor illegally. Their cookshop is at 217 Third avenue. They went to jail in default of bail. Nicholas Sinodines, accused of selling beer illegally, also went to jail, not being able to secure a bondsman.

Xippas was also held for court on charges of impersonating an officer and extortion. Georgios Lurkas testified that he paid Xippas $13.50, Xippas having told him that he would clear him of a criminal charge made against him, Lurkas said, "some hebdomads ago." Lurkas said that Xippas, as an omnipotent satrap, did not go many parasangs with him.

CLINGS TO HIS PATENT.

Inventor Sons Mixes Things With Street Car, but Manages to Roll to Safety.

Bunches of vari-colored candy, mixed with a derby hat, tin moulds, an umbrella and a man appalled, then convulsed a large crowd of shoppers and theatergoers who had paused, horror-stricken, to see a street car crush a man on Frankstown avenue last night. Ernest L. Sons, who revolutionized the pie-making industry by inventing a machine to turn them out at the rate of 40 a minute, was the victim—almost.

Sons started across Frankstown avenue to get to his store room. He had an umbrella, several boxes of candy and a machine for the manufacture of a new confection. He was talking industriously to a friend and did not notice a rapidly-approaching Frankstown avenue car, outbound. As Sons reached the first rail the front of the car struck him a glancing blow, knocking him down, when he rolled along the city-bound track, still hugging the machine. He rolled clear of the rails just as a Lincoln avenue car, city bound, whizzed past, and spectators drew a free breath and ran to pick him up.

Sons got upon his feet, hunted up the umbrella, put on his hat and went into the store. He was only slightly bruised and was concerned mostly for the welfare of the machine, which to his great delight, was uninjured.

GRAND DUKE VLADIMIR RESIGNS HIS OFFICE

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 20.—Owing largely to the banishment of his eldest son, Grand Duke Cyril, and also on account of failing health, the Grand Duke Vladimir, eldest uncle of Emperor Nicholas, has tendered his resignation as commander of the military district of St. Petersburg, and his resignation has been accepted. He will be succeeded by Lieut.-Gen. Gripenberg.

BEATS WORLD'S RECORD.

Heartherbloom Makes Great High Jump, Walsh Wins Decision Over Stanley.

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 20.—As the closing event of the Norfolk horse show tonight, Howard Willet's Heatherbloom broke the world's record for high jumping, made by himself at Bryn Mawr two years ago. Dick Donnelly rode the animal over a seven-foot ten-inch barrier. This beats the previous achievement, which was made in the open air, by a full inch.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Jimmy Walsh of Newton was given a decision over Peter Stanley of London, England, tonight at the conclusion of a 15-round glove contest before the Douglas Athletic club, Chelsea.

Friar Lands Paid For.

MANILA, Oct. 20.—The question of the friar lands' purchase was practically settled today when the commission paid the Dominican order $3,225,000, which is the last payment.

SKELETON OF CHILD IS FOUND IN EAST END

Is Dressed in White Shroud and Lying in a Silk-Lined Coffin Which Is Placed on Dump.

The skeleton of a child, apparently about three years old, was found in a coffin under a pile of boards in a ravine near Chislet and Jackson streets last night by the police of the East End.

About 7 o'clock Charles Sterni of No. 5032 Dearborn street reported to the East End police that about 10 o'clock yesterday morning he saw a man drive to the ravine at Jackson and Chislet streets, who after unloading a few planks, deposited a small coffin, which he covered up with the balance of the lumber in his spring wagon. Sterni said he intended reporting the matter to the police at once, but had forgotten.

Lieutenant McPoland and several policemen went to the place and removed the lumber. They found the coffin, which was about three feet long and had apparently never been in the ground. Inside was the skeleton of a child dressed in a white shroud. The bones were white and clean and the infant had evidently been dead several years. The interior of the coffin was lined with silk, which, though old, was in a good state of preservation.

Sterni said the driver of the wagon looked like the average expressman, but he said he was too startled to take much notice of the man's appearance.

WHOLE FRATERNITY WILL GO TO FOOTBALL GAME

The meeting here from Thursday to Saturday of next week of the general assembly of the Phi Beta Pi fraternity will be made thoroughly interesting. The headquarters will be at the Hotel Henry, but there will be many outside features. After the first executive meeting Thursday morning there will be an afternoon visit to the Homestead steel works and then an evening theater party. Friday afternoon there will be a tour of Pittsburgh and in the evening a banquet at the Henry. On Saturday afternoon the assembly in a body will attend the W. U. P.-Dickinson football game.

NEW BRAKEMAN MEETS DEATH UNDER WHEELS

William Parker's Career as Railroad Man of Short Duration. Two Commit Suicide.

William Parker, a brakeman on the West Penn railroad, died at 1 p. m. yesterday at the Allegheny General hospital of injuries received a short time before by being struck by the engine of the train on which he was working, near Herrs Island. His right arm was so badly mangled that it had to be amputated at the shoulder, his pelvis was fractured and his body badly cut and bruised. He was unconscious when picked up by the train crew and remained in that condition until his death. He has a brother living somewhere near here, but he had not been found up to a late hour last night. It is not known either where the dead man lived. He was about 23 years old and had only been in the employ of the West Penn road for a short time. The body was removed to the morgue.

Two men committed suicide in this city yesterday. August Hensel of 107 Washington avenue, Mt. Washington, hanged himself, and Henry Schindehutte of 192 Forty-second street, shot himself over the graves of his two children in the Minersville cemetery. It is supposed that Schindehutte shot himself sometime during Thursday night. He was seen to enter the cemetery that afternoon. Yesterday morning the caretaker of the cemetery found him lying across the graves of his daughters with a bullet in his breast and a revolver by his side. His son and daughter were buried 30 years ago. He formerly conducted a shoe store in Butler street and was 60 years old.

Hensel was 52 years old, and had been in poor health for sometime. He conducted a confectionary store and after the place was opened yesterday morning he went to his room and hanged himself from the transom beam in the doorway. His body was discovered by his wife, who summoned Policeman Vourron, who cut it down. Hensel was troubled with rheumatism.

Haley C. Wilson, aged 73, a carpenter of Monongahela City, died at the West Penn hospital last night from injuries received by falling 25 feet from a scaffold yesterday in the Ormsby yards of the P. V. & C. railroad. Two broken ribs penetrated his lungs and his skull was fractured.

The body of Edwin J. Evans, who was killed on the Fort Wayne railroad Thursday, was identified yesterday and removed to his residence, 5 Koerner avenue, Allegheny. He was a veteran of the civil war, having served in Knapp's Battery and was a member of Post 88, G. A. R.

ORDERS POLICE TO FIRE DIRECTLY INTO MOBS

ODESSA, Oct. 20.—The governor today issued an order to the police instructing them that in the event of disturbances they are to fire directly into the mobs without any preliminary volleys in the air. This order it is expected will have a deterrent effect on proposed gatherings for the purpose of disorder.

EMIL PAUR REACHES NEW YORK AND IS GLAD TO GET BACK

Director of Pittsburgh Orchestra Delighted at His Return—He Is Still Unmarried and Waiting for One of This City's Daughters

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Emil Paur, conductor of the Pittsburgh orchestra, arrived here this afternoon on the new Hamburg-American liner, Amerika. Mr. Paur was greeted on his arrival by a party of friends, who came down to quarantine on the revenue cutter.

The genial musician was looking younger and fresher than ever, after a six weeks' stay in Ulrich in the Tyrol. Mr. Paur entered a vigorous denial of the rumors published in New York alleging dissension in the orchestra. He expressed himself delighted at his return to the activities of America and the vigorous musical life of Pittsburgh. He has engaged the 'cellist Brainsen of Holland to take the place of Beyer-Hane, resigned, and has also made many other interesting engagements of soloists, a duty which the committee has placed in his hands.

Emil Paur stated that those who had left the orchestra had, in the majority of instances, left because of his desire to strengthen the institution. He had met Mr. and Mrs. James Park in Europe and had gone on long automobiling trips with them, but Mr. Park has found his $10,000 machine not an unmixed good, as his chauffeur was arrested for having lost his number and because a large tax had to be paid when the machine entered France on its way from Dresden to Paris.

Mr. Paur was asked whether he had not married while he was away. He replied humorously that his devotion to all things of Pittsburgh was so great that he had decided to wait until a Pittsburgh woman should find him acceptable.

CLEARWATER HOLDS DEORO TO ALMOST EVEN SCORE

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—While William Clearwater of Graysburg, Pa., challenger for the title of world's continuous pool champion, tonight held Alfred DeOro of St. Louis to an almost even score in the second block of their 600-ball match, Clearwater has still almost a prohibitive lead to overcome in the final block tomorrow night. The score tonight was: Clearwater 212; DeOro 212. Total score, DeOro, 812; Clearwater, 202. Tonight's high runs were: DeOro, 50; Clearwater, 37.

Father Causes Son's Arrest.

Harry Carlise of Third street, Allegheny, was arrested last night on a charge of embezzlement, preferred by his father, W. W. Carlise. It is alleged he collected a lot of money which he failed to account for. He was locked up in the North Side Central station for a hearing today.

We Sell Trousers Close to Cost

We know so well that most men regard the cost of the second pair of pants needed to finish out the term of service of a business suit as a sort of a tax, that we make the burden as light as possible. That's why we sell such splendid Trousers for $1.98 and duplicate the $4.50 and $5.00 lines elsewhere at our $3 Pants Tables.

Clothing That Will Stand the Wear-Test

MEN'S garments on sale are usually on "dress parade"—spick, span, shapely and clean—looking their very best. Buy one of these Suits or Overcoats, put it on and pull it off 200 times, rub it against chairs, drag it over all sorts of things, soak it with rain, splatter it with mud, spill grease on it and take out the spots with ammonia—go to circuses, horse races, ball games and football matches in it—run, jump and climb ladders with it on—and brush out the dust two or three hundred times with a whisk broom—then just see what it looks like.

IT TAKES JUST SUCH A SIX-MONTHS' SERVICE TEST AS THIS TO PROVE THE STERLING WORTH OF THE CLOTHING WE SELL.

When Ten Dollars Is the Price-Mark

All fine American Woolen Suits and Overcoats, in colors and effects that bear fashion's approval stamp—in styles that say "Autumn, 1905," with tailor-shaped collars, lapels, fronts and shoulders that make a man glad to survey himself in a glass. And all these good points are "staying qualities." A clean saving of $2.50 or $3.

When $15 Is The Price-Mark

$20 Suits at other stores are on the $15 tables here. Woolens that duplicate the finest imported cloths—evidences of expert tailoring in every line and along every seam—hair-cloth and canvas interlinings as honest in quality and as carefully stayed as any feature in sight—linings, trimmings, buttons and buttonholes, everything they should be. Nothing slouched.

At $20 and Beyond

The successful man who wants the highest grade garments at a moderate cost—and wants them right away—can get everything that the best custom tailor can give him in our Suits and Overcoats at $20 to $36—the finest imported woolens and the most skillful hand-tailoring throughout.

Now's the Time of Greatest Enthusiasm In Boys' Clothing

The very air in the boys' department is surcharged with electrical enthusiasm — the salesmen are enthusiastic over the superb stocks—the boys are enthusiastic over the natty styles—and parents are enthusiastic over the modest prices.

$4 and $5 Clothing, 2.90

Splendid Suits for Strenuous Little Lads who think little of how much strain, wear and tear they subject their clothes to, are these garments at 2.90. In Overcoats, from Single or Double-Breasted Long Belted Coats, Tourist Coats, Three-quarter Length, Buster Brown and Military coats. All sizes 2½ to 10.

Others' Best at $7.50 Here for $5

A strong statement, but the Suits and Overcoats are here to back it up. Any style you want—in Suit or Overcoat—in the most stylish and best wearing materials. A $2.50 saving on every garment.

Youths' $10 Suits and $12 Overcoats 7.50 What a chance, this, for the youth of 16 to 20 years. The Suits comprise double-breasted fancy worsteds and the gray and olive checks now in such high favor. The Overcoats include double-breasted tourist styles cut extra full and loose, and extra long coats with the new shaped lapels—in plaids and over-plaids, body lined with serge, sleeves with silk.

Special Pants Counter— Not 75c pants at 48c, but $1 ones for 45c. We bought the materials from a large cloth mill and made a special contract with a pants maker, otherwise even "The Big Store" couldn't sell dollar pants for..... 45c

"You're Not Going to Sell Those Ties for 55c!"

"WE COULD EASILY GET $1.00 OR $1.50 FOR THEM"

SUCH was the exclamation of our chief neckwear salesmen when these swell scarfs came in. Yes! Why shouldn't we sell as cheaply as we bought? Maintaining the regular prices ($1 or $1.50) would make us more money, now, but 55c will make us many customers for the future as well.

Two Shapes to Select From

IRVING'S REMAINS REPOSE AT WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Impressive Ceremonies Attend the Burial of Sir Henry—Distinguished Britons and Americans Pay Tribute to the Dead Actor.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Beside that other great actor, Garrick, and under the shadow of the statue of Shakespeare, as the interpreter of whose plays he won fame, the ashes of Sir Henry Irving were today given burial in Westminster abbey, thus being accorded England's greatest tribute to her dead. The services, which were of an impressive character, were conducted in the presence of a congregation which included many from the highest official life of England, eminent representatives of all the walks of life and all the representatives of that gallery to which Irving was so invariably attentive, who could find standing room in the abbey.

King Edward was represented by Gen. Sir Dighton Probyn, Keeper of the privy purse, and the prince of Wales was represented by Lieut.-Col. William H. P. Carrington, comptroller of the prince's household, while the cabinet ministers and ambassadors attended in person. Whitelaw Reid who is visiting in Scotland, coming to London purposely to testify America's regard for the dead tragedian.

The only mourners were Lady Irving and the sons of Sir Henry Irving. A few intimate friends and the pallbearers, Sir Squire Bancroft, the earl of Aberdeen, Lord Tennyson, Lord Burnham, Sir Alexander Muir-Mackenzie, Beerbohm Tree, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, Sir James Dewar, Arthur Wing Pinero, Mr. Burdett-Coutts, M. P.; Sir Charles Wyndham, John Hare, George Alexander and J. Forbes Robertson, followed the casket to the grave in the narrow space surrounding which are the tombs and statues of many of England's great men of letters.

Of the mass of floral pieces sent by friends and admirers of Irving, but four had places during the service. One of these was a cross of lilies from Queen Alexandra bearing the words: "To Sir Henry Irving from the Queen—Into Thy Hands, O Lord, Into Thy Hands."

That the death of Irving is considered a national loss is shown by the universal mourning throughout London. Scores of thousands of persons stood in the streets for hours around the abbey as the only means of paying a last tribute, while for those who were unable to get into Westminster abbey services were held in several churches of the city. The flags on many of the public buildings, including the American embassy and consulate, were at half-mast and hundreds wore crepe bands and black ties.

Upon his arrival in London from Scotland this morning Ambassador Reid sent the family of Sir Henry Irving a message conveying his personal regard of Sir Henry and sincere condolences in behalf of the American nation.

DISPARAGE DEAD ACTOR.

London Weeklies Deplore Fact That Irving Was Permitted to Be Buried in Westminster.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Many of the weekly publications, including the Spectator, the Saturday Review and the Outlook, have articles expressing regret that the dean of Westminster should have sanctioned the interment in Westminster abbey of the ashes of Sir Henry Irving, and denying to Irving greatness as an actor in the sense that Garrick was great.

They argue that space in the abbey has become so limited that none but the nation's greatest should be interred there, and that it is impossible to regard Irving in that category.

PUGILIST AND POLICEMAN FURNISH BIG EXCITEMENT

THE COP FIRES FOUR SHOTS

An Italian youth, known in local pugilistic circles as "Bananas," and a man in civilian clothes, who was said to be Jesse McNulty, a police officer, and who had a large revolver, furnished considerable excitement at a football game between the East Liberty academy and Swissvale High school elevens at the Swissvale ball park yesterday afternoon. Four shots fired in succession by the officer, after a fight in the street, caused the excitement.

"Bananas" was assisting in keeping back the army of small boys who persisted in crowding on the playing field. Apparently he was not offensive to anyone but McNulty, who once grabbed the fighter and warned him to stay back of the line. A few minutes later they were out in the street mixed up in a fight. Honors were even for awhile, but "Bananas" got in an uppercut on his larger opponent, sending him rolling to the sidewalk. The cop was up and went after "Bananas" again. After a clinch "Bananas" broke away and fled up the street with McNulty in pursuit.

McNulty fired four times in the air, but it only served to increase "Bananas'" speed. "Bananas" cut across an open lot and up the street car line in the direction of Rankin. McNulty kept in pursuit, and boarded a street car. "Bananas," however, escaped.

After the excitement had subsided the game proceeded. The contesting teams were even in weight, and it was an even game throughout. East Liberty having a slight shade the better. Neither side scored.

Pack Carter started to referee, but early in the game Swissvale had the playing stopped while another referee was secured, Carter being objected to because it was learned he coaches East Liberty and his brother is captain of that team. Pack Carter graduated at Princeton last spring and is now studying law in Pittsburgh. Joe Holliday of Edgewood finished the game in Carter's stead.

Charlie Carter, the captain, and Jones, left half, were easily the stars for East Liberty. At the end of the first half East Liberty had the ball on the Swissvale three-yard line, Swissvale played a strong defense game. The lineup:

East Liberty--0.		Swissvale--0.
Robinson	L.E.	McWhinney
Carter	L.T.	Miller
Suecop	L.G.	Damner
Wainwright	C.	McCook
Rugh	R.G.	McAllister
Campbell	R.T.	H. Clappe
Ritchey	R.E.	Peters
Young	Q.B.	Hopkins
Jones	L.H.	Crano
Nuttall	R.H.	W. Clappe
Grafton	F.B.	Armon

Referee--F. Carter and Holliday. Umpire--McConnell. Timers--Lang, East Liberty, and Harlow, Edgewood High school. Linesman--McMurray, Wilkinsburg High school. Twenty-minute halves.

PITTSBURGH H. S. LOSES.

H. Replogle of Johnstown Runs Forty-Five Yards for Only Touchdown of Game.

The Johnstown High school eleven outweighed the Pittsburgh High school team yesterday at Friendship park and won a warmly contested game 6 to 0. Replogle, of Johnstown, ran 45 yards for the only touchdown. This, too, was the only large run of the game, and it came early after the kickoff.

"Johnstown's largest gains were through the Pittsburgh line, which was too light for Johnstown's heavy men. A great deal of credit for High school's good showing must be given to Scott Batt. Johnstown was unable to gain anything around his end and was twice forced back for losses. Johnstown tried a trick play in the first half, but Scott got through and spoiled it, forcing them to lose at least five yards.

Large runs were scarce on account of the heavy condition of the field. Pittsburgh made first down but once in the first half, but in the second half it took a brace and carried the ball to Johnstown's 15-yard line.

Both sides were penalized several times for offside plays. In the second half Johnstown was penalized on account of the quarterback taking the ball and not cutting out five yards. At one stage in the second half Pittsburgh had 10 yards to gain on third down, and prepared to kick. Orr fully intended to kick, but the ball was passed low, and the Johnstown line was on him before he could do so. He immediately took a chance at running the ball and made the required 10 yards.

This game will make the Shadyside-High school game more interesting, as Johnstown defeated Shadyside 10 to 8. Lineup:

Pittsburgh--0.		Johnstown--6.
Clarke	L.E.	Ashton
Dunn	L.T.	Cooper
Griffith	L.G.	Frank
Patterson	C.	Nokes
Leff (Bisley)	R.G.	Leaventry
Williams	R.T.	Ashcon
Woodside	R.E.	Lindsay
Haggerty (Watterson)	Q.B.	Barnett
Worrell	L.H.	H. Replogle
Dornberger (Orr)	F.B.	Suppes

High School Wins Again.

WAYNESBURG, PA., Oct. 20.--(Special.)--The High school football team defeated the college team here today, 12 to 0. This is the second game between the college and High school, the result being two shutouts in favor of the latter. Lineup:

Bromley	R.H.	Dayley
Mosca	F.B.	Baine

Touchdowns--Zahniser, Mosca. Goals--Zahniser 2. Substitutions--W. H. S.: Church for Phillips, Phillips for Bromley, W. C. Ray for Dinsmore, Dinsmore for Ray, Travis for Perry, Thompson for Travis. Call for Cross, Ray for Baine, Hoover for Ray, Davidson for Braden. Time of halves--20 and 15 minutes. Officials--Barbe, Scott, Ely, Church.

Allegheny and Sewickley Tie.

The Allegheny High school and the Sewickley High school played a 0-0 game at Sewickley yesterday afternoon. The teams were evenly matched as to weight and ability. The stars for Sewickley were Sparr, Hegnar and Jackson. Buka and Mocrison did fine work for Allegheny. The lineup:

Sewickley--0.		Allegheny--0.
Sparr	L.E.	Ely
Hegnar	L.T.	Campbell
Kenna	L.G.	Augenbach
Ball	C.	Young
Craig	R.G.	Harter

VILLA NOVA MEETS LYCEUM TEAM TODAY

What promises to be one of the best gridiron contests of the season will be the Villa Nova-Lyceum game this afternoon on the Pittsburgh college grounds. It is the first appearance in Pittsburgh of this crack eastern college eleven. Besides playing Georgetown it has played Lehigh, Bucknell and Princeton. Lyceum is suffering somewhat from the recent W. and J. and Todelo games, but the few hours remaining will see them all rounded into good form. After the game the alumni of Villa Nova living in and about Pittsburgh will give a banquet in honor of their alma mater football squad.

Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 20.--(Special.)--In rain and sliding over slippery ground the Yale elevens had their only open practice of the week this afternoon. A hard scrimmage of about 35 minutes showed fast play in which the varsity scored a touchdown in quick fashion by line bucking and end runs. But the college team when given the ball was able to break the varsity's defense for 25 yards gain on short rushes before the regulars could stem the attack. Upon taking the ball again the varsity offense proved overpowering and a second touchdown was made.

Vance McCormick, ex-mayor of Harrisburg, Pa., and former captain, will join the coaches for a few days' work and also former Capt. "Brink" Thorne.

Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Oct. 20.--(Special.)--A long artillery drill prevented the midshipmen from getting more than a half hour's practice this afternoon previous to the game with the University of North Carolina tomorrow. However, the Navy stars are in fine shape with the exception of Capt. Howard, who is still out of the game with a strained shoulder and expects to keep up their winning streak. Decker has been showing up finely at quarter and will be given a chance tomorrow. He is faster than Norton and is of more use in carrying the ball. Norton is an accurate drop kicker and the fight between the two for the position will be interesting. Douglas and Doherty at halves and Chormley at full will start the game tomorrow and make up a very strong back field.

Ohio Northern.

Westminster.

MEADVILLE, PA., Oct. 20.--(Special.)--As was expected Allegheny's crippled team was no match for Westminster, but the men are not disheartened by the rather large score run up against them. Coach Rickey has had the men out every night lined up against the pick of the scrubs and local High school team. It is claimed here that the signals were known to the Westminster team, so secret practice will be held hereafter several nights a week. All the men with the exception of Aiken and Stidger seem to be in good shape, and it is hoped that W. and J. will be given a hard fight here tomorrow.

Grove City.

Regardless of rain and a heavy field, the varsity team has been put through some hard practice for the past two days by Coach Hamilton. There was light signal practice only today in view of tomorrow's game with Franklin. Fullback Baldwin reported for duty again today. He may not enter the game tomorrow, but will be in line for the game with Westminster at New Castle on October 28. This game is attracting much attention in the town and among the students. Special trains will be run from all intermediate points. Slippery Rock State normal meets the varsity here on Monday.

Slippery Rock.

The evolution of the Slippery Rock Normal team from a bunch of green inexperienced scrubs into a working, thinking eleven, has caused great enthusiasm in the school, which has never been represented in football. The showing against the strong Westminster college team on Thursday showed a 50 per cent increase in strength and playing ability over the work of a week ago. The Westminster boys were taken aback by the fierceness of Normal's attack and the Normal's backs repeatedly made first down on bucks through the visitors' seasoned line. Normal expects to give Grove City the tussle of their lives at Grove City next Monday.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.--(Special.)--The Tigers were handed cautiously today and by reason of tomorrow's discussion with Lafayette, the work was very light. The condition of the field caused the practice to be put off for some time and about 3:30 o'clock the college paraded down to watch the practice in a body. There was only a little regular playing, and the work was confined chiefly to signal drills and formation plays. The Tigers are keeping a very sharp eye on Lafayette and a sharp struggle is expected. In fact, it will be the first game of the season which will in any degree test the capacity of the team. It was feared for a time that with so many on the hospital list the team would be in a very impoverished condition and as a matter of fact the condition of the men is not what it should be.

AMONG THE KICKERS.

The Riverside High school wants a game with any 60-pound team for today. Call 18 McKees Rocks. Ask for Davis.

The Esplen Tigers would like to arrange a game for Sunday, October 22, with any good 80-pound team. Address P. Duffy, P. O. Box 574, Sheridenville.

Football will be plentiful and first class in Sewickley today. At 3:30 o'clock the Y. M. C. A. team will play the heavy New Castle Athletics. At 2:30 o'clock the Y. M. C. A. Reserves will play the Bellevue Y. M. C. A. first team, and in the morning the Y. M. C. A. Juniors will meet the Avalon Juniors.

On account of Blue Bell cancellation the Browns are without a game today. Call up 194 Cedar and ask for Daniels.

The Colosleum Juniors have today open for any 60-pound team. Call 3605 J. Brady.

Dr. Farrar is a former University of Pennsylvania tackle and rower. He came to Pittsburgh to play on the D. C. and A. C. eleven. He is practicing dentistry in the Bessemer building. Dr. Martin is a former W. U. P. tackle and captain. They officiate occasionally in local games.

RED FIRE AT WILMERDING

CLEAN SWEEP BY THE UNGERS

With a parade, in which a brass band marched and played prominent parts, the bowling season in Wilmerding was opened last night. Burgess R. J. Pounds rolled the first ball amid the greatest enthusiasm. After the match a banquet was tendered the bowlers of the Wilmerding and Colonial teams by Mine Host Kunkel of the Hotel Schenley. Members of the city council were present and everybody enjoyed himself right royally. The Colonial team, the league member from Turtle Creek, won two out of three games. The Colonials made the highest scores of the match in the first game and Wilmerding made the lowest. The players of both teams were greatly and no wonder, considering the excitement prevailing. R. Stewart, of the Colonials made a high score of 134. There were two scores under 100, but not much attention should be called to this fact. The boys had a good time and will no doubt later come to the front nobly. Scores:

Colonials—				Wilmerding—

Two new teams of the Pittsburgh section of the Allegheny County league met in their first contest of the season on the Wylie avenue alleys last night. The Ungers won all three games from the Carricks. On the Carrick team were all new faces to the bowling fraternity, but the Ungers presented some old and familiar names. Walter Wickel, who has been bowling since he was an infant, was the star of the evening. He made a record that is seldom equaled by rolling three consecutive scores of 176. This has only happened once before in the County league, and that was by Clark DeVore, last year on the Troy Hill alleys, when he made three consecutive scores of 170. His score last night was made by the Mifleet of the Ungers. For the Carricks the best bowling was done by Ahlborn. Scores:

Ungers—				Carrick—

The members of the Arcade team of McKeesport of the Monongahela section of the County league are: W. J. Sowden, captain; Robert Heil, William Walker, John Freeman, Fred Opperman, A. J. Ware, Fred Iverson, George H. Gross, Henry Myers, H. C. Bryate and Tommy Garbett.

The Troy Hill team is making preparations for its masquerade ball on October 31. Bowling will be one of the features--bowling up.

The McKeesport Cyclers of the Monongahela section is made up of the following members: H. H. Sprout, captain; F. J. Knoll, William Dunstin, J. A. Kalbaugh, Martin Baker, William Williams, E. E. Gannon, L. Chaney, Edward Foster, C. T. Kalbaugh, R. W. McCoy.

The make-up of the Sharpsburg team of the Allegheny section of the County league is: Elmer Moreland, George E. Bock, Harry Clouse, F. P. Parr, Joseph Schreck, William Pringle, Howard Book, H. Hunter, W. Tibby, Willson and Cunningham.

Last night on the Penn avenue alleys the Liberty league found itself proud when the Shadyside and Centrals met. The Shadysides won two out of three games and in doing so had to put up two magnificent 900 scores, in fact, they were going some when they made an average of 907 for the three games. Besselman was the king bee, having high score of 213 and the fine average of 204 2-3. Behold was there with the goods, as was also Phillippe and Grimm. Brennan and Krower of the Central were there with the goods also. Score:

REGAINS POPULARITY, SO SAYS TIMOTHY HURST

Tim Hurst, the noted umpire and referee, is in Pittsburgh in the interest of the original and only genuine Britt-Nelson fight pictures. Tim came from Philadelphia, where he saw the McGovern-Murphy battle. Said he: "It looks to me as if Terry McGovern is on the road to popularity and prosperity again. The reports from the ringside that Terry is still there with the punch are correct. He landed a right wallop on Murphy's jaw which would have brought down a stronger boy than Murphy. When I saw the blow find lodging on Tommy's face I knew instantly that it was all day for him. Murphy looked like he might put up a very stiff fight when the first round opened, and made a half dozen exchanges with Terry and honors were even. But Murphy made the mistake of his life in holding McGovern's punching ability too cheap. Tommy should have used a little more judgment, in my opinion, and backed away from Terry, who let go right and left with terrific force. Murphy did get away from two or three blows directed at his jaw, but Terry finally reached him and it was all off after the Terrible planted his first hard wallop.

"It wouldn't surprise me if McGovern and Nelson would meet in the ring before next spring. Sam Harris, who brought Terry to the front, was at the ringside, and after the bout he said that Terry would make things warm for any one near his class. I see Nelson is willing to meet him, and I would be surprised if they are matched."

AMONG THE BOXERS.

An attempt will be made to hold 20-round contests at Youngstown this winter under the management of Joseph Wess, of Avon Point. The first bout will be between Corkey Ash, of Wisconsin, and Tommy Love, of Philadelphia, for a 20-round go on October 30.

A dispatch from Sharon, Pa., says that the 12-round bout between Jimmy Dunn, of New Castle, and Jimmy Murphy, who was defeated by Terry McGovern, has been declared off. Young Erne, of Philadelphia, has taken Murphy's place and the match will take place at South Sharon, October 30.

Manager Mason returned from Philadelphia yesterday, where he went to see the McGovern-Murphy fight. The latter was to have fought Jimmy Dunn at South Sharon on October 30, but on account of his getting beat in such short order, the club has secured Young Erne, who beat Abe Attel and who is to meet Young Corbett next Wednesday night. Dunn will come here today to start training for the contest.

Dan Monohan, of Millvale, has just returned from Philadelphia where he fought some of the best lads. He would like to get another match with Kid Tyler, who defeated him last fall.

Eddie Prince, known as Kid Nelson, is open to meet any 135-pound lad for any number of rounds. Young Britt, of Pittsburgh, preferred.

Ostrich Sells for $6,500.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.--At a sale of horses in training, the property of various owners, held at Jamaica track today, Ostrich, a stake winner, was sold to Thomas Sexton for $6,500 top price. He is a bay horse, four, by Order Plumage.

Intercollegiate Tournament Has Narrowed Down to Robert Abbott and Ellis Knowles.

FINALS TODAY AT 36 HOLES

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Oct. 20.--Two Yale university golfers will meet tomorrow in the final round at 36 holes match play for the individual championship of the Intercollegiate Golf association. The two representatives of the Connecticut university who have outlived all the other contestants are Robert Abbott and Ellis Knowles.

In the semi-final round today Abbott defeated the clever Harvard man, Percy Gilbert, by 4 up and 3 to play, their cards reading 87 and 89 respectively.

Ellis Knowles of Yale exceeded all his previous efforts in his semi-final match with Mason E. Phelps, a brother collegian from New Haven, by going out in 35 and getting home in 42, winning from Phelps by a medal play score of 77 to 80. This 77 equals the fine performance made by Howard J. Gee of Princeton in the qualifying round yesterday.

Knowles	4	2	3	4	5	4	4	4	4--35
Phelps	4	4	4	6	4	5	5	4	4--39
Knowles	5	4	5	7	4	6	5	5	3--42--77
Phelps	5	5	4	5	4	6	5	5	3--41--80

The semi-finals for the Club championship and the president's cup offered by C. W. Dahlinger, played yesterday afternoon on the Brighton Country club links, resulted as follows: J. H. Davidson defeated Dr. Roy C. Cooper, 3 and 2; R. L. James beat George Stewart, 5 and 3. The final round between James and Davidson will be played today.

W. U. P. IS READY FOR CORNELL ELEVEN

GENEVA, N. Y., Oct. 20.--(Special.)--The W. U. P. party arrived here at 11 a. m., en route for Ithaca. The football men are all doing well with the exception of Zug and Edgar. Zug still uses a cane. Edgar, who has not been well lately and is not improved by travel, but will likely be all right after a night's rest. The eleven had a final signal practice this afternoon on the Hobart College Athletic field and showed satisfactory steadiness and precision. The party left for Ithaca at 7:59 this evening, the change in plan being the result of the coaches' decision that the men would be fresher for Saturday's game were the night spent in Ithaca.

There is some little hitch in the arrangements of officials for the game, Okeson of Lehigh has been agreed upon as referee, but the selection for umpire has not yet been announced. In regard to tomorrow's result, the W. U. P. supporters are confident to the extent of cash support, but have little to say in regard to the probable proportions of the score in either direction.

The students of the different W. U. P. departments are to assemble at the Union depot at 7:30 tonight with red dye, horns and cowbells and will parade the principal downtown streets and proceed to the Exposition in a body.

SPLIT HEATS THE ORDER AT THE CANAL DOVER RACES

CANAL DOVER, O., Oct. 20.--Cold and threatening weather kept many people away from the races at the Tuscarawas county fair this afternoon. Four races were on the program, all of which were finished. The 2:40 pace and the 2:27 trot, which were left over from Wednesday, were raced today, the former going five heats and the latter six. LATEST NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

NEW LEECHBURG CHURCH LEFT WITHOUT THE FOLD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 20.—At noon today the 63rd annual session of the Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church came to an end. It was unanimously decided to accept the invitation of Trinity church, Allegheny, to meet there next October.

The most exciting feature of the synod was the discussion of the application of Grace Lutheran church of Leechburg for admission to the synod. Leechburg has a population of 2,500. There are now at that place three Lutheran churches. At the time of the erection of the Grace edifice there was opposition by two other churches on the grounds that the size of the town did not warrant another Lutheran church. It was decided not to admit the church to the synod for the principal reason that in years past the "congregation revolted against the advice of the synod."

The committee on apportionment reported the apportionment for the year based on the per capita as follows: General synod 2 cents; synodical treasury 7 cents; home missions 28 cents; foreign missions 25 cents; church extension 20 cents; board of education 12 cents; pastors' fund 7 cents; Tressler Orphans' Home 7½ cents; deaconess home at Baltimore 7 cents; home for the aged at Washington, D. C., 5 cents; missionary president 10 cents; ministerial education 7 cents; total $1.57½.

The recommendation of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society which met at Butler last week that the Young Peoples' societies of the Pittsburgh synod establish a mission to be known as the Young Peoples' mission, was adopted.

"BLACK HAND" WILL FIGHT.

Alleged Members of the Italian Society Secure Writ of Habeas Corpus.

KITTANNING, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Counsel for Tony Deross, James Angaletta and the other members of the alleged "Black Hand" gang of Kaylor, this county, have been granted a writ of habeas corpus for their clients and the case will be heard by Judge Patton next Wednesday.

The prisoners, who are in jail without bail, contend that they not only were committed without a hearing, but that a hearing has been denied them.

Will Arbitrate on Rates.

ALLIANCE, O., Oct. 20.—As arbitrators to fix rates for electric and gas lighting the city council tonight selected the Hon. Silas J. Williams and the Alliance Gas and Electric Company selected Robert Lindsay, general superintendent of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company. They will choose a third. The city and the electric light company have been involved in litigation for several years over the question of rates.

Pittsburgh Nurse a Delegate.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The third annual convention of the Graduate Nurses association of Pennsylvania closed here this afternoon, when the convention decided to meet next fall at Altoona. It was decided to affiliate with the National Nurses' Alumni association, and Miss Giles, of the Homeopathic hospital of Pittsburgh, was elected a delegate to the convention of that body.

Head-On Collision at Bluestone.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Bluestone ballast train bound for Philason, and a westbound freight train collided head-on this morning at Bluestone. Engineer McClelland of the westbound freight was injured internally. The other trainmen escaped injury. Both locomotives and one car of each train were derailed.

DEATH AND INJURIES FOLLOW MANY ACCIDENTS

Chapter of Mishaps, Some Fatal, and and All Serious, Which Befall Folks Near Home.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

READING, Oct. 20.—A car on the Womelsdorf electric railroad ran over and killed a woman near Wernersville late last night. Today she was identified as Mrs. Joseph Renk, wife of a farmer residing in the neighborhood. She slipped and fell directly in front of the car.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—Harry Beeman, a painter, fell this afternoon 25 feet from a roof and was internally injured. He is at the hospital.

GRAFTON, W. VA.—The boiler of the saw mill operated by Clinton Sturns at Millersville, W. Va., exploded killing Jacob Frye, the fireman.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—William J. Thompson, a well-known real estate dealer, was run down and probably fatally injured by a wagon today.

KENT, O.—James Dessler, a Wheeling & Lake Erie brakeman, who came here from St. Louis, was crushed todeath between two cars in the Kent yards this evening.

YORK, PA.—Lydia Young, 60 years old, was struck by a train tonight and both legs were cut off. She will die.

YORK, PA.—Max Geisler, whose back was broken by falling from an apple tree a week ago, is still living, and stands a splendid chance of recovering. His legs are entirely paralyzed.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.—Martin Smith, a young locomotive engineer died here today from injuries received a few hours before at Gassaway, where he fell from his engine down an embankment.

WHEELING, W. VA.—John Petticord of Amsterdam, O., was killed by a Wheeling traction car late tonight. He was 45 years old, and had been living in Wheeling for several weeks. He was formerly a banker, but had met reverses.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA.—While hunting near Jones springs today John Kitchen accidentally shot Archie Ambrester, a companion. The victim may die.

PATTISON AT CANAL DOVER.

Rain Prevents Outdoor Meeting, but He Takes in the County Fair Just the Same.

CANAL DOVER, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—John M. Pattison, Democratic candidate for governor, was in town today and was enthusiastically received. On account of the weather he did not deliver an open air address, however, as had been planned.

Mr. Pattison arrived on an early morning train from Cleveland, and was escorted to the Dover Democratic club rooms, where an informal reception was held. Mr. Pattison was the guest at dinner of Dr. E. C. Lewis, a former colleague in the state senate. In the afternoon he attended the county fair, where he was cordially met.

Post Card from Hunted Man.

KITTANNING, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—A business man here claims to have received a postal card from August Jonas, the mirror manufacturer, who disappeared leaving his accounts in bad shape. The postal card is of the souvenir variety, picturing a prisoner behind bars, and is postmarked Buffalo, N. Y. On it is written: "If you want us, come and take us," and is signed August Jonas. Friends of the missing man believe he has reached Canada.

Rush for Pearl Field.

LAPORTE, IND., Oct. 20.—Quantities of valuable pearls are being found in the Kankakee river. Scores of persons have gone to the river to hunt for the gems. The operations of huge dredges which have reclaimed large areas of land, uncovered the pearls, the search for which has become an industry.

UNCLE JOE SIBLEY CHANGES FRONT ON JUDICIAL FIGHT

Will Support Criswell, to Whom He Was Opposed, for the Bench in Venango County.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., Oct. 20.—In a letter issued to the public today Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, who with Gen. Charles Miller, his business partner and brother-in-law, was bitterly opposed to Judge Criswell's re-election only last spring, states emphatically that he is in favor of retaining Judge Criswell, again the Republican candidate, on the bench.

The letter is regarded by Republicans as the most effective blow yet dealt to the Hon. R. F. Glenn, the no-license candidate of the Democrats and Prohibitionists. Mr. Sibley pays a high compliment to Glenn's ability, but points out what he thinks will happen if Glenn is elected. If he grants a license, says Sibley, he will be breaking his pre-election pledges. If he refuses a license without hearing the applicant he will be violating his oath of office. Lawyers for the applicants will therefore come before Glenn and demand that he, having prejudged the application, call in a neighboring judge. If he refuses the matter can be appealed to the higher courts, which would scarcely tolerate the prejudicement of application.

Thus, Mr. Sibley argues, the matter of licenses would be placed in the hands of outsiders, unacquainted with the conditions here. Friends of Glenn are making a vigorous fight and Sibley's change of front with reference to Criswell is pointed out as evidence of a realization that Criswell's chances of election are diminishing.

YOUNG POTH DENIES HIS ENGAGEMENT TO A STAR

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Frank H. Poth, son of the late F. A. Poth, wealthy brewer, meets the advertised announcement that he has no longer any interest in the management of his father's estate with a denial of an engagement to marry Elsie Janis, a star of New York summer roof gardens. Young Poth has been deposed as executor and trustee of his father's estate and secretary of the Poth Brewing Company. Although his business connection with his brothers has been severed, the young man is making his home at Brentwood, the country residence of the family.

"It was done for my own good," said young Poth today. "I am bankrupt—I don't mean that. There were some usurious notes and I could not meet them. That is all there is to it. Everything that is being done by my brothers meets with my full approval. I am out of the firm for the present at least.

"Miss Janis has not sued me for breach of promise. Nothing like that. I'm not engaged to Miss Janis. She's a dear, sweet girl, but I don't like her people."

"I'm not engaged to Mr. Poth," said Miss Janis a month ago, "but mother is awfully fond of him."

MUST CONTINUE DEFILED.

McKeesporter Must Remain In Lawrence County Jail, Despite His Objection to Companions.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—William Gibson, a McKeesport man, who last Sunday in police court, after being arrested for drunkenness, asked Mayor Hainer to commit him to jail for 10 days in order that he might sober up, today wrote a letter to Hainer asking that he be released. He says he is completely sober and is defiled by association with criminals.

When he asked to be committed for 10 days Mayor Hainer sent him up for twice that long. He will have to serve the full time.

NEGRO'S SHOT, FIRED IN JEST, ENDS FATALLY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 20.—"Stop or I'll shoot," declared Bert Delydge, a negro, to Ralph Williams, a young white boy, aged 15, as he ran playfully about the schoolyard at Scotia, Huntingdon county, this afternoon. No attention was paid to the remark which was presumed to be made in jest. The negro, who had a gun, aimed directly at the boy and fired.

The bullet lodged in his left leg. While being brought to the hospital here by his father, George W. Williams, the boy died on the train. Delydge was recently released from the Huntingdon reformatory, where he served a sentence for holding up a storekeeper.

The Williams family had been friendly to him and he had just come from their house before committing the crime. The father of the murdered boy has sent word to Scotia asking for Delydge's arrest.

BRIDE STILL MISSING.

New Castle Groom Must Stand Trial for Perjury in Obtaining Marriage License.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Thomas Pritchett, charged with perjury upon the allegation that he swore falsely in securing a marriage license to wed 15-year-old Bessie Robb of Moravia, was remanded to jail for trial, after a hearing before Alderman Williams.

Mrs. Robb, mother of the girl, brings the charge. Pritchett claims that it was really Bessie Robb that went with him to the court house Monday and secured the license, instead of his sister, Miss Elizabeth Pritchett, who is accused of having impersonated Bessie Robb. Both young women are missing. Attorneys for Pritchett claim his marriage to Bessie Robb is perfectly legal.

ENGAGEMENT FOLLOWS TRIP.

Announcement Which Interests Beaver Valley Society Comes After Long Auto Trip.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Much interest is attached to the announcement of the engagement of Miss Frances Dawes, daughter of E. L. Dawes, to Arthur C. Townsend, which has just been made, following an extended automobile trip in which the two were chaperoned for several weeks by Mrs. Dawes.

Both are popular in New Brighton society. Miss Dawes is the only daughter of E. L. Dawes, general manager of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, while Mr. Townsend is general manager for C. C. and E. P. Townsend, wire nail manufacturers of this place. The wedding arrangements have not been announced.

Presbyterians Meet In Charleston.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The synod of West Virginia of the Presbyterian church opened here tonight in the Kanawha Presbyterian church. The Rev. Dr. J. H. Flanagan of New York presided as moderator. Gov. William O. Dawson delivered the address of welcome. Among other business to be transacted by the synod is the election of a moderator to succeed Dr. Flanagan.

Italian Shooter Is Captured.

KITTANNING, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Frank Bruno, the Italian, who shot Superintendent Robert Cook and his assistant, Joe Anthony, of the Buffalo & Susquehanna coal mines in the eastern end of this county, Thursday morning, was captured and held for trial. The victims will recover.

CITIZENS WANT A COLUMN ON WESTMORELAND BALLOT

County Commissioners Refused Them Place Because of Defects in Certificate.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 20.—Upon application of J. J. Blank of Hempfield township, chairman of the Citizens party in Westmoreland county, an alternating writ of mandamus was issued tonight by Judge Lucien W. Doty on the county commissioners. The writ is made returnable on Wednesday, October 25.

It is alleged in the petition that the Citizens party was regularly organized and that its ticket, filed with the commissioners, contains the names of 318 qualified electors. It is further alleged that the commissioners refused to accept the certificate on account of technical inaccuracies.

The ticket was filed with the commissioners Saturday night. Tuesday it was discovered that a certificate from the prothonotary giving notice of the preemption of the name Citizens party had not been filed. The papers were defective in other respects. The commissioners today awarded the contract for printing the ballots without including a column for the Citizens party.

DETECTIVES IN TROUBLE.

Guards at Butler Plant Accused of Assaulting Zelienople Manufacturer.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—John Jones, Ed Gilpin and Daniel Dane, employes of a private detective agency which has been guarding the factory of the Iron City Sanitary Manufacturing Company at Zelienople during a strike there, were arrested last evening by Sheriff M. L. Gibson and Deputy Sheriff G. C. Vorouso, Jones being charged with assault and battery and the others with carrying concealed weapons.

The complainant is James Kavanough, a well-known manufacturer of Zelienople, whom, it is alleged, Jones struck with a hand-billy. The prisoners were released under $500 bail each, furnished by President W. H. Gelbach of the Zelienople National bank.

TWELVE COWS MUST DIE.

New Castle Dairyman Discovers Tuberculosis in His Herd and Will Kill Them.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—Dr. E. C. Porter, deputy state veterinarian, today made application to the state health department for authority to kill 12 cows belonging to Charles Hartzel of Shenango township, which he has discovered to be suffering from tuberculosis.

Dr. Porter was called to treat one of the cows and discovered it had the disease. Then the owner had him examine the 21 cows in his herd when it was discovered that a dozen of them are similarly affected.

P. R. R. Express Wrecked Near Altoona.

ALTOONA, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—At 5:15 this morning several cars of an extra freight on the Pennsylvania railroad were wrecked by a broken wheel just east of Allegrippus and toppled over on the westbound Cleveland & Cincinnati express. Several cars on the express were damaged but no passengers were injured. Engineer H. J. Highberger of the express, living at Pitcairn, was slightly injured.

Octogenarian Found Dead.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Miss Kate Kunkle, aged 85 years, was found dead at her home in Ardara at noon today. She was seated in a chair with some sewing in her lap. It is supposed she died last evening. She lived alone and as she was not seen during the morning neighbors went to the house to investigate.

HAVE CIVIC BODY IN SIXTH WARD

It Will Work Vigorously for More Water, Parks and New Streets in the District.

IT STARTS WORK QUICKLY

The residents of the Sixth ward formed a civic body last night. The meeting at which this Civic association of the Sixth ward was organized was held in the Forbes school house. It was called to order by Dr. J. P. Shaw, who had issued an invitation to a number of prominent residents to come together and talk over ward affairs.

All shades of political thought were represented at the meeting, which was strictly non-political. Among those present were republicans, Citizens, Democrats, Orphans and Independents. All seemed desirous of doing everything to create physical betterment and secure public improvements.

Dr. Shaw made a speech explaining conditions in the ward and then the meeting decided to form the association to secure a better water supply, local parks, improvements and the opening of new streets. The following officers were elected: Dr. J. P. Shaw, president; Thomas Walker, Dr. W. T. Barclay and Thomas Eagan, vice presidents; Randolph Wagner, secretary; Dr. S. P. Leiber, P. J. Fahey, L. Shineberg, E. A. Schaefer, Samuel J. Little, William Keebner, John Ehrlinger, David L. Jones and George A. Kress, executive committee. Alderman John A. Martin, E. A. Schaefer and Dr. Leiber were appointed a committee to draft bylaws.

The proposed Bluff street improvement was discussed. In 1904 the city councils made an appropriation for a park on Bluff street, but the money was not spent. In 1905 $10,000 was appropriated for the same purpose, but the money has not been used. Dr. Shaw, Mr. Wagner and Mr. Martin were named a committee to draw up an ordinance to be presented at the next meeting of councils. It will provide that the money must be expended for the purpose for which it was appropriated. The meeting approved a suggestion that a terraced park be constructed on the hillside in old Herdscrabble, east of the Panhandle railroad tracks, to beautify that section.

Another meeting will be held next Friday evening in the Forbes school house. Mayor Hays and Representative L. B. Cook, who live in the ward, and Peter Hermes and W. H. Finerty, who represent it in councils, will be invited to attend.

DIPLOMAS FOR GRADUATES.

Friends and patrons of the Thaddeus Stevens school, West End, attended the first annual commencement exercises held in the school auditorium last night. Addresses were made by Superintendent of City Schools Samuel Andrews, the Rev. E. P. Cowan and Prof. R. H. Holbrook. An interesting musical program was also given. The diplomas were presented by Harry A. Gibarsky, a graduate of the class of '86, and were received upon the part of the graduates by Alma Boehrig. Class pins were presented to the graduates by Dr. J. W. Neely, secretary of the school board, and the honor pupil, Alma Boehrig, was presented with a gold medal.

S. G. COOPER RECEIVES MANY CONGRATULATIONS

Telegrams and letters of congratulation coming from all over the country were piled on the desk of Samuel G. Cooper, the newly elected president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, yesterday.

It is stated that his choice to the position was almost as much a surprise to the Pittsburgh iron and steel merchants as it was to those outside of the councils of the Republic company. At the same time his fitness for the second largest steel presidency in the country is widely recognized.

Mr. Cooper has been a Pittsburgher for about 12 years. He was brought up in the manufacturing end of the steel business, being connected with one of the companies absorbed by the Illinois Steel Company. When he first came to Pittsburgh he was with the local office of Naylor & Co., iron and steel dealers. With C. F. Banning, also connected with that office, he withdrew six years ago and formed the partnership known as Banning, Cooper & Co., Ltd., which has grown into much importance.

With his early experience in the manufacturing end and his later active work in the sales end of the business his equipment has been of an all-around character. Mr. Cooper is expected back from New York this morning.

MEETING OF HOME GUARDS.

A union meeting of the local lodges of the Home Guards of America from Braddock, Homestead, McKeesport, Hazelwood, Duquesne, South Side, East Liberty, Homewood, Sheraden and Oakdale, was held in the lodge room of Skibo home No. 82, Duquesne, Pa., yesterday. Dr. G. J. Eblen, supreme counselor of Van Wert, O.; Dr. William P. Love, supreme medical examiner, of Youngstown, and other supreme officers were present. During the evening a large class was initiated by the degree team of Skibo home, followed by an address on the growth of the order by Supreme Counselor Dr. G. J. Eblen. After which a lunch was served by the members of Skibo home.

A new lodge was recently organized at Homewood by Special Deputy Hugh Cosgrove, with 53 beneficial members, to be known as Cosgrove home No. 144. The degree work was exemplified by the Negree team from Chartiers home No. 139. Carnegie, in a very impressive manner. Supreme Conductor R. P. Everly of Sheraden was present and installed the officers. There was also present State Manager George L. Lamme, Special Deputy W. W. Culp and visiting members from East Liberty, Hazelwood and Duquesne.

MAKING STEEL CARS.

Canadian Concern, Controlled by Local Company, Begins Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Canada Car Company at Montreal, Can., which is controlled by the Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh, has commenced operations. The plant, which cost $1,000,000, has a capacity of 20 freight cars a day and five passenger coaches a month. It also turns out carwheels and other parts. Contracts with the Grand Trunk road will keep it busy for a long time.

Most of the stock of the company is held by the Pittsburgh concern in return for its good will and patents. The Pittsburgh company also furnished some of the money for building the plant. The capital is $1,000,000 preferred and $2,000,000 common stock.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—The employes of the Moscow & Kaiven railroad struck today and traffic on the road is interrupted. The engineers on the Moscow & St. Petersburg railroad struck tonight. Railway employes have issued a call for a general strike.

CANADIAN SOCIETY HAS ITS FIRST FALL MEETING

Former Residents Listen to an Able Discourse on the Dominion by Commissioner Rice.

"Canada and Its Opportunities" was ably discussed at the first fall meeting of the Canadian Society of Pittsburgh last evening. The speaker was Commissioner Rice, a representative of the Canadian government, who has charge of the Canadian exhibit at the exposition. The meeting was well attended and Mr. Rice received frequent applause during his discourse on the grandness of the mother country of the members.

The society decided to entertain the visiting Canadian teachers who will be here next week. A luncheon will be given on Saturday afternoon by the members of the society for the visitors.

Despite the fact that the society is only about a year old, much interest is being taken in it by former Canadians, and the rooms occupied by it in the Bessemer building are very tastefully furnished.

During the winter, possibly in December, a banquet will be given by the society and a representative from the Canadian cabinet, with other prominent Canadians, will be invited to attend. Considerable routine business was disposed of last evening and the later hours were spent in a smoker and musical entertainment.

Collision Injures Two Men.

A wagon belonging to the Bell Telephone Company was struck by a traction car at Liberty avenue and Thirty-second street yesterday morning. Charles Roup, 113 Glasser street, had his left leg crushed, and L. J. Maria, 379 Spahr street, received a scalp wound and injuries about the right leg and arm. The wagon was considerably damaged.

The Beer Test

The food constituents of Duquesne Silver Top Beer are albuminoids, carbohydrates and the natural mineral salts just as they are found in the malted field-barley. (Also found in meat, eggs and other staple articles of diet.)

To the eye all these properties are evidenced by the foam-holding capacity of Silver Top.

Note—This glass of Silver Top beer was drank in four swallows during a period of several minutes. After each swallow the glass rested, untouched, till a new ring of foam adhered to the side of the glass. These foam rings remained for hours.

This foam-holding capacity proves the abounding nutritious and healthful properties possessed by far-famed Silver Top.

BRENNEN AFTER LINCOLN PARTY

Files Objections to Its Papers, but Will Have to Prove That They Are Invalid.

LEVIN TALKS FOR WALLACE

The Independent Democrats were made angry yesterday when they learned that W. J. Brennen, a supposed Democrat, had attacked the validity of the Lincoln party's nomination papers in court. The notice to the county commissioners to appear in court was signed by W. J. Brennen. Ostensibly Brennen attacks only the Lincoln party's county ticket, which is the same as the Republican, but the Independent Democrats, who are displeased with the deal which Francis X. Barr, alias J. S. Grady, the fusionist candidate for clerk of courts, and Brennen made with Bigelow, permitting Bigelow to put the name of the Republican state candidates on the Citizens official ballot, hold that the objection to the Lincoln party's papers is inspired by Bigelow, and are, therefore, really directed against Berry. It is alleged that the signatures on the Lincoln party's petition are defective.

Brennen's notice to the county commissioners read that they were to appear in common pleas court No. 2, but when the commissioners went there the judges were not present. Then Brennen went into No. 1 court and Judge Collier, for the judges of No. 2, signed an order setting the hearing of arguments on Brennen's application for 9:30 a. m., Tuesday.

The Republicans will hold a meeting in the Webster school house, Plum township, tonight. C. B. Price, A. J. Edwards and John M. Morrison will speak. The Republican county committee will meet today. All the candidates will be present. The important business is to draft a platform for the campaign.

A. W. McCormick and others took an appeal to the superior court yesterday from the order of quarter sessions dividing the borough of Avalon into wards. Today no effort will be made to have the appeal act as a supersedas, for this is not done the election in November will be held according to the new division of the borough.

The objections of Frederick L. Schwartz of the Seventh ward, Allegheny, to the nomination papers of the Socialist-Labor party were sustained by common pleas court No. 2, after a hearing yesterday afternoon. The court ordered the county commissioners not to print the names of the candidates in the ballots. Schwartz alleged that the required number of voters had not signed the papers; that manifestly the names were signed by one person and that part of the name (Socialist) was the name of another party.

The Orphans, Independent Democrats and the Lincoln party formed an alliance yesterday and decided to hire a headquarters and to hold meetings. The three elements decided to indorse the Lincoln party's ticket, which is W. H. Berry for state treasurer and the Republican county ticket. When the Orphans indorsed the Republican county candidates some time ago W. H. Stevenson said the Orphans were not in state or national politics, but after the Lincoln party promoters promised that if the Orphans supported their ticket they would form an alliance with the Orphans at the next mayoralty campaign, the Orphans gave way to the temptation.

The new organization was effected in the Monongahela house. Those present were G. H. Stengel, register of wills, elected on the fusion ticket but not renominated; Joseph McClure and Alderman John A. Martin, Independent Democrats; William H. Stevenson, William C. Reitz and Dr. George W. McNeill, Orphans, and H. S. Paul, H. F. Davis and E. B. Clarke, Lincoln party. Stevenson was elected chairman of the new organization, H. F. Davis secretary and W. C. Reitz, treasurer.

Committees on speakers and meetings and on headquarters were named. Secretary Davis said it was considered inadvisable to publish the names of the members of the committees. The new organization will meet at 1 p. m. today at the Monongahela house.

The Citizens party held a meeting in Odd Fellows hall, South Eighteenth street, last night and had a parade with red fire. Joseph Lauffer was chairman. John B. Larkin, L. S. Levit, Alexander Dempster, Francis X. Barr, who, when playing golf assumes the alias of J. S. Grady, and Jere Doherty, spoke. Mr. Larkin's speech was an effort to keep "Buck" Wallace out of the campaign. He said:

"It will not do for you to evade their (the Citizens) request on the plea that Police Superintendent Wallace, some years ago, was jailed for an infraction of the liquor laws in Canton. Are the eyes of the people of the county to be closed to this work by publications about Superintendent Wallace? Are the people of this city and county who furnish the money to conduct their public business to be given lithographs of the Canton, O., workhouse?" Mr. Larkin meant by this to refer to the fact that Wallace served a term in the Canton workhouse.

BIG REPUBLICAN MEETING.

Is to Be Held Under Auspices of Allied Republican Clubs of County.

Delegates to the Allied Republican clubs of Allegheny county held their second meeting in the Tariff club last night. The organization started a week or so ago with 24 clubs represented, and last night delegates from four other clubs attended. The meeting was presided over by the president, W. R. Brown. Herbert L. Cratty being the secretary. The organization decided to hold a big Republican mass meeting in McKeesport on October 28.

Those who will speak at the meeting are J. Hampton Moore, president of the National League of Republican clubs; A. J. Edwards, president of the State league; Frederick Fleitz, deputy state attorney general, and George Llewellyn of Elsmon. It is hoped that the meeting will be almost as big as the one held in Old City hall last Saturday.

RESCUED IN MID-OCEAN.

Crew of Norwegian Bark Palmer Are Taken Off Their Vessel Just as All Hope Is Abandoned.

SYDNEY, C. B., Oct. 20.—Rescued in mid-ocean as their vessel was about to sink, Capt. Zachariassen and his crew of eight men of the Norwegian bark H. W. Palmer were landed here today by the Norwegian steamer Christian Bors, which arrived from Hull, England.

October 11 the Palmer encountered a terrific hurricane and sprung a leak. It was evident the next day that the vessel could not remain afloat much longer, and Capt. Zachariassen and crew prepared to take to the boats, although a tremendous sea was running. At that moment, however, the steamer Christian Bors was sighted. Signals of distress were quickly displayed and the steamer responded. All were taken safely on board the steamer, the crew of which set fire to the bark.

BACK THE TICKET WITH HARD CASH

MARTIN WILL NEVER "FLOP"

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.

Thousands of dollars, with few takers, are being offered that the Republican county ticket will be elected. Even money rules. A prominent Republican today said he had $20,000 he was anxious to place, but none of this is yet covered. Rumor has it that a pool of City party enthusiasts offered $5,000 even on the "reform" ticket, but that it was taken so quickly no more offers are being made.

Betting odds are usually regarded as having barometric significance concerning popular sentiment. If this be true, the organization is backing its predictions in substantial manner. City party leaders claim their ticket will sweep the city with a majority of 100,000, but while there are as many "sports" in their faction as there are in the regular organization, the forecast is without financial support.

Republican leaders tonight refuse to make estimates on the plurality they expect. "We will win with a big majority," said Senator James P. McNichol, "but it is too early to give figures."

The Vare brothers, who control several downtown wards, are working hard for the Republican ticket. They supported Weaver on the gas lease and later on the loan bill, being forced to do so in the latter instance by the fact that the mayor was holding up their street cleaning contracts. Now that the contracts have been awarded, the Vares are lining up their councilmen and followers for the Republican candidates.

This is a big help to the organization, as was the resignation yesterday of Samuel Sutcliffe, chief of the bureau of highways. Even Wanamaker syndicate newspapers, the Evening Bulletin, for example, are criticising Mayor Weaver for forcing out a competent bureau chief simply because he would not be disloyal to the Republican party. William Felton, an inspector in the street cleaning bureau, was appointed today acting chief to succeed Sutcliffe.

So-called "subsidized organs" have been intimating Insurance Commissioner David Martin is getting ready to "dop" to the City party. Here is Martin's answer:

"I would be an ingrate, not only to the people of this ward, but also to the people of the city, were I to be otherwise than for the Republican ticket. If the City people were to take the same interest in the primaries, things would be different. The great mistake they make is that they find fault after the primaries are held.

"Some of my friends in this ward have deserted us. Some of them I have served faithfully. During the past few days some of them have been busy about the city hall circulating reports I would be the next to flop to the City party.

"I am a Republican. I have been a Republican for 16 years. Four years ago I advocated the election of Frederick Rothermel for district attorney. The men who fought me then are probably sorry now that Rothermel was not elected.

"Ask any old man in this city if he ever saw the police employed in politics as they are being used in this ward today. Stokely, in his palmiest days, never used the police as the City party is using them now."

MRS. DAVID G. M'CORMICK and her daughter, Miss Sophia Grant McCormick, have completed the list of their assistants for the reception which they will give at the Pittsburgh Golf club on Friday of next week. The hours set for the affair are from 3 until 6 o'clock and the guests have been asked to meet Mrs. John Shoenberger McCormick of the Hotel Kenmawr, who is a bride of August, and a daughter-in-law of Mrs. McCormick, one of Friday's hostesses. The aids for the afternoon include some of the older and several of the younger married friends of Mrs. McCormick and her daughter, as well as a number of the season's debutantes, and two or three of the older girls. The completed list is as follows: Mrs. Frank S. Bissell, Miss Mary Louise Jackson, Mrs. A. S. M. Morgan, Mrs. Joseph Bernard Shea, Mrs. W. Henry Singer, Mrs. James H. McIlvaine, Miss Anne McIlvaine, Miss Edith McIlvaine, Mrs. David Glenn Stewart, Miss Mary Sawyer, Miss Annie D. Dalzell, Mrs. Harry P. Pears, Mrs. John Woodwell, Miss Emma Suydam, Mrs. William D. Foster, Mrs. Wesley G. Carr, Mrs. James B. Umbstaetter, Miss Rebecca Shields, Mrs. William P. DeArmitt, Mrs. Robert Townsend, Mrs. Wallace H. Rowe, Mrs. Samuel J. Graham, Mrs. Lindsay King, Mrs. James Verner Scaife, Mrs. Jacob J. Miller, Mrs. Robert Wilson Patterson, Mrs. Robert R. Singer, Mrs. Francis Sellers Guthrie, Miss Mary Graff, Miss Rachael McClelland, Miss Sarah McClelland, Miss Florence Bigger of Portland, Ore., who is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Thomas C. Pears; Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Elizabeth Sellers, Miss Marjory Patterson, Miss Mary Rodd, Miss Nancy Marshall, Mrs. Marcus Acheson, Jr., Mrs. James Robinson, Mrs. Jesse T. Lazear, Miss Emily Lyon, Miss Evelyn Black, Miss Hester Singer and Miss Elizabeth Eaton.

Mrs. Blankenberg Will Not Speak.

Owing to a death in her family, Mrs. Rudolph Blankenberg will not be present at the conference of the Equal Rights association to be held in the Bellefield club rooms this afternoon and in the South Avenue Methodist church, Wilkinsburg, this evening. Mrs. Price of Swarthmore, will speak in her place, and Miss Jane Campbell, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Mary B. Luckie, of Chester, will come from Cambridge Springs where they have been attending the State Federation meetings. The receptions this afternoon and evening are being planned in honor of these eastern club members who will be in Pittsburgh for a few days. Mrs. A. M. Jones is chairman of the committee on entertainment and will have as her aids Miss Anna Martin and Miss Pearl Martin of Bellevue, Miss Lucy Koethen, Miss Florence Phillis, Miss Sarah Jones, Miss Helen Stonerod, Miss Allee K. Negley, Miss Emily L. Jones, Miss Gertrude Guffey and Miss Joes Jones. The music this evening will be furnished by Mrs. J. M. McNall. Miss Gertrude Urquhart and Howard Heinz.

Will Have Two Attendants.

Miss Stella Thompson and Samuel Hunter will have but two attendants, a maid of honor and best man, at their wedding next Wednesday evening. A sister and brother of the bridegroom, Miss Helen Hunter and James Hunter, will compose the bridal party, and the wedding will take place at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, John Thompson, in North avenue, Allegheny. The Rev. George W. Robinson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, has been asked to officiate, and after their wedding trip Mr. Hunter and his bride will be at home in Marshall avenue, Allegheny. Miss Thompson was guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Thompson of Sewickley. The other guests were Miss Gertrude Orr, Miss Alice Duff, both of whom were to have been bridesmaids had the coming wedding been large; Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Edward Thompson, Mrs. Thomas Fahenstock, Miss Annie Thompson, Miss Hattie Slets and Miss Hunter.

"Dialects of Dixie."

"Dialects of Dixie" was the subject under study yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's Southern society. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Hugh Pendleton Allen, Mrs. Ellison Castle presided. Mrs. Frank White read the meeting and also gave Mrs. B. F. Keen's sketch of the writings of Charles Egbert Craddock. Instead of a reading from "Marse Chan," as was down on the program, Mrs. Costin gave a most entertaining bit of Ruth McEnery Stuart's "The Wooing of Salina Sue," and the program was concluded by Mrs. H. T. Douglas' paper on "The Georgia Cracker." Several guests were present and after the business meeting and the literary program the usual social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. M. P. Whiting, Mrs. James D. Murray, Jr., and Mrs. Hall as hostesses.

Engagement Is Announced.

Miss Susan Culbertz Tiers, the bride elect of Dr. William Herron Cameron, was guest of honor yesterday at the euchre given by her aunt and cousin, Mrs. Clarence P. Tiers and Mrs. William Hepburn Tinsman. Mrs. C. C. Ahrensberg, Mrs. John Crookston and Miss Florence Crumbie won the euchre prizes and Mrs. Charles B. Price and Mrs. James M. Witherspoon won those in the guessing contest. Miss Tiers and Dr. Cameron will be quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. La Rue Tiers, in Oakmont, on Wednesday evening, November 1, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Laurens McClure, rector of St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church, will officiate.

First Sewickley Debutante.

Miss Mary Whittier Shields, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leet Shields, will be the first of the Sewickley valley girls to be introduced and will make her formal bow to society next Thursday at a tea which her mother will give from 4 until 6 o'clock at her home in Edgeworth. The hostess and her daughter will be assisted by Mrs. James B. Oliver, Mrs. James S. Umbstaetter, Mrs. William P. Snyder, Mrs. Neville B. Dilworth, Miss Rebecca Shields, Mrs. L. Halsey Williams, Mrs. Frank Fabor Brooks, Mrs. J. Bissell Speer, Mrs. Frank S. Russell, Mrs. Robert McCready, Miss Amelia Oliver, Miss Winifred Jones, Miss Rebecca Jones, Miss Elizabeth Irwin, Miss Marion Clapp, Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Caroline Slack, Miss Jean Slack, Miss Ruth Walker, Miss Hester Singer, Miss Brown, Miss Janet Stewart, Miss Frederica Hay, Miss Helen Witherow, Miss Evelyn Black, Miss Euphemia Bakewell, Miss Alice Haworth and Miss Lucy Haworth.

Kindergartner Will Wed.

The wedding of Miss Anne Doubt, daughter of Samuel Doubt, and Dr. Harry Penrod of Johnstown, will take place next Wednesday evening at the home of the bride in Aspinwall. It will be a very quiet affair at 8 o'clock in the evening. Miss Doubt will be guest of honor this afternoon at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Blanche Moore, in North Euclid avenue, the hostesses being Miss Moore, Miss Charlotte Orr, Miss Isabel Lergat, Miss Lillian Stofell, Miss Catherine Graham and Miss Frances Culley. The majority of the guests will be alumnae of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Kindergarten college, associates of Miss Doubt.

Epoch Club Meets.

Mrs. Charles S. Eaton of Sellers street was hostess yesterday at the meeting of the Epoch club. "Western Asiatic Architecture" was the subject of an unusually interesting paper prepared and given by Mrs. Barrett. The only other number on the program was an extract from "The Ruins of the Ancient Syrian Palace Khorsabad," read by Mrs. Frank T. Hogg.

Housewarming in Squirrel Hill.

"Grace Hill," the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McQuiston, in Bartlett street, Squirrel Hill, received its formal housewarming yesterday afternoon when its mistress entertained with a reception from 3 until 6 o'clock. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. B. Diss of Cleveland, was the guest of honor, and was included, with Mrs. M. E. Frew and Mrs. A. T. Irwin, in the receiving line. The assistants were Mrs. B. W. Neely, Mrs. T. H. Hartley, Mrs. T. C. Morgan, Miss Rhinis R. McKee, Miss Nettie Ross and Miss Fannie McQuiston. A dinner for the aids and a euchre for the same guests and an equal number of men were given in the evening by Mr. and Mrs. McQuiston.

Post-Nuptial Announcements Made.

Cards have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hambry of Donora, announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Esther Elizabeth Hambry, and Dr. R. Claude Farquhar, on Wednesday. Enclosed with the announcements are at-home cards for Tuesdays after December 1 in Monongahela.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Carrie E. Cornfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cornfield, to Harry H. Kunde, the ceremony having taken place on Thursday evening at the bride's home in Liberty avenue. After November 1 the couple will be at home in Hermitage street, Homewood.

Club Season Opens Today.

Plans are practically completed for the season of the Woman's club of Sewickley which will open with a president's reception day at the club house today. Miss Hardin will conduct the five current event days and tea and music will be on the program at each of these afternoons. There will be a literary class under Miss Jean Craig of East End and the language classes will again be in charge of Herr Skaiweit and Madamoiselle Levy.

Card Party for Miss McCandless.

Miss Mary Gertrude McCandless, whose marriage to Robert Blakeney Petty, Jr., will take place on November 1, will be guest of honor at several social affairs before her wedding. Miss Eleanor Dorrington Austin of Shady avenue, East End, has just issued cards for a five-hundred party, which she will give on the afternoon of Saturday, October 28, in honor of the bride-elect. Miss Austin will be one of the bridesmaids.

Notes of Society.

The Thalia club will open a series of Monday evening dances in the borough hall of Avalon on Monday evening of next week.

The third meeting of the newly organized Friendship Euchre club will be held next Wednesday at the home of Miss Gertrude Zinsmeister in Evaline street.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Watson of Corapolis celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Fletcher K. White entertained with an informal tea yesterday afternoon at her home in Sewickley. The honor guest was Miss Elizabeth Wallis of Culpepper, Va. The Misses Winifred and Gertrude Scott assisted in receiving.

Miss Emma Dickson of Sewickley entertained at her home yesterday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock with a fancy work party in honor of Mrs. Miller Dickson, a recent bride and sister-in-law of the hostess.

Does Not Object to Smoke.

A fire which originated in a clothes press caused a loss of $200 at the residence of Albert Downtown, 6340 Shakespeare street, yesterday morning. The smoke filled the rooms of the house and Downtown slept so soundly his wife could not awaken him. Three colored men carried him downstairs to safety.

WORDS OF PRAISE WELL MERITED

BY A WELL KNOWN ARTICLE.

So much has been written by the standard medical authorities, of all the several schools of practice, in praise of the native, or American, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, that in attempting to quote from the various works on Materia Medica one hardly knows where to commence; since they are so voluminous that only the briefest and most imperfect reference can be presented in a short article like this.

Briefly then let us say that the "Golden Medical Discovery" was named from the sturdy little plant Golden Seal, the root of which enters largely into its composition. Besides this most valuable ingredient, it contains glyceric extracts of Stone root, Queen's root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

Finley Ellingwood, M. D., an eminent practitioner of Chicago and Professor of Materia Medica in the Bennett Medical College of that city, in his recently published work on Therapeutics, says of Golden Seal root: "It is the most natural of stimulants to the normal functions of digestion. Its influence upon the mucous surfaces renders it most important in catarrhal gastritis (inflammation of stomach) and gastric (stomach) ulceration."

Many other authorities as well as Dr. Ellingwood extol the Hydrastis (Golden Seal), as a remedy for catarrhal diseases of the nasal passages, stomach, bronchia, gall ducts, kidneys, intestines and bladder. Among these, we may mention Prof. John King, M. D., author of the American Dispensatory; Prof. J. M. Scudder, M. D., in his "Specific Medication"; Dr. Hale of the Hahnemann Med. College of Chicago; Grover Coe, M. D., of New York, in his "Organic Medicines." Dr. Bartholow of Jefferson Med. College and scores of other leading medical writers and teachers.

All the foregoing eminent authorities extol the curative virtues of Golden Seal in cases of stomach, liver and intestinal weakness, torpor and ulceration of bowels. Dr. Ellingwood recommends it most highly, "In those cases of atonic dyspepsia when the entire apparatus, including the liver, is stagnant and inoperative." He also extols it most highly in the many weaknesses and derangements peculiar to women and says, "It is a most important remedy in many disorders of the womb." Golden Seal root (Hydrastis), is an important ingredient of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, "rundown" women.

But to return to the "Golden Medical Discovery" it may be said that its curative properties are not wholly dependent upon Golden Seal, valuable as it is, as other equally potant ingredients add greatly to its value and in fact are not less important than the Hydrastis, or Golden Seal.

In all bronchial, throat, lung and kindred ailments, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root and Bloodroot, each plays as important a part in effecting the phenominal cures of "Golden Medical Discovery" as does Golden Seal. All these ingredients have the endorsement of prominent practitioners of all schools of medicine for the cure of diseases of the bronchia, throat and lungs.

Of Queen's root, Prof. King says: "An alterative (blood purifier) unsurpassed by few if any other of the known alteratives. Most successful in skin and scrofulous affections; beneficial in bronchial affections; permanently cures bronchitis; relieves irritations; an important cough remedy; coughs of years' standing being cured; aids in blood-making and nutrition and may be taken with out harm for long periods."

Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, all articles extolled by leading practitioners of all the schools, as the very best of cough medicines, are made especially valuable when combined with chemically pure glycerine which greatly enhances the curative action of all these ingredients in all bronchial, throat and lung affections, severe coughs and kindred ailments.

Who can doubt the efficacy of such a compound, when scientifically made up, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery? Who can doubt that it is a most effective remedy for the several diseases for which its ingredients are so highly recommended by the formost writers on Materia Medica?

It is in the cure of the more chronic or lingering, persistent, and obstinate cases of bronchial, laryngial and lung affections, attended by hoarseness and severe cough, which if neglected or badly treated would generally have run into consumption, that "Golden Medical Discovery" has won the highest praise from all who have observed its marvelous control over these and kindred affections. It is no cheap compound made up of trashy ingredients for free distribution, that curious people may experiment upon themselves as with the many fake nostrums so commonly sent out as "trial bottles." It has a forty year record, embracing many thousands of cures behind it, is sold at a reasonable price and may be found in all drug and medicine stores in this and many foreign countries.

It will be seen from the above brief extracts how well "Golden Medical Discovery" is adapted for the cure of all blood diseases, as, scrofulous and skin affections, eruptions, blotches, pimples and kindred ailments; also that it is equally good in all Catarrhal affections no matter where seated, and for all cases of indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and as a tonic and invigorator in all manner of weaknesses, and in nervous debility and prostration the above extracts amply show.

Much further information as to the properties and uses of "Golden Medical Discovery" and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women, will be found in a little booklet of extracts from standard medical books which will be mailed free to any address on request, by letter or postal card, sent to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

All the several ingredients of Dr. Pierce's medicines will be found, from the reading of this little booklet, to have the strongest possible professional endorsements and recommendations for the cure of all the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. No other medicines for like purposes have any such endorsement. They are non-alcoholic, non-secret, safe and reliable.

How I Got My Hearing Back

By GEORGE H. WILSON

I WAS once a deaf man!

I was so deaf that I couldn't hear a watch tick when held close against my ear. The Deafness came on by degrees and first I hardly noticed it.

As it grew I noticed my friends falling away from me. Then my business chances began fading out. It was too much trouble to talk to a Deaf man.

Now, I want you to know that I was ambitious and had made large plans for my own future. I knew I had the Brains to succeed, if I could only get over that terrible curse of Deafness. It seemed to shut me out from all my Opportunities.

For nearly two years I haunted the offices of Ear-Doctors. Then I tried about every quack remedy, and my money melted as fast as my chances for making more vanished. The end of it came at last, and I had to work out my own cure.

That was my salvation! First, I read nearly every book printed about the ear. Then I made a model of the hearing part of the Ear. Then I tried all kinds of experiments on this artificial Ear.

Whenever I worked out any device that looked promising on this artificial Ear, I tried it on my own living Ear. Night after night I worked on my experiments, with feverish hope and anxiety, for the result meant everything to me in this world. I am sure I worked harder, thought deeper and experimented further than any Ear Specialist had ever done before.

At last I hit upon the right idea, and I worked on this steadily for months, to apply it.

From that time on my progress was rapid, till I had a clumsy pair of Listening Machines.

Finally I worked the principle down so that it was contained in two little telephones.

These went entirely within the ears, where no one could see them, nor suspect me of wearing them. The only thing now left to do was to make them so soft and comfortable, in the Ear holes, that one did not feel their presence.

I could hear as distinctly, with them in my ears, as I ever did before my deafness came on me. I could hear a watch tick three feet away, when they were in my ears, though I couldn't hear a sound from that watch when the "Listeners" were removed.

But a greater wonder took place a little later on. Removing the tiny telephones from my ears one day, to clean them, I held my watch up to my right ear. I was amazed to hear it tick clearly and distinctly without artificial aid!

I tried this again with a yard measure from week to week, with the "Listeners" removed. I was delighted to find that each week I could hear the watch tick a few inches farther away.

My little Listening Machines had made the sound so loud for my Hearing Nerves that they had no longer any straining to catch weak sounds.

"My Deafness set me worrying and thinking hard for a means of Cure."

This easy hearing rested these Ear Nerves so much that they soon got back all their old strength and keenness. That's what a famous doctor said.

Well, after I got back my hearing you'd be surprised how my friends came around, and talked to me. Why, I never knew I had so many friends, and I don't think I ever knew their value till I lost my hearing.

A thousand people in this city of Louisville, Ky., know the story of my struggles against deafness and of my ultimate success,—greater than I had ever hoped for.

Since then thousands of deaf people, in this country alone, have recovered their hearing in the same way, and I wish you could read the letters they wrote me. I have published a book containing 400 of these letters, which I will gladly send you on request.

I think I understand deaf people better now than any other man in America, and when advice of mine can help them they are welcome to it. I can tell them how to recover their hearing, and I will tell any of them who writes me.

I can always be reached, by letter, care of The Wilson E. D. Co., 96 Todd Building, Louisville, Ky., and I'll send copies of the letters if you'll mail me just the postage, which is two cents.

BIG WATER BASIN IS NOT FINISHED

TRUST COMPANY BRINGS SUIT

"The new Highland reservoir No. 2 is still unfinished. If you stand on the road that runs along the zoological garden in Highland park, near the reservoir, you will hear a noise like the falls of Niagara. The noise is produced by one of the leaks from the reservoir. The leaks in the big water basin are as bad as ever they were. There is another series of leaks, the water from which is carried off by French drains into a sewer. The reservoir is not finished until these leaks are repaired."

Director Bigelow made this statement yesterday concerning the new reservoir in Highland park, which was completed three years ago and over the construction of which a great deal of litigation has ensued between the contractors, the surety company of the contractors, the city and Controller Larkin.

Director Bigelow will be involved in the next round of litigation over this reservoir, and it was stated yesterday that the case was scheduled to come up in the local courts within a couple of weeks. The Mercantile Trust Company, which was surety for the Jonathan Clark Sons' Company and who built the reservoir when the Clark company failed, has brought suit against the city for the balance due on the contract and for extra work, said to aggregate something like $175,000.

Director Bigelow says the amount will not be paid because he claims the reservoir is still unfinished. The contract was let to the Clark firm when Mr. Bigelow was first director of public works. The Clark company was the lowest bidder and Bigelow claimed that if the Clark company complied with the specifications it stood to lose $100,000 on the job. The Clark company claimed it was unduly harassed by Bigelow and gave up the contract, its surety, the Mercantile Trust Company taking charge and employing Keeling & Ridge to complete the work.

Keeling & Ridge, after a controversy in which the firm won in a contest with Controller Larkin, finished the job in November, 1902, but part of the money for the work and additional charges for alleged extra work were withheld by the city, and for the payment of this amount the trust company has brought suit.

Director Bigelow claims the job is unfinished, although he objected to his predecessor, Director J. Guy McCandless, obtaining any credit for it and tore down the tablet from the reservoir bearing Director McCandless' name. Not only did Mr. Bigelow deprive Dr. McCandless of any credit in this public improvement, but he is preparing to connect the big 50-inch water main to the South Side with No. 2 reservoir, notwithstanding he insists that the reservoir is unfinished. The new Highland reservoir is one of the largest in the country and its capacity exceeds that of the two compartments of the old Highland reservoir, No. 1. No. 2 reservoir holds 138,000,000 gallons and covers 11 acres.

OPPOSES SECTARIAN USE OF LO'S MONEY

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The distribution of Indian tribal funds held in trust by the government, to churches, for educational purposes, caused a lively discussion in the Mohonk conference of friends of the Indians and other dependent peoples today. Albert K. Smiley entered a protest against such a distribution at the request of the Indians themselves. Mr. Smiley said that he hoped his protest would be embodied in the platform to be presented tonight.

Congressman John J. Fitzgerald of this state said he was a member of the Catholic church and of the committee on Indian affairs. He protested against the insertion of this matter in the platform, and said that he should oppose any interference with President Roosevelt which aimed to have him change his present attitude toward the distribution of tribal funds to church schools.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, the presiding officer, left the chair to say that while the government had a settled policy against giving government funds to Indian schools, he considered it far worse to distribute tribal funds for school purposes upon the request of the people. "If the ward is capable of handling its own money," added Dr. Abbott, "let the guardian hand it all over to him to use as he will, but do not let the Catholics and Protestants go around among the tribes, circulating petitions and exploiting sectarian matters in this harmful way."

The needs of the people of Porto Rico were considered at the morning session. Dr. Samuel McCune Lindsay, professor of sociology in the University of Pennsylvania, who was the first commissioner of education in Porto Rico, said it was necessary that one-half the revenue of the island instead of one-quarter, as at present, be devoted to the schools in order to make up for four centuries of inferior development and to equip the Porto Ricans to compete industrially and economically with Americans.

ASK FOR SIGN POSTS.

Automobilists Make a Request of the County Commissioners.

The Pittsburgh Automobile club was represented before the county commissioners yesterday morning by a committee headed by Congressman James Francis Burke and Edward Kneeland requesting the erection of signposts at all intersections of county roads.

It was pointed out that the signs were a necessity on account of the large number of automobilists who make long trips. It was also claimed that in the city a person could always find some one who could direct him, but in the country a driver can go for miles without meeting any one.

CHANCE TO STUDY WHILE EARNING A LIVELIHOOD

In an address to the students of the Carnegie technical schools in the lecture room yesterday morning, Chairman William McConway urged exact workmanship. Applications for entrance to the night school of applied science will be held in the schools on Monday evening, November 13. A number of young people in the city wish to keep on with their work while taking a course in the school, and this will allow them to do so.

Wilkinson's Trial Next Week.

Samuel C. Wilkinson, the Wilkinsburg man accused of embracery in connection with the Allegheny graft trials, will be tried next Wednesday. After the disposal of his case, Attorney John Marron says, there will be no more graft prosecutions until the middle of November. Mr. Marron, who is one of the prosecuting attorneys, said he did not believe in trying to make capital out of the graft cases during a political campaign.

EXTRA COURT IS NOT NEEDED

The Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon railroad, F. L. Robbins, president; F. J. LeMoyne, secretary; W. L. Woodford, vice president, and F. M. Wallace, treasurer, filed a joint answer in the Kaufman suit, denying that the Pittsburgh Coal Company, being the majority stockholder in the railroad company, manages and controls the road, and alleging the control is in the management elected by the stockholders.

It is denied that William Kaufman made any bona fide bid to pay $17,500 annually or that any proposal was made to anybody to pay $20,000 annually for a lease. After a reference to the bids made the answer says the respondents believe the bid of Kaufman, as agent of an undisclosed principal, and two alleged bids or offers of other persons at the meetings of August 16 and 17 were not in good faith, but were meant to hamper and harass the stockholders. The answer then says:

"We further aver that we believed and still believe that all of said bids were made for the purpose and with the intention of compelling the Pittsburgh Railways Company to pay a valuable consideration for a withdrawal of the said parties so bidding from competition for said lease."

The assertion is made that it was to the best interest of the stockholders to make the lease to the Pittsburgh Railways Company, as it was able to operate and care for the property, and partly because Kaufman would not disclose his principal. It is averred that in the absence of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, being the majority stockholder, owes no duty to the minority stockholders, but it is denied that it is taking any advantage of the minority stockholders. The allegations as to the right of the Castle Shannon company to lease the road as given in former answers are repeated and the usual request that the bill be dismissed is made.

Not Enough Work for Three.

The opening of a third criminal court room, which had been planned for Monday, was postponed yesterday for one week. When the trial list was made up it was found that two judges could handle it, as most of the cases are very ordinary. One murder trial has been set, that of John Graney, who was indicted for the murder of Charles Laughlin. It is alleged that in a scuffle at 611 West Robinson street, Allegheny, Graney threw Laughlin off a porch, death resulting from the injuries received. The Wilkinson embracery case, in connection with the Allegheny graft suits, is also on for Wednesday.

Before Judge Brown, Barnard Rodgers, a South Side youth, was convicted of larceny in stealing a horse from Jacob Levinson of the Twenty-seventh ward, but recommended to the mercy of the court. Rodgers set up a complete alibi, but did not convince the jury.

Michael Galentine, a business agent of the Bridgeman's union, was convicted of assault and battery and fined $25 and costs. Galentine was accused of assaulting Martin Connelly during a dispute over a labor question at the new Davis building at Fifth avenue in September.

Other cases were: Frederick Taylor, tried for larceny and convicted of a misdemeanor; George S. Doherty, false pretense, convicted.

Judge Brown had eight children before him in juvenile court. In the case of Bertha Ritenous of the South Side, whom the probation officers wanted sent to Morganza on an old charge of stealing a diamond ring from a neighbor, a jury was worked. Attorney William Price demanded a jury trial. Attorney Price stated that the girl did not come under the provisions of the juvenile court act, as she was over 18 years of age.

Ages Very Quickly.

At the time the girl had stolen the ring, in September, 1904, she had told the court she was 14 years of age, and Assistant District Attorney Grimes brought this fact to the attention of the court. The girl claimed she was 16 years of age a month ago. Attorney Price said the case could not be disposed of in summary fashion, but should go through the regular court channels. Judge Brown then ordered the girl sent back to the detention rooms and instructed Attorney Grimes to send the case to the grand jury.

A restraining order was granted in the United States court in the suit of the Victor Talking Machine Company against the Theodore E. Bentel Company, to keep the defendant firm from selling machines or records under the printed price. This may be modified if a bond for $5,000 is not filed this morning by the plaintiff company.

A writ of habeas corpus was granted for Clark Souls on Superintendent A. H. Leslie of the Allegheny County workhouse and made returnable this morning. Souls was committed October 6 on a charge of vagrancy by Magistrate Kirby. The indictment against Souls charged that he had been living from the earnings of Ellen Brooks, from whom he is said to have secured from $2 to $6 a day. He was also accused of selling cocaine and enticing young girls. It is claimed that his conviction was illegal and his confinement unlawful.

Judge Hawkins has filed an opinion in the litigation over the estate of the late Christian Lappe, in which he sustains the "Woodward" will.

A bill in equity was filed by Margaret W. Dressler and Alois F. Wolf against W. J. Burkhard and other heirs of Anton Wolf, deceased. It is averred that Wolf left considerable property to his widow for life with reversion to his children. Mrs. Wolf died in 1900, and it is alleged that Mrs. Burkhard has collected the income. An accounting and division of the estate is asked for.

Garbage Furnace Case Up Again.

Several witnesses were called by the city of McKeesport in another partial hearing of the injunction suit to restrain the garbage furnace of the city from being operated. The action was begun some time ago by citizens residing near the furnace, and the city solicitor attempted to show that the furnace was not annoying in its operation to other residents of the vicinity.

Michael Ruffing secured a writ of estrepement against John and Alice Harkins. Ruffing leased 95 acres of land to them in Mifflin township for three years on January 17, 1905. He avers they are permitting the Patrick Foley Contracting Company to grade a road through the land and to dig a ditch for carrying water through it, contrary, he says, to the terms of the lease.

M. M. Levy, defendant with the Crucible Steel Company in a suit brought by Louis Finegold to secure a certificate of stock in the defendant company, has filed an answer in which he avers the plaintiff stopped payment on a check given in payment of stock in a former transaction. Levy also sets up an additional indebtedness of $125, which he says is due him on account of other transactions with the plaintiff. Levy says he was instructed to buy some and to sell some Crucible Steel by the plaintiff, and he says it was only after the plaintiff had fraudulently procured from him the certificates did he cancel his order and demand the return of the certificate deposited with him.

A verdict of $6,600 for the plaintiff was rendered in the suit of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Exchange against the Equitable Land and Improvement Company.

The West Side Belt railroad and the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railroad have filed demurrers to the county suits of Mary A. Phillips and others, saying the plaintiffs suffered no special injury to their property by the alleged acts of the defendants and that they have a remedy at law.

James W. Mills sues McElveen, White & Co. real estate agents, for $500 damages alleging the defendants acted fraudulently as his agents in buying some land for him.

Claims Damage by Water.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Joseph S. Michalski, a saloonkeeper of Allegheny. He gives his assets as $4,048 05 and his liabilities as $12,450 62.

A verdict for $18,275 was given the Garland Chain Company against the borough of Rankin for damages caused by changing the route of a sewer.

Laura P. Mellor, for use of C. C. Mellor, issued an execution for $20,827 against E. Walter Alderman with notice to George W. Sherman. Other executions issued were: Harriett Barker, use, vs. C. H. Werner, deceased, etc., $2,446; McCreery & Co. vs. Mrs. G. W. Hay, $297; Mathilda MacConnell vs. William McHendry, notice, $2,425; F. M. Hugus, use, vs. Sarah Hugus, $1,083; Carrie Barnes, use, vs. Mary Potts et al., $877; W. H. Mildollar vs. Frederick Lehman, $2,100; S. B. Donaldson, trustee, vs. Sarah A. G. Freeman, $3,672; Isaac Taylor vs. James M. Corby, $5,467; Maggie H. Ruffley extr. vs. John W. Kirker, notice, $5,565; Mrs. Mattie F. Whitesides vs. William R. Van Amburgh et al., $2,958; Isaac Taylor vs. A. P. Kirtland et al., $2,150; Mrs. M. E. Waddell, use, vs. A. P. Kirtland et al., $2,580; Henry T. Hanna vs. William E. Van Amburgh et al., $2,536.

WILL WORK TODAY.

Supreme Court to Hold Saturday Session to Complete Week's List of Cases.

For the first time in many years the supreme court of Pennsylvania will sit on a Saturday to hear arguments. This may have been done before, but none of those connected with the court now have any recollection of such an occurrence. This step was taken in order to allow the court to complete the list for this week, the recess ordered when former Chief Justice Paxton died having disturbed the schedule. It is thought that all cases on this week's list can be heard today and this will leave the way open to take up the Allegheny county cases on Monday morning in regular turn. There are 95 cases on the list from this county.

The California State Normal school campus suit, which has been before the Washington county court and the supreme court, was argued. The school authorities sought to condemn certain ground to add to the campus which would bring about the closing of a street. Both the Washington county and the superior courts decided that normal schools were without authority to condemn land for this purpose. All the other cases heard were from Washington county.

The appeal of the Washington hospital in the estate of Mary A. Gregg, deceased, has some local interest in that the Presbyterian hospital of Allegheny is a possible beneficiary under the will of the decedent. Mary A. Gregg signed her will between the hours of 3 and 5 a. m. on October 8, 1898. She died between the hours of 3 and 5 p. m. on November 8, 1899. She left certain real estate which was to be held in trust for five years and then sold, the proceeds to be equally divided between the emergency fund of the Presbyterian hospital of Allegheny and the Washington hospital of Washington, Pa. At the end of the five-year term the hospital asked the trustees to carry out the provisions of the will. The demand was refused on the ground that the request to the charities was void, not having been made 30 days before death. The case was taken to the orphans' court of Washington county, where it was urged that taking the hours when the will was signed and the hour when death ensued the 30 days required had elapsed. The court said that the law did not recognize fractions of a day and that under prevailing practices the 30 full days had not elapsed. The bequest consequently fell and the Washington hospital took an appeal to the supreme court.

EXCURSIONS OF CHRISTIANS.

Will Visit the Home of the Founder of the Church During the Coming Revival.

Arrangements are being made to run two big excursions during the coming revival of the Christian denomination. One of the excursions will be run to Washington, Pa., and the other to Bethany, W. Va., where nearly 100 years ago the church was started by Alexander Campbell, and the earliest preaching was done at Washington and Bethany.

From present indications it will take several trains to haul the excursionists who intend making the tour. The old Campbell residence is still standing at Bethany.

Most of the membership of the church is located in Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri. The central meetings of the coming revival will be the big feature. The stock meetings will be held at the Third Presbyterian church in Sixth avenue, opposite the Nixon theater.

Mother and Children Fatally Burned.

BLADEN, Neb., Oct. 20.—Two children of Fred Piel, aged 10 and 4 years, were burned to death, and their mother, Mrs. Fred Eiel, so badly burned that she cannot recover, in a fire which destroyed their home here last night.

ALMOST BUOYANT MARKET FOR NEW YORK STOCKS

Industrials Were Leaders in the Advance, but the Railroads Also Improved—Slight Changes in Pittsburgh Securities.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was almost buoyant, and while the industrials led the advance, the railroad list also shared in the improvement. Transactions were on a larger scale than for a long time past, the sales footing up 930,000 shares. Final prices were not the best of the day, but almost without exception they were higher than the day before.

Several of the largest commission houses in the street were prominent buyers, and the increased volume of business was due solely to business originating in the domestic market, the trading for account of foreigners being insignificant. The real impetus to the better feeling was probably the easier tendency in the money market. Shortly after the opening the chief money broker put out $3,000,000 six months' money at 4½ per cent, and the rate on call declined from 5 to 4 per cent. Later in the afternoon there were further concessions in the call loan rate, the final quotation being 3 per cent. This decline in rates was accepted as foreshadowing a favorable bank statement today. The estimated gain in cash is very close to $5,000,000, and if there is a further reduction in loans, an increase in surplus reserve is assured. However, there was another sharp advance in sterling exchange rates, and prospects for additional imports of gold are now very remote.

American Locomotive common was the most active of the industrial list at the opening, and it finally touched 68⅝, the highest of the year. The day's gossip relating to the movement was merely a repetition of the story that General Electric interests were buying into the stock. There was also a rumor that the General Electric Company had acquired control of Allis-Chalmers by the purchase of the common stock on a basis of 25. Allis-Chalmers stock, however, did not share the activity and strength of the general list, and closed nearly 7 points below the price reported to have been paid for control.

American Car and Foundry made a new high price for the year by advancing to 42¾. Pressed Steel Car was also strong and closed at a gain of 1¼ per cent. These stocks had the benefit of the announcement that the Pennsylvania railroad had placed orders for 20,000 freight cars for delivery next year and that other railroads were in the market for equipment. United States Steel common closed ⅞ higher and the preferred ⅝ higher. The minor iron and steel issues were also strong, and closed at net gains.

Among other industrials which displayed unusual strength were American Woolen, United States Rubber, American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper. The latter closed ⅝ higher, and the buying was said to be of a good character.

During the early hours of the market the railroads did not share in the activity and were only steady. Later in the session they all became strong and closed at good gains. Jersey Central made a new high mark by advancing to 228, and Delaware & Hudson rose to 227½, and closed with a net advance of 2¾ per cent. Northern Pacific also closed 2¾ per cent higher, Northwest 1¼, and St. Paul and Union Pacific each 1 per cent.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit made a new high price for the year, reaching 76½, and closing within a shade of the top. The net gain for the day was 2 per cent. It was reiterated that the Pennsylvania railroad was a buyer, but the heaviest purchases were by a prominent professional trader, who helped the movement along by bidding for 5,000 and 10,000-share lots, tactics which are not usually adopted by an investor who wishes to accumulate stock.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange the volume of business was smaller, but the tone of the market steady to firm. Pittsburgh Brewing common was the most active stock, selling at 27 to 27½. Pittsburgh Coal common was also more active than for some time past, selling at 15 to 15¼. The preferred was slightly higher at 57 to 57½. The advance of 5 cents a barrel in the price of oil, bringing it up to the highest for more than a year, failed to stimulate the oil and gas stocks. Manufacturers Oil, Light and Heat closed unchanged at 35⅞, and Philadelphia Company was a shade firmer at 48⅝ to 48¾, but there were no transactions in Ohio Fuel Supply or Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, which have a relatively larger oil production than any of the others. American Sewer Pipe declined ½ per cent to 32, and National Fire Proofing preferred sold to 21¼, the low record price of last week. For the first time in many days there were no transactions in Crucible Steel common. The preferred was dull but strong, closing at 67¼, an advance of ½ per cent. Westinghouse Electric advanced to and closed at 85¾, and Air Brake was slightly higher at 149¾. Bank stocks and bonds were quiet and unchanged.

FIRMER FEELING IN HIGH-GRADE BUTTER

Arrivals Scarcely Adequate to Trade Requirements—An Inquiry for Small Prunes.

There was a firmer feeling in high-grade butter yesterday. The arrivals are scarcely adequate to trade requirements and the dealers look for an increase in price before many days. Cheese is keeping firm in company with butter.

There was no change in the price of sugar yesterday, the slump on Thursday being occasioned by the condition of the European sugar beet market.

A feature of the entire market yesterday was the absence of changes in quotations. Produce and fruits had no change whatever.

The advent of cooler weather will no doubt bring an increase in trade in the dried fruit market, although at the present time there is not much of a demand. There is considerable inquiry for small prunes.

The California raisin market is quiet without any new features. Imported raisins continue in demand. Currants are without particular animation.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 3 cars corn, 2 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 15 cars hay, 3 cars rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 12 cars hay. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 1 car rye, 1 car straw.

The receipts in oats yesterday were much lighter than for some time. The strong demand for hay and oats continues and all arrivals are picked up quickly. Very little corn arrived yesterday, and the demand for this grain is strong. The market was firm and active throughout the day despite the light arrivals. Straw is in demand from all points. There were no changes in quotations during the day.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The London metal markets were generally easier. Tin closed at £148 10s for spot and £147 10s for futures. The local market was a shade lower in sympathy, spot being quoted at $32 27½@32 82½. Copper closed at £72 5s for spot and £70 10s for futures in the London market. Locally the situation was without apparent change. Lake is quoted at $16 37½@16 75; electrolytic, $16 25@16 62½; casting, $16 00@16 37½. Lead was unchanged at £14 17s 6d in London and remains firm locally, where quotations are more or less nominal. It is reported that but little lead is available for immediate delivery and the price is held at $5 90@5 95. Leading producers are still quoting $4 85 for 30-day shipments. Spelter closed at £26 5s 6d for spot in London. Locally the market shows continued firmness, with spot closing at $6 15@6 25. Iron was lower abroad, closing at 52s 3d for standard foundry and at 53s 10½d for Cleveland warrants. Locally the market is very firm and southern grades are generally higher. No. 1 foundry Northern is quoted at $17 00@17 50; No. 2 foundry northern, $17 75@18 00; No. 1 foundry southern, $17 25@18 25; No. 1 foundry southern, soft, $18 25@18 50. Rods were 2½@6d lower at $4 47½. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 90 cars; corn, 116 cars; oats, 275 cars; hogs, 14,000 head.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the United States Mining Company, President Evans stated the net earnings of the company for the year ending June 30 amounted to $1,-092,985. A much better showing is expected for the current fiscal year. There was charged off for real estate and property $1,500,000. The company has no floating debt and has a cash and bullion balance exceeding $1,800,000. The general balance sheets of the company shows a surplus of $511,763.

The Greens Gold Company will resume active operations within 10 days. The rainy season has ended and the streams have receded enough to permit work.

Several new strikes are announced on Ladd and Bonanza mountains, Nevada. The Eclipse mine on Bonanza mountain leads with what appears to be one of the greatest strikes of the Rycolite district. It was made on the Hobo claim. In the crosscut from the No. 1 shaft the mines cut three feet of manganese quartz that averages a little better than $2,000 per ton in gold, with small values in silver.

Within the past two weeks important ore bodies have been opened in the mines of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company. Both on the 100 and the 200-foot tunnels of the Oversight mine and in the upper tunnel of the Veta Grande high-grade deposits have been cut, the existence of which was unknown. The extent of these deposits is undetermined, but they are apparently big, and the hope is that another Massey ore body has been shown up.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The liquidation yesterday morning seemed to put our market in much better shape and at the close tonight added advances are shown all through the list. Osceola was the favorite this morning, but in the late dealings Mohawk was taken in hand and advanced to $1. Old Dominion continued its upward course with New York still buying heavily. A few buying orders appeared in Calumet & Hecla and the floor traders helped the price along. Everything looks well for a continuance of the present market.

Financial and Trade Notes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Chicago banks today subscribed for a new issue of interior bonds of the Cuban government offered through the banking firm of William Solomon & Co. of New York. The purpose of the issue, which is about $12,000,000, is said to be to refund 50 per cent of the unpaid balance of $28,500,000 of so-called Cuban soldiers' warrants. The bonds bear 5 per cent interest after November 1, their life to be eight years, although Cuban government officials estimate that the debt will be cancelled in five annual payments.

Credit Balances Are Boosted Again, Making Pennsylvania $1.61

After a lapse of a little more than two weeks, the credit balance market was again advanced all along the line yesterday morning when the purchasing agency opened for business. That the market has again started for a higher point is no surprise. The opinion has been expressed many times by those who keep in close touch with field developments and the relative position of production and consumption that further advances must follow if operators were to be encouraged to start the drill again in the old fields and persuade others to go out and search for new producing territory.

Since the market showed a substantial advance there has been some operators stirred to new activity, but the movement has not been general by any means and has been confined principally to the shallow sand districts. The demand for crude of the Pennsylvania grade is out of all proportion when compared with the present production, and shows heavy inroads on the stocks. For the augured portion of the current month the deliveries have exceeded the runs by more than 500,000 barrels, and the indications are that at the close the stocks will have suffered the heaviest cut for any month of the year.

The new credit balance quotations posted are as follows: Pennsylvania, $1 61; Thoma, $1 71; Second Sand, $1 41; Cabell, $1 21; Corning, $1 13; New Castle, $1 38; North Lima, 95c; South Lima, Indiana and Somerset, etc. The western grades, Kansas, Indian and Oklahoma territories, of 42 gravity and above, were advanced 1c, making the present quotation 55c.

It is very generally accepted that the lower southwest and Southeastern Ohio do not contain available territory that can be developed in sufficient time to make any considerable increase in new production before the winter sets in and makes it next to impossible to carry forward development work expeditiously. Under existing conditions light producers are the best that can be hoped for in any of the known fields. There can scarcely be a sufficient number completed to stay the falling off in the old wells, consequently little change can follow in new production.

One mile east of West Union, Doddridge county, the Southern Oil Company has drilled its test on the V. Jennings farm into the Big Injun and has a very good gasser. One mile northeast of Blandville, J. E. Trainer has completed a test on the C. F. Randolph farm and has a good gasser in the Big Injun and Gordon formations. Three miles southwest of Central station the Philadelphia Company has completed tests on the V. Cunningham and Roselia Elliott farms and has light gassers in the Gordon. Near Bula, Stoningalia county, the South Penn Oil Company has shot its No. 1, an old well, on the S. S. Eidy farm and it responded by producing 100 barrels the ensuing 18 hours.

On Fish Creek, Church district, Wetzel county, Brant & Chaney's No. 1 on the A. Kiger farm is producing 50 barrels a day from the fourth sand. This well has been the incentive for starting some new work in that locality. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 13 on the Fairfield Peterson farm 18 feet into the strav and has no show for a producer at that depth in the sand.

In the McElroy district, Tyler county, F. G. Fish & Co. have now drilled their test on the Nancy Allen farm through the Gordon and have a show for a five-barrel pumper. In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has completed its test on the William Stonaking farm and has a gasser in the Gordon.

On Leith run, on the Ohio side, in Washington county, C. C. Stover's No. 4 on the A. J. McMahon farm is a very good producer. When drilled into the sand the well started to flow at the rate of five barrels an hour, but steadily increased its production and is now producing 250 barrels a day, giving it the distinction of being the largest well in Southeastern Ohio. In the Woodsfield district, Monroe county, the Unity Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the Sarah Wheeler farm into the Big Lime and has a show for a 75-barrel pumper. In the Graysville district, the Carter Oil Company has completed its No. 4 on the John Dougherty farm and has a five-barrel pumper in the Berea grit.

In the Berea grit development east of Woodsfield some very good producers are found in that formation. The Carter Oil Company has completed its No. 4 on the H. M. Hendershot farm and has a 50-barrel producer. In the same district the Pure Oil Company has completed its test on the Bumgardner farm and has a 50-barrel producer. In the same locality the Fisher Oil Company has drilled in No. 4 on the John Duff farm and has a show for a 50-barrel producer. In the Marksburg field, in Washington county, the Inland Oil Company has completed No. 2 on the George Dyer farm and has a duster in the Berea grit. In the same district S. B. Longfellow has completed a test on the Dyer & Longfellow farm and has a show for a six-barrel pumper in the Berea grit.

In the Pennsylvania field, Washington county, Pa., M. Finnegan & Co. have completed No. 2 on the Mary Shaw farm and have a duster. On the Liberty Land Company's tract at Economy, Beavery county, Harrison & Co. have drilled their test through the 350-foot and gas sands and found nothing. A little oil was developed in the second.

DUN'S REPORT PEACE IN FIELDS OF LABOR

Business Outlook Constantly Improving and the Situation Is Most Promising.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—R. G. Dun's & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Activity broadens in commercial channels and confidence expands because of the many evidences of conservatism. Business is brisk and improving, although there is no disposition to start a boom either in commodities or securities. Manufacturers receive liberal orders for remote deliveries, many dealers having covered spring requirements, and shipping departments are forwarding as freely as traffic facilities will permit. Current retail trade is not equalling expectations, but this is attributed to mild autumn weather, and preparations for the future are undiminished. Especially good news is received from the iron and steel centers, output of mills and furnaces increasing without relieving the pressure for quick delivery, particularly in structural and railway departments. Wages were voluntarily increased at print cloth mills, and scarcely any labor disputes are noted. Much complaint is heard regarding freight blockades, several contracts being accepted subject to delay in transit, which is absolutely refused by railroads. Nevertheless, railway earnings for October thus far show a gain of only 1.8 per cent compared with last year's figures. This should be qualified by the statement that preliminary reports are chiefly from the southwest, where quarantine conditions and the tardy movement of cotton make an unfair comparison with last year's figures, which were swelled by unprecedented shipments of cotton. Statistics of foreign trade for the United States eclipsed all September records last month, which was particularly gratifying in view of the fact that a loss of over $11,000,000 in exports of cotton had to be made up elsewhere. Another splendid exhibit is depicted for October, the first week alone providing gains of $3,067,801 in imports and $2,120,393 in exports as compared with last year's figures. Evidence of conservatism are more numerous in the primary markets for textile fabrics, although there is no weakness in quotations, but rather more indications of inherent strength.

Tanners have secured contracts for delivery of enough packer hides during the winter months to reduce activity somewhat, but there is no weakness, owing to the limited offerings. New England manufacturers of footwear are supplied with contracts, assuring activity up to February.

Failures this week numbered 233 in the United States against 215 last year, and 38 in Canada, compared with 39 a year ago.

Bradstreet tomorrow will say:

Wheat, including flour exports for the week ending October 19 are 2,831,482 bushels, against 2,774,492 last week, 1,948,092 this week last year, 4,256,690 in 1903 and 7,060,137 in 1902. From July 1 to date, the exports are 22,705,319 bushels, against 20,872,248 last year, 42,806,774 in 1903, and 82,826,517 in 1902. Corn exports for the week are 776,436 bushels, against 962,474 last week, 737,898 a year ago, 1,802,285 in 1903, and 84,304 in 1902. From July 1 to date, the exports of corn are 17,796,325 bushels, against 9,-946,772 in 1904, 16,060,548 in 1903, and 1,578,946 in 1902.

BLAMES SHIPPERS FOR CAR FAMINE

Railroad Man Says Prompt Unloading Would Give 50 Per Cent More Equipment.

BRIDGE CONVENTION ENDS

"Cars might be ordered to double the railroad equipment, and then we would be accused of not furnishing cars for the shippers," said a well-known Pittsburgh railroad man yesterday. "The trouble is with the shippers themselves more than with the railroads in the present car scarcity. The fact is, as I can show, that the big shipping interests are simply holding cars loaded and are calling for cars to ship out their freight. This is as inconsistent as anything can be, and is by no means fair to the railroads.

"Recently the superintendent of a big Pittsburgh mill called me by telephone and said that unless cars were furnished at once the mill would close. I asked how many cars he would have to have to keep things going. I secured his 25 cars and had them at the mill in a few hours, but to do this I had to disarrange a big lot of terminal work. The next morning I happened to come across a piece of paper that showed me that same mill was holding 16 cars. I think it was, and had them been holding them for more than 10 days. I sat down and called the superintendent by telephone and asked him about those cars. He said that he did not know they were there, and that the man who was supposed to look after the unloading would 'get it hard.' I don't know whether the man 'got it' or not, but I do know that another 10 days elapsed and the cars had not been given up. And along with their holding of these cars came the complaint of a lack of cars and of the necessity for closing down unless cars were to be had at once.

"That is but one example. I could give a number of similar instances of pretty big shippers. Some of them, I am glad to say, take a better view of the situation, and are really aiding the railroads by delivering the equipment at the earliest possible moment and without demurrage. But many of the shippers yell for cars and go on paying demurrage for equipment right in their mill yards that could be in use if they would not be holding it. I have figured the thing down pretty close, and find that just about 50 per cent more equipment could be had every day if the shippers would do their part. That looks pretty high; as for instance, in the Pittsburgh roads handling probably 12,000 cars in the immediate district daily and by the aid of the shippers in unloading the cars and keeping them moving could have 18,000. But that is the fact, nevertheless.

"There is no use in humming and hawing about the bush' for the railroads to beat around. The railroads cannot get the car builders to turn out the cars fast enough, even though orders were placed many months ago. That the railroads are doing their part is manifested almost every day now in their orders for thousands upon thousands of cars. The big systems are doing their duty. Let the shippers do theirs."

Glad for Quarantine Relief.

Joseph Biggs, district passenger agent of the Illinois Central railroad, of Cincinnati, was here yesterday looking after his road's interests here. Mr. Biggs said that it is expected that the entire quarantine will be lifted from Louisiana parishes on November 1. "I cannot say officially, of course, that the quarantine will be lifted the first of next month, for conditions may arise that will prevent such action," said Mr. Biggs, "but the outlook just now is for such action. Will the railroad people be glad for this relief? Well, if happiness has ever come to the railroad men it will come to those of the southern roads particularly when the quarantine is lifted. For several months we have been having a terrible time of it, and the roads have suffered pretty heavily in traffic. I look for a good resumption of traffic, however, just as soon as the fever scare has subsided. The south is just being appreciated, and millions of acres that have been allowed to go back since the early '60s are now being reclaimed. The next few years will see a wonderful development of the Mississippi valley. Then, too, the fact that New Orleans is becoming the great gateway to Central and South America and the West Indies will redound to the good of the big valley. I look for big things when the normal conditions are in vogue."

Winding Up Bridge Convention.

The last portion of the annual convention of the Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings will be the visit of a number of the delegates today to the American Bridge Company's works at Ambridge. Probably less than half of the entire delegation will make this visit today, as a large number of the visiting delegates started for their homes last evening. Most of those who left had made visits to the Ambridge plant during the week. A reception was held at the Monongahela House last night. The entire party, including the women, enjoyed six hours in a special trip to Sharpsburg yesterday, luncheon was served at the Westinghouse works at East Pittsburgh. The special train also stopped at Braddock, where the visitors visited the steel rail mill.

Erie-C. H. & D. Executives.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Charles Steel, Samuel Spencer, George F. Baker and F. D. Underwood of New York, and E. B. Rhodes of Cleveland, have become directors of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company. F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad, was elected president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and Russel Harding, vice president. Thomas J. Walsh, the secretary, and J. B. Howard, the treasurer of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, were re-elected, and the secretary and treasurer of the Erie railroad were elected assistant secretary and assistant treasurer, respectively, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton.

George Van Buren, general superintendent of the Erie division of the Erie railroad, will retire on November 1 and will be succeeded by E. H. Rowson, now general manager of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton.

Employes' Relief Fund Report.

The monthly report of the Employes' Relief fund of the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for September shows that the payment of benefits to the members and families of members amounted to $115,734. Of this amount $40,183 was paid on account of the death of members and $66,551 was paid on account of disablement by sickness or accident. The payments thus far have amounted to $13,991,399 in the aggregate. Of this amount $5,753,528 was paid on account of the death of members of the fund and $8,237,871 because of disablement.

George Gunnip Steps Up.

George T. Gunnip, who is well known to the railroad men of this territory from his having traveled into the city for several years in his overalls of the territory, has just been advanced from general agent of the passenger department of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe system at Cincinnati to a similar position at Chicago, where he succeeds J. M. O'Connell, who has become general passenger agent. Mr. Gunnip has served the Santa Fe at Cincinnati for 19 years, and is well known to traffic men throughout the country.

Increase In Panhandle Earnings.

The increase in estimated earnings, expenses and net earnings of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company for the month of September, 1905, and the nine months ended with September 30, as compared with the similar periods of last year, according to the statement issued yesterday, are as follows: September, gross earnings, $1,175,123; operating expenses, $1,056,132; net earnings, $89,631. Nine months, gross earnings, $1,631,378; operating expenses, $1,484,659; net earnings, $146,717.

American Express Opens New Line.

The American Express Company has just placed in service on the new line of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad between Cherry Tree and Patton. This is a portion of the road that has only recently been placed into service. The American express has also opened new offices at Migler, Glen Hope, St. Benedict and Woodville, Pa.

Railroad Notes.

J. T. Wilson, president of the American Balance Valve Company of Jersey Shore, Pa., was a visitor in the city.

Conductor Dennis Devine of the Baltimore & Ohio is taking a hunting jaunt in the mountains of Somerset county.

C. F. Sellers, ticket seller at the Baltimore & Ohio city office, has returned with Mrs. Sellers from a delightful vacation in the West Virginia mountains, near Elkins.

Earl Bird, who was assistant station ticket agent of the Wabash here for several months, has been appointed traveling freight agent of the Wabash, with headquarters at Kansas City.

President Cassatt and the directors and officers of the Pennsylvania railroad started from here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning for the daylight inspection trip over the road from here to Philadelphia. The trip was made by way of the New Portage road, Hollidaysburg and Petersburg, instead of through Altoona.

BUSINESS BLOCK IN PENN AVENUE

PEACOCK OWNS HOWE PLOT

Another first-class business block is assured for the outer Penn avenue district as the result of a deal made yesterday by Isadore H. Aaron. Through his office Aaron Cohen has purchased from A. S. Bierly 40x100 feet, facing in Penn avenue, near Eighteenth street, for $36,000. In part payment for the Penn avenue lot, which is poorly improved, Mr. Cohen tendered a three-story brick apartment house on 50x115 feet in Center avenue, Edgewood, which was put into the deal at $26,000. This building is clear of incumbrance and contains 10 flats of five rooms and bath each, the total rental of which is $2,400 a year. As soon as Mr. Cohen gets title to the Penn avenue lot he will have plans drawn for an eight-story brick and steel store and office building, to cost between $50,000 and $75,000, for which two tenants have already made application. The dealing of the last three months in the district between the Union station and Twenty-second street has been so steady and so many reliable buyers have entered the field there as to show that in the minds of many investors it is destined to be a very busy retail district within a few years.

A. R. Peacock Owns Howe Property.

The Mary A. Howe property at Point Breeze, which was bought several months ago by the Homeopathic hospital authorities as a site for a new hospital, is now owned by A. R. Peacock, who secured title to it some time ago. The hospital paid $100,000 for the property, about $25,000 of this amount being cash. After residents of Point Breeze became so active in their opposition to the project of having a hospital there the agents for the Homeopathic hospital authorities as a site for a new hospital, is now owned by A. R. Peacock, who secured title to it some time ago. The hospital paid $100,000 for the property, about $25,000 of this amount being cash. After residents of Point Breeze became so active in their opposition to the project of having a hospital there the agents for the Homeopathic hospital authorities got busy and secured options on the Howe property and the Schmidt property in Center avenue and finally bought it. To enable them to do this Mr. Peacock agreed to take the Howe property off their hands. It was generally supposed that this was merely a convenience, but it now develops that he took the property and assumed the indebtedness on his own account. It is now said to be asking $135,000 for the plot, which accounts for the fact that it was not one of the properties lately bought by A. W. Mellon, who purchased the Singer and Mashey properties across Hastings street from the Howe lot for $278,000. The Howe property includes 2.5 acres, having a frontage of about 200 feet on the south side of Fifth avenue, extending from Hastings to Bryan street, and a depth of over 500 feet to an alley. It is reported that Mr. Peacock will hold the property for an investment and that he contemplates no changes at present.

Leased Two Wabash Warehouses.

Avey & Irish made a good start on their Wabash renting business yesterday by leasing two of the warehouses, which will be provided under the elevated tracks. To the McClure Tin Plate Company they leased for three years the two-story brick warehouse, 60x150 feet, which will face in Fourth avenue, near Liberty avenue, and almost opposite the Wabash passenger station. This company formerly had quarters on the Wabash site and sought out this locality partly on this account. The other building leased will be a two-story brick warehouse, 41x136 feet, at the southwest corner of Ferry street and Third avenue. The lessee is a large grain firm, with connections in Chicago and Minneapolis, which is now located in the Penn avenue district, and will do a business of at least 20 carloads a day in its new home. Both buildings will be provided with elevators, so that freight can be unloaded direct from the cars above with a minimum of cost. The Wabash engineers have been ordered to go ahead with the work, and it is expected that the Ferry street building will be ready by January 1.

Through the office of C. G. Mitchell, Attorney J. O. Bunnell of this city has purchased from W. McKendry of Wilkinsburg two new 11-room reception hall brick residences on lots 36x110 feet each in Hampton street, Wilkinsburg. He also secured an 11-room brick house on 36x106 feet in Penn avenue, near Fairmount avenue, Nineteenth ward, and a vacant lot, 75x132 feet, in Broadhead street, near Lincoln avenue, Twenty-first ward. The total consideration was $30,300. In part payment Mr. Bunnell tenders 225x140 feet, with three double frame houses, near Wilson, Pa., which was valued at $25,000.

Going at It the Right Way.

The Rankin Improvement Company is making rapid headway on its Penn Manor allotment out the Brownsville road, which promises to become one of the prettiest residence sections on the South Side hilltops, as the owners are hedging it about with rigid restrictions. The company is laying an 18-inch sewer in Giffin avenue, the main street of the plan, to Beck's run. This is now flushed to Hervey street, some of it being at a depth of 15 feet. In order to establish a uniform building rule in Giffin avenue which would shut out any but brick houses costing $4,000 or over and make a 35-foot building line, the company lately bought two frame houses at the corner of Fulton street and is moving them away. The last waiver of damages for street paving has been secured from Henry Demmel, who owned a large plot at Giffin avenue and Brownsville road. This will enable the company to go ahead with the paving of Giffin avenue from Brownsville road to Transverse avenue, and the work of completing the grading on this stretch was started Monday. This street, when paved, will have a grade 2.5 per cent less than that of the boulevard. Two lots, Nos. 41 and 42, facing on the north side of the avenue and measuring 40x120 feet each, were sold yesterday by the Mendel Realty Company, agent for the plan, to Joseph Hoeveler of Knoxville, for $4,700 as the site for a $10,000 brick house.

William D. Beatty & Son have just started two more $7,500 reception-hall brick houses on the Bellevue plan. They will face in Clarion avenue, near Thomas avenue, where the firm has already built five similar houses this season. Clarion avenue is now being paved from Thomas avenue down a distance of about 300 feet which will make it a choice residence street.

The Athalia Daly home, which was established by the will of Dr. Daly, the East End physician, whose death occurred four years ago, has sold to J. H. Armstrong six frame houses on 40x80 feet in De Soto street near Fifth avenue, Fourteenth ward, for $9,000. The houses rent for $1,000 a year.

The United Societies of the Greek Catholic church have bought through the Realty Company of McKeesport 19 acres of land in Versailles township, which formerly belonged to Isaac Taylor, for $5,000. It is understood that the land will be used for a cemetery for the Greek Catholics of Western Pennsylvania and will be dedicated November 1.

Woodworth street: The East End Savings & Trust Company sold for W. R. Kuhn to George A. Rehbein a 10-room frame house on 45x125 feet in Woodworth street for $8,000 for a home.

Wilkinsburg: Fred C. Hallett of Hallett Brothers, sold for Susan Hills to Genevieve M. Parker, 502 Trenton avenue, near Kelly street, Wilkinsburg, a 10-room brick residence, for $4,250.

Waverly street: Moore & Kelly sold for William G. Moore to John W. Moore an improved lot, 30x102.5 feet, on the northeast side of Waverly street, near East End avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $3,500.

Oakland: George H. Shickler has bought from Mary S. McKee, 50x260 feet in McKee place, near Louisa street, Fourteenth ward, for $5,125, and from William M. Hall, Jr., a similar property adjoining for the same price. The lots will be used as the site for two large apartment houses.

Minor Real Estate Transactions.

Bigham street: Robert J. Burnside sold to Samuel Lynn, 150x250 feet on the east side of Bigham street, for $3,600.

Soho: Sigmund Leichner sold to Samuel Saul an improved lot, 24x100 feet, on the south side of Fifth avenue, Fourteen ward, for $3,850.

Erin street: Nellie Malone sold to David Devine an improved lot, 43x75 feet, in Erin street, Eleventh ward, for $2,100.

Renova street: Mary B. Batchelor sold to Frank B. Weitershausen 45x100 feet on the north side of Renova street, Twenty-third ward, for $2,450.

Auburn street: Henry Balken sold to Donald McBride an improved lot, 24x100 feet, in Auburn street, Twenty-first ward, for $2,500.

Building Permits Issued.

The Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection yesterday issued these permits: To Samuel R. Kelly, two-story and attic brick residence on the Beechwood Boulevard, Twenty-second ward, to cost $56,000; John Dinling, six two-story brick dwellings in Oakland avenue, Fourteenth ward, to cost $17,000; C. A. Dickson, two-story and attic brick dwelling in Williams avenue, Twenty-second ward, to cost $14,000; Union Building Company, three two-story and attic dwellings in Southern avenue, Thirty-second ward, to cost $8,000; to Robert McElldowney heirs, three three-story brick dwellings on Wilson street, Eighth ward, to cost $7,500; E. THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—At 8 p. m. today the river was 11.2 feet and rising. There was much rejoicing here today over the news that good rains had fallen in the mountains of West Virginia. These rainfalls promise to cause a rise in the Kanawha, which will allow of the shipping of coal from that part of the country. Several of the larger of the operators in this part of the country were busy talking over the long distance 'phone with the commanders of their towboats seeking information as to the exact status of the rainfall and the probability of a substantial rise so that coal can be shipped to the local market. All of the boats which have been strung along the banks for several weeks succeeded in getting into the harbor and having their empties loaded for shipment south. More than 5,000,000 bushels of coal will come out on the rise. All of the boats are there with the exception of the Harry Brown, which passed New Richmond today on her way north with a tow of empties. The Harry Brown has been lying at the upper landing for several weeks or since she was repaired on the Queen City marine ways. The bulk of this coal will stop at Cincinnati. Many of the tows will be taken to Middleport Bends and there transferred to the big boats for further shipment. Reports from points along the Licking are that great rainfalls occurred in that valley and the river is about due to run out Saturday. The first part of the run started today, but it was slight. The water is due to come out in full force Saturday. The United States government has come in full possession of the improvements of the Little Kanawha river. This will mean that navigators of this stream will not be forced to pay toll for the passage of boats through the lock and dam system of the river. The locks and dams will be kept in good repair by the national government in the future. The river will be navigable as far up as Louisa, Ky., a distance of about 100 miles. Clear and colder.

LOUISVILLE—River rising. In canal, 4.5; on falls, 2.3; below locks, 3.0. Cloudy and cool.

MARIETTA—River 10½ feet and rising. Very windy and colder. Fifteen feet expected. Navigation will be resumed by all packets at once. Beford up at 8 a. m.

STEUBENVILLE—River 6 feet 7 inches and rising. Cloudy and cold.

WARREN—River 3 feet 2 inches and stationary. Rain and colder.

MORGANTOWN—River 15 feet 4 inches and stationary. Fair and cooler.

PARKERSBURG—River 12 feet and rising. Little Kanawha rising at all points above, with 7 feet at Wallville and 10 feet at Grantsville. Clear and cool. No boats. The water has filled the cofferdam at lock 16 and has stopped work on the dam.

OIL CITY—River 3 feet and stationary. Cloudy and cool.

POINT PLEASANT—River 10 feet and rising. Cloudy and cool. Up—J. T. Hatfield and Kanawha.

GREENSBORO—River 13 feet 3 inches and falling. Cloudy and cooler. Columbia down Saturday; Woodward up.

GALLIPOLIS—River 10 feet 8 inches and rising. Cloudy and cold.

WHEELING—River 7 feet 1 inch and rising. Cloudy and colder. Departed: Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, 11 a. m.; up with supplies, Coal City, 1 p. m.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 8 o'clock last night was 9.5 feet and the river was rising.

RIVERMEN ARE BUSY.

Coal Tows Will Start Down the Ohio River Today Sure.

The wharves presented a scene of activity yesterday. A number of boats were getting ready to go out on the rise today. Every one was busy. Water street was crowded with crews of the coal boats which will leave today with large tows. About 15 boats will leave. The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company will send out the following: James Moren, Raymond Horner, Josh Cook, Ed Roberts, Tom Reese No. 3, Boaz, Ironsides, Fred Hartwick, John A. Wood, W. W. O'Neill, Sam Brown, Iron Age, Charley Brown and Joseph Wallon. Each boat will tow from 800,000 to 850,000 bushels of coal.

The Keystone of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati line will arrive at this port on Monday. The Queen City of the same line will be off of the ways today.

The Ben Hur will arrive from Parkersburg tomorrow night.

The John F. Klein and Andrew Acton, which have been undergoing repairs, were placed in service yesterday.

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists, and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.

THE SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

$5 to $15 Per Foot

Banks may break, stocks may depreciate in a day, your life insurance may cause you uneasiness—you are at the mercy of those who handle your money. They may be honest or they may not be.

While recent disclosures in the financial world have by no means shaken our faith in men and institutions, they have nevertheless made us sit up and take notice of a few hard facts.

LOOK OUT FOR YOURSELF

The hardest of these facts is that the safest and surest place to put money is in land—that the man who owns a good piece of real estate may rest comfortably during all of the excitement, and know that he is master of the situation.

He has something which he can see with his own eyes. He can look after it himself, he knows just exactly where it is at all times and nobody can take it away from him.

When the profits are earned, he is the one who gets them. There is no sleight-of-hand performance behind closed doors, no "official statement" to make him believe that two and two equal six. He has the land, the land has its value, and if you want it you must pay the price, whether you be a day laborer or a railroad corporation.

AND THIS MEANS YOU

Here is another point—and you can take it right home to yourself, Mr. Reader. If you, a resident of Pittsburgh in this blessed year of 1905, are not investing a large part of your savings in Pittsburgh real estate, you are missing one of the grandest opportunities for legitimate money-making ever presented in the history of the world.

You are living in a wealth-producing city whose growing greatness and power are marveled at in all parts of the earth. You know your city, you know how it is growing, you know that it will go on growing. In a few years it will be one of the world's greatest cities. Now, what is the obvious thing to do with your money?

TAKE A HINT

What do the savings banks do with YOUR money? Put it into real estate. What do the best insurance companies do with it? Put it into real estate. Where do the trust companies invest their trust funds? In real estate. Where are the leading financiers of Pittsburgh putting millions of their wealth right now? In Pittsburgh real estate. Why?

You know the answer.

The POOR MAN'S CHANCE

The beautiful thing about real estate is that the poor man has an equal chance with the rich man to profit by the growth of Pittsburgh. Every new skyscraper downtown helps your plot of ground in the outskirts proportionately as much as it helps properties immediately surrounding it.

Don't wait for something big to turn up. Begin in a small way. Buy a lot for a few hundred dollars. You can buy a fine 50-foot residence lot in Bellevue Extension for $750—$75 down, $22.50 per month, no interest and no taxes till lot is paid for. We have them at all prices: $150, $200, $250, $300, $350, $400, $450, $500, $600, $700, $750, $800. There are also several extra large lots at $1,000 to $1,200.

THE SPOT FOR YOU

Bellevue Extension is almost surrounded by Bellevue proper, where lots sell from $2,000 to $3,000 each. See the difference?

Our aim is to maintain the high standard set by Bellevue and we have placed adequate building restrictions on every lot. Every title is insured. We are grading streets, laying substantial sidewalks, putting in a pure water supply, natural gas, street lights, etc.

There are two entrances to the property, one from Thomas and Forest avenues, the other from Dakota avenue. Take a "Bellevue" car. Get off at Thomas and Forest avenues, and you'll see the sign.

Come down Saturday or Sunday and let us show the kind of property which will really grow into money.
